Estimates on Enemy Deaths As High as 500

Fighting Ends in Tay Ninh Province After Four Hours

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American infantrymen battled an estimated 1,000 charging Viet Cong for four hours in Tay Ninh Province today and reported 302 enemy bodies counted after the fighting ended.

The battle resumed at 6 a.m. for troops of the U.S. 1st Division who lost contact almost completely Monday with the tough Viet Cong force that had battled American troops for four days.

U.S. officers at operational headquarters told Associated Press photographer John Nance tonight that 302 enemy bodies had been counted after the fighting ended, that large numbers of weapons, grenades and ammunition had been taken and that an 80-bed Viet Cong hospital had been found.

Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from the battlefield that some American officers estimated 500 of the enemy were killed today.

He reported one battalion of the 1st Division's 28th Regiment bore the brunt of the new fighting. American casualties were officially reported light.

In other scattered actions:

An American spokesman said a Viet Cong force of unknown size moved into a village 75 miles southwest of Saigon at 2:30 a.m. Monday and kidnaped

Four Brief Years Ago

Remember '62? Nixon Said He Was Through

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's last nonpresidential election was just four brief years ago. How well do you remember it?

Here are a few reminders:

The one thing that was considered a possible national issue— the Cuban missile crisis two weeks earlier—did not seem to have any broad effect.

In California, Republican Richard M. Nixon lost the governorship race to Gov. Edmund G. Brown and said he was bowing out of politics.

In New York, Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller topped Democrat Robert M. Morgenthau by nearly a half million votes and leaped to the top of the heap of potential 1964 GOP presidential candidates.

George Romney won the Michigan governorship. William W. Scranton was elected Pennsylvania's governor. Robert Taft Jr. was elected to Congress in an at-large House race in Ohio. Edward M. Kennedy was elected to the Senate by a landslide in Massachusetts. Veteran Republicans who met defeat included Sens. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin and Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota.

The national outcome was pretty much as expected—the Democrats lost two House seats, gained a net of three Senate seats, retained firm control of both. Democrats won 21 governorships, Republicans 14.

President John F. Kennedy said he was heartened by the Nov 6 election results.

4-Day Flight To Begin in Afternoon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Gemini series reaches the end of the road Wednesday when the Gemini 12 astronauts blast off on a four-day mission which may determine man's physical limitations in space.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. spent today reviewing their flight plan and talking with Gemini officials as launch crews prepared for the double liftoff.

An Atlas is to thunder skyward at 2:16 p.m. (EST) to boost an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous target. A Titan 2 is to hurl the astronauts into space at 3:55 p.m.

Three Factors

The afternoon launchings were determined by three factors: lighting conditions required for the rendezvous; to avoid high radiation when Aldrin pokes his head outside the spacecraft at an altitude of 460 miles, and to place the astronauts in position Saturday to photograph a total eclipse of the sun over South America.

"Men and machinery are ready," a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported.

The flight will close out the highly successful program which has tested all the techniques that American astronauts will use on Apollo man-to-the-moon flights. The first earth orbital flight of a three-man Apollo ship is scheduled early next year.

Linkup With Agena

Highlights of the Gemini 12 mission will be a third-orbit rendezvous and linkup with the Agena, practicing many maneuvers that Apollo astronauts must make during their return

Bulletin

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A problem developed in the Gemini 12 booster rocket today and officials said there was a possibility it could delay Wednesday's scheduled liftoff.

"We have a problem," a space agency spokesman said.

"We don't know how serious it is," he added. "If it is serious, it could affect the launching."

Knowles, Lucey End Campaigns

State Voters Must Battle With Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mixture of light rain, some snow and falling temperatures was the forecast confronting Wisconsin voters trekking to the polls today.

The campaign, during which many candidates said voters seemed apathetic, was expected to draw only about half the state's 2.4 million eligible voters.

Warren P. Knowles and Patrick J. Lucey, competing for governor, ended their campaigns late Monday in vote-rich Milwaukee touching on some of the issues that had marked the campaign:

Water pollution, the degree of special-interest influence in government, crime, federal aid, industrial development and whether the state should continue to bar sales of colored oleomargarine.

Other Contests

The contest between Republican Gov. Knowles and Democratic Lt. Gov. Lucey topped the voters' need to select 10 congressmen, 17 state senators, 100 assemblymen, a lieutenant governor, a state treasurer, an attorney general, a secretary of state and courthouse officers in 72 counties.

Lucey, 48, who led reconstruction of the state's Democratic Party in the 1940s, is an associate of the Kennedy organization. He has campaigned on auto insurance rate issues and has urged repeal of the colored oleo barrier.

Knowles, 10 years older, upset the incumbent in 1964 to become governor. The New Richmond attorney was elected to the Legislature in 1940 and was lieutenant governor for three terms.

Seek GOP Sweep

Republicans were counting on Knowles to lead a GOP sweep. His running mate was Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells, a former lieutenant governor opposed for the job by State Sen. Martin J. Schreiber, 27, a Milwaukee Democrat.

Democrat Eugene Lamb challenged State Treasurer Dena Smith, 67, for the fifth time.

Rain, Cold, Fog, Snow Reported Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A variety of miserable weather covered more than half the nation this Election Day — Subzero cold, snow, rain, thunderstorms and fog.

Snow was falling today in at least 10 states from eastern Nevada to the north shore of Lake Superior, and North Dakota got bitter cold along with it. The temperature was 5 below at Devils Lake this morning. Bismarck's one below was a record for the date.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for southeastern Montana.

Accumulations by dawn measured as much as three inches in western South Dakota and four inches in parts of Nevada.

The rain area lay to the east and south of the snow, and ran from Southern California and the southern plateau region to New England. The Ohio Valley had thundershowers.

The cold front that brought in the snows and rains dropped into Kansas during the early morning, when temperatures were in the 60s in the southern part of the state but in the 20s in the northwest.

Except for some morning fog along the Gulf Coast, the southeastern quarter of the nation had continued warm and mostly sunny weather. Temperatures Monday reached the 80s on the southern Plains and a record for the date of 78 at St. Joseph, Mo.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Balloting was reported heavy in a number of crucial areas around the nation today as the American voter turned out to elect 435 House members, 35 senators and 35 governors.

Sees Democrat Sweep

LBJ Arrives Early, Casts Vote Anyway

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson turned out to vote today 39 minutes before the polls opened — and local election officials let him cast his ballot anyway.

Johnson thought his polling place, 15 miles east of the LBJ Ranch, opened at 7 a.m., so with Mrs. Johnson, he drove up at 7:21.

Most Texas precincts did open at that hour, but because Johnson City is a community of only about 600, voting here normally begins at 8 a.m. The election judges and clerks were already on hand when Johnson entered, however, and they made no move to stop him from casting his premature ballot.

"I voted the Democratic ticket," Johnson reported on emerging.

The chief executive then exchanged banter with newsmen and finally remarked:

"You know, everybody's in fine humor this morning and I guess that indicates a Democratic sweep."

The President was in San Antonio briefly Monday, to undergo routine tests at Brooke Army Medical Center where he hopes to have the surgery performed.

Johnson told newsmen afterwards that he hopes to be operated on Friday and, if not then, next Tuesday. Last Thursday, he said his doctors wanted him to rest for 15 or 18 days before the surgery. He has been following a busy pace since then.

The President spent about 1½ hours at the hospital, got about a dozen X-rays of stomach and abdomen and was probed and tested around the nose and throat. He said his electrocardiogram was normal and that his blood pressure was well within the normal range.

Pope Paul Seeks Rewritten Bible For All Christians

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican announced today that Pope Paul VI has given orders for the Roman Catholic Church to work with Protestants, Anglicans and Orthodox Catholics to produce a common Bible for all Christians.

The announcement said the Pope, in implementing a decision of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, had entrusted the task to the Vatican Secretariat of Christian Unity.

The various Catholic conferences of bishops around the world have been sent questionnaires asking information on the "needs, possibilities and difficulties of each area with regard to Bible translation and distribution," the announcement added.

McNamara Hears Jeers

Defense Chief Answers Hecklers After Harvard Talk

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara criticized the behavior of antiwar demonstrators Monday when they jeered him at Harvard University.

McNamara, leaving a Harvard residence hall after speaking to 50 students of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Institute of Politics, was greeted by a crowd of 400 assembled on the steps of the Quincy House. Most of them carried placards and shouted slogans in support of the Johnson administration's policies in Viet Nam.

Drowned Out

Others in the crowd were from a local student organization opposed to the war. They booed and jeered.

McNamara told the crowd he had spent some of the "happiest years" of his life at Harvard when he attended the Harvard Business School during World War II as an Army officer. He was drowned out by screams and boos.

Visibly angry, he said, "I might add that I was a lot tougher and a lot more courteous than you."

What to Look for in Elections

National Trends, Effects of War, Backlash Being Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political analysts studying election returns tonight will be looking for trends, the rise and fall of potential presidential nominees and the effect of such widely discussed subjects as the "white backlash" and the Viet Nam war.

Here are some areas to watch:

Trends — Six bellwether House districts have reflected changes in congressional party lines over the past decade. The six are the Connecticut 4th, Pennsylvania 19th, Iowa 4th, Indiana 9th, Wisconsin 1st and Ohio 10th. They are among 44 House districts, currently represented by first-term Democrats, which were held by Republicans before 1964. Practically all of the 44 Democrats are solid supporters of the Johnson administration.

Congressional control — Democrats are assured of retaining Senate control and are expected to keep House control, but with a smaller majority than their current ratio of 295 to 140. A switch of just 25 House seats from pro-Johnson Democrats to anti-Johnson Republicans would have meant the defeat of such key Johnson domestic measures as medicare, open housing, rent supplements and demonstration cities. Thus, even fewer GOP gains than the off-year average of 40 could mean Johnson might have to settle for a less ambitious domestic program over the next two years and might threaten funding for such approved programs as rent supplements and demonstration cities.

Conservative Democrats, particularly a number of those from the South, often team up

Lost Over Milwaukee

Flying Boxcar Guides Craft to Happy Landing

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two pilots related Monday how an Air Force Reserve transport plane guided a small, private aircraft to safety through clouds and darkness which one pilot likened to the "inside of an inkwell."

The private plane, carrying pilot Harlan Frahm of Burlington, his wife and two other passengers, landed safely at West Bend after wandering over Lake Michigan and after losing track of its shepherd, a C-119 Flying Boxcar.

Flies Too Fast

Frahm had found himself trapped late Sunday west of Milwaukee above a thick layer of clouds. His single - engine plane lacked the instruments for a blind landing, he was uncertain of his position, and his craft was running out of fuel.

The Flying Boxcar, en route to Green Bay and contacted near Sheboygan, was asked by Milwaukee's Gen. Mitchell Field to guide Frahm to safety.

But the troop transport flies twice as fast as Frahm's Cessna, and Frahm "immediately lost us" as the planes descended through the cloud layer, said the military craft's pilot, Capt. James Arnold of New Berlin.

The only choice for Frahm, 36, a pilot since 1949, was to drop through the clouds over Lake Michigan. "Frankly, he did a creditable job," Arnold said.

Frahm found himself 40 miles east of Port Washington, trapped between clouds and the lake, and with dusk having fallen.

'Lost Radio Contact'

"At 2,500 feet, he lost radar and radio contact with approach control," said Arnold, who was having to communicate with the airport because his plane's radio frequency didn't match that of Frahm's.

Arnold began another search for the small craft in the darkness which he described as the "inside of an inkwell. It was more or less luck that we found him."

Even then, the trip to West Bend was touch and go. Frahm said the C-119, because of its greater speed, had to circle ahead of him to prevent him from losing sight of the big plane.

Voter Places High Price on Freedom

BOSTON (AP) — John W. McGarry will have a long trip to vote today.

McGarry, chief counsel to the Congressional Election Commission in Washington, expected to be in California this week, and so applied for an absentee ballot.

He never received the absentee ballot and because the law allows only one to a voter, he couldn't get another.

Secretary of State Kevin H. White said Monday he had word that McGarry would fly to Boston, his legal residence, to vote — then fly back to California.

'Don't Elect Me,' Candidate Pleads

BERLIN, N.H. (AP) — Robert Dumont, unlike thousands of political candidates awaiting the results of today's voting, hopes nobody will vote for him.

Dumont is Republican candidate for supervisor of checklists, a minor city office responsible for keeping records. He recently accepted a teaching job with New Hampshire Vocational Institute. As a state employe he can't run for public office, but he couldn't get his name off the ballot.

So on election eve, Dumont issued the plea "don't elect me."

UW to Have Rules for Disciplining Hecklers

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin chancellor says school rules were being changed to clarify the administration's authority to take action against disruptive heckling such as that which marred a recent campus speech by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

Chancellor Robben W. Fleming told a monthly faculty meeting Monday that a committee would probably have the recommended changes in the university rules ready by December. He indicated they would authorize disciplinary action in the future.

Jewelry Worth $500,000 Stolen

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A downtown jewelry store was still adding up its losses today after a crew of expert burglars made off with diamonds valued at more than $500,000.

Police said the burglars gained access to Coleman E. Adler & Sons, Inc., by cutting a hole in the roof — then opened the big vault inside with acetylene torches. The store burglary alarms were bypassed.

Paths Are Clear To Voting Booths

Fox Cities — Considerable cloudiness and colder tonight. Low near 20 degrees; high near 38. Wednesday, cloudy with rain or snow likely. Light northerly winds becoming southeasterly Wednesday. Precipitation probability less than 10 per cent tonight and 70 per cent Wednesday.

Appleton — Observations for past 24 hours show high, 54; low, 41. Barometer, 29.88 and rising. Winds northwest at 3 miles per hour. Relative humidity, 72. Dew point, 37. Skies cloudy. Precipitation, 0.06.

Sun sets at 4:35 p.m., rises Wednesday at 6:41 a.m. Moon rises Wednesday at 2:47 a.m. The planet, Venus, is now almost directly beyond the sun and is invisible. The distance of Venus from the Earth today, a little over 159 million miles, is its greatest for 1966.

Reduced Draft Call Could Eliminate Reservist Backlog

Failure of Troops to Get Combat Ready Also Might be Eliminated

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's decision to reduce draft calls over the next four months eventually may solve two pressing Army problems: the huge backlog of untrained reservists and the failure to reach full combat readiness among U.S.-based divisions.

Pentagon sources said Monday the Army should be able to slash the reservist backlog — 153,100 as of last June 30 — to 60,000 by next summer. The Army training bases, officials said, should be training as many as 20,000 reservists a month by early next year. Right now the Army is scheduled to train only 7,000 reservists monthly.

Less Than 25,000

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the cutback at a news conference Saturday. He said draft calls — barring unforeseen contingencies — should average less than 25,000 through March, about half the current levels

In past months the Army has been training more than 55,000 recruits a month but has been unable to reduce substantially the number of untrained reservists and National Guardsmen

The large pools of untrained men have been a sharp target of congressional critics who contend the reserve program amounts to a haven for those men who otherwise would be drafted to fight in Viet Nam.

Training Duties

The eased draft calls, part of an over-all slowdown in the rate of troop deployment to South Viet Nam announced by McNamara Saturday, also could lead to the end of training duties for the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions in Texas

Despite Pentagon announcements earlier this year that all in-division training would be completed by October, officials said the two armored divisions are not expected to complete training until early spring.

Pentagon sources said the divisions — normally considered part of the U S Strategic Reserve for emergency duty round the world — were forced to continue training because of the lack of training facilities as the Army strained to meet its heavy Viet Nam commitments.

3 New GOP Governorships, 2 More Senate Seats Predicted by Nixon

Victories Anticipated for Reagan, Percy, Winthrop Rockefeller, Callaway, Baker

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, winding up a 35-state campaign swing for Republican candidates in today's elections, said the "strongest tide in 20 years" will bring GOP victories for governor in California, Georgia and Arkansas and for U. S. senator in Illinois and Tennessee.

Nixon, ending a two-month campaign that reached into 65 congressional districts, told a rally of 2,500 persons Monday that Republican Charles H. Percy would win over Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas in the Illinois senatorial race by a margin of 750,000 votes.

He said there would be the "biggest Brown-out in history" in California, a reference to the race for governor between Democratic incumbent Edmund G Brown and Republican Ronald Reagan.

Tennessee Senator

Republicans will elect governors for the first time in 100 years in Georgia and Arkansas and the first GOP U. S. senator in history will be elected in Tennessee, Nixon predicted.

The Georgia gubernatorial race pits Republican Howard H. (Bo) Callaway against segregationist Democrat Lester G. Maddox. In Arkansas, Republican Winthrop Rockefeller faces segregationist Democrat Jim Johnson. Rockefeller is the brother of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is seeking a third term in New York.

In the Tennessee senatorial race, Republican Howard H. Baker Jr., son-in-law of Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen, is up against Democratic Gov. Frank G. Clement.

Nixon continued his sharp criticism of the Johnson administration, saying the President erred in referring to the 89th Congress as "my Congress," because "Congress does not belong to any president, Democrat or Republican — it belongs to the people."

He said Americans should turn from Johnson to Congress for leadership, filling it with "men who will stand up for the people when the President is wrong."

After the rally, Nixon flew home to New York. He said he already had voted by absentee ballot, a straight Republican ticket, and would not be available to newsmen until Wednesday afternoon when he would comment on the election at his office.

Agents Accused Of Meddling At Court Martial

TREASURE ISLAND, Calif (AP)—Intelligence agents have been accused of meddling with prospective defense witnesses in the court-martial of Navy Capt. Archie C. Kuntze, formerly of Sheboygan, Wis.

Kuntze, 46, who headed a $60 million U.S. military supply operation in Viet Nam, is charged with 18 counts under four general accusations stemming from his alleged unlawful and profitable activities in Saigon.

"The Office of Naval Intelligence, special agents, counter-intelligence and intelligence agents—and everything you can think of involving spies and intrigue — have been after these people." Capt. Daniel Flynn declared Monday. Flynn is Kuntze's counsel.

He made his statement while arguing a motion that the government produce 12 Vietnamese witnesses against Kuntze

Among the charges against the veteran of three wars are five involving a Chinese national woman identified as Jannie Suen

Kuntze also is accused of allowing the woman to share his official quarters, using government vehicles and employes to transport her, and importing silks from Hong Kong and Bangkok for Miss Suen, and for sale for profit.

Actor Hamilton Takes Army Physical After Working All Night

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Actor George Hamilton worked on a movie until 4:30 a.m. today, then 3½ hours later went to the U S. Army area command headquarters for pre-draft medical examinations

Hamilton, a frequent escort of Lynda Bird Johnson, left patients at the local Army hospital agog as he walked into a private examination room wearing a sandy yellow suit.

Hamilton's romance with the President's older daughter has caused much criticism of his deferment from active service on the ground that his mother is dependent on him. Last month, his New York draft board ordered him to take a physical "to get all the information possible into his record." A spokesman said at the time that even if Hamilton were found physically fit, he would not necessarily be drafted.

Erhard Won't Ask for Vote

Bundestag Wants Chancellor to Seek Confidence

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's Bundestag urged Chancellor Ludwig Erhard today to ask for a formal vote of confidence which he would almost certainly lose Erhard said in advance he would not comply

The vote was 255-246 on a Socialist motion which Erhard does not have to heed The Socialists were joined by the Free Democrats, until Oct 27 Erhard's allies in a coalition government

The chancellor's Christian Democratic party voted against the motion

The Bundestag can only replace the chancellor if a majority can agree on a successor. So far it has been unable to do this

Erhard lost his majority Oct. 27 when the Free Democrats, who have 49 members in the Bundestag, quit his coalition government in opposition to tax raises he planned to balance the budget and finance arms purchases the government had pledged to make from the United States The United States demanded the purchases to offset the foreign exchange it spends on U S forces in Germany

Italian Disaster Squads Build Dikes To Keep Po From Flooding Delta

ROME (AP) — Disaster teams manned the dikes around the clock today in the Po River delta, fighting to keep Italy's mightiest river from unleashing new floods.

Earth - moving machinery, bucket cranes, sandbags, picks, shovels and floodlights were thrown into the feverish operation south of Venice The Po rose about an inch an hour during the night

Only about 4,000 of the delta's 10,000 inhabitants had left their homes Monday night, but increased concern over the resistance of the dikes caused the number of evacuees to mount.

Rescue and relief work continued full scale throughout five regions of northern and central Italy stricken in last weekend's unprecedented floods The economy of one-third of the nation was wrecked, and a Cabinet meeting was called today to form an emergency aid plan.

Persons Stranded

Military helicopters flew 800 missions Monday with food and medicine to persons stranded in precarious locations.

Columns of trucks carried huge plastic bags of fresh water communities whose pipelines were broken or contaminated.

Interior Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani told Parliament there were 72 identified dead and 35 missing, but casualty reports were far from complete Estimates of the dead ran as high as 300.

In Florence, storehouse of many of Italy's Renaissance art treasures, the Arno River took a heavy toll of paintings, antique manuscripts, rare books and records Scholars and curators dug through the slime and mud left in the city's museums and art galleries to compile a list of the damaged art treasures and to salvage what they could. Repairs could take years

Damage was most severe in the Uffizi Gallery, the Santa Croce Basilica, the Cathedral Baptistry, the National Library and the State Archives.

Records of centuries, paintings, sketches, rare manuscripts and other art works were still under water in the Uffizi basement and at the National Library and State Archives

Mrs. Gandhi Might Revamp Police in Wake of Rioting

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was today reported preparing to name Defense Minister Y B Chavan, who reorganized the Indian army after its defeat by Red China in 1962, to do a similar job on India's beleaguered police forces

A source close to Mrs Gandhi said Home Minister Gulzari Lal Nanda, whose ministry controls the police and investigative agencies had offered his resignation in the wake of New Delhi's rioting Monday, worst in nearly two decades

Nanda, India's acting prime minister after the deaths of both Jawaharlal Nehru and Lal Bahadur Shastri, was blamed for failing to prevent the bloody rampage in the capital Monday Seven persons were killed and 500 were injured as thousands of Hindus demanding a national ban on the slaughtering of cows roamed the streets in an orgy of arson, destruction and looting

$1 Million Damage

City officials estimated the damage at more than $1 million, including the burning of 250 cars, 100 motor scooters and six municipal buses

With mob violence growing increasingly more frequent over the country, the executive committee of the ruling Congress party's parliamentary body took the government to task and censured Nanda One of the party's most influential politicians, Atulya Ghosh, urged a major Cabinet reshuffle.

Hungry India has 250 million cows, one for every two persons, but their slaughter is banned in much of the country because the cow is sacred to orthodox Hindus Hindu extremists are demanding a total ban and threaten that one of their number will burn himself to death before the presidential palace Nov 20 unless the ban is on the statute books by then

Building More Highways

The State Highway Department's construction budget for 1967 as recently made public will set a new record in annual expenditures for highway improvements in the state. The aggregate disbursement, the commission has said, will be about $144 millions, a landmark figure in the history of Wisconsin highway development.

Several factors are involved in the greater spending power of the department. Principal among them was the authorization of some acceleration in main line improvements by the legislature when it enacted a small increase in the motor fuel tax last summer. The act was accompanied by considerable resistance and partisan squabbling, but it is noteworthy, we believe, that the record has had little visible involvement in the campaign debate of this fall. If there is any candidate for the legislature or state office who is opposed to highway improvements, we have not heard from him.

As we noted at the time, the initiative of the state government in fashioning a network of safe and efficient main roads is one of the positive and tangible and demonstrable avenues that can be taken for the fostering of economic growth in general and industrial progress in particular. Wisconsin imports vast quantities of raw materials. Its industries expert vast quantities of finished products. Economical transportation is one of the indispensable requirements of such enterprise.

Perhaps as important in the legislature's decision, however, was the implicit abandonment of the ancient rule in statehouse politics that when there is an adjustment in the state highway budget for state highway improvement purposes, the local road system must share equally.

We yield to no opinion in Wisconsin about the value and the need of our superb rural road system, including a town road network that stretches over 70,000 miles of the rural landscape in the state as a whole. Yet it has been one of the incongruities of our highway finance policy over many decades that while we have boasted about having one of the best, if not the best, farm-to-market road programs in America, we have permitted our main line roads to deteriorate. For many years the obsolescense has exceeded the ratio of replacement. The time may well come when the state aid formula for the lesser roads will require revision, and especially with respect to county highways connecting with main routes, or city roads and streets. But the challenge of today, as the Highway Commission usefully argued and the legislature wisely seconded, is the enlargement and modernization of the major routes that are increasingly the economic arteries of our progressive commonwealth.

Sign of the Times?

Are the taxpayers growing restless, or even rebellious, as the "outs" seeking the offices of the "ins" tell us during each succeeding political campaign season?

Perhaps.

There is an intriguing little footnote of possible corroboration in the current publication of the Wisconsin State Employees Association reporting on the special benefit legislation it will seek when the 1967 legislature convenes.

Among its requests will be the liberalization of the early retirement provision applying to civil servants in hazardous occupations to cover, you guessed it, tax officials.

The Nuclear Arms Race

The sincere efforts of delegates of several countries to reach some sort of reasonable treaty to prevent the continuous expansion of nuclear weapons appear doomed to failure. The stumbling blocks are not only Communist countries or isolated Red China.

At present the United States and the Soviet Union are somewhat near agreement on a treaty to halt the proliferation of such weapons. Such an agreement will last of course only so long as the signatories feel it is to their advantage not to have other countries in possession of nuclear weapons. With the United States and Russia having almost a monopoly of deliverable warheads, this situation is possible. It is also possible that even De Gaulle would agree not to hand out the fissionable material as long as France has a small stockpile of her own.

Obviously no one at present is going to convince Communist China that it shouldn't continue to develop its own nuclear power. But Red China, like other countries with such power, is certainly going to be reluctant to hand it over to anyone else. China would hardly want North Viet Nam to have nuclear weapons for fear that their use would bring the massive retaliatory power of the United States all the way to Peking.

But the Indian attitude at present is the most difficult to overcome. India has no nuclear bombs and has insisted that its current development of nuclear power will be only for peaceful pursuits. But instead of aiding the effort to halt the spread of nuclear bombs, India has demanded in the United Nations a halt to the production of all atomic weapons.

The Indian delegate, V. C. Trivedi, said that the greatest danger to the world from nuclear power is the effort of those already in possession of trying to perfect their arsenals. He pointed to the most recent Chinese explosion of a missile carried nuclear warhead as the example of the threat of "catastrophic consequences." He also objected to an American proposal that nuclear nations supply explosive power to those not in possession for the blasting of canals and other such projects if controlled explosions became possible.

India's position of course depends upon its national interests. Since it is developing its own power it doesn't want such power, even for peaceful purposes, extended to anybody else. And since India continues to see Pakistan as its major enemy, it fears that Pakistan's friendship with Red China will mean the threat of Chinese nuclear weapons against India.

It is possible that the United States and the Soviet Union can reach agreement on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. But the dangers of their use in the future will probably lie with the poorer nations who may even come to feel they have little to lose in their use. In the last decade it has become clear that many of the new nations have as great aspirations for power and as much hatred for their neighbors as was ever attributed to the former colonial powers. There is no reason to believe that what appear to us to be small conflicts would not be excuses for the use of nuclear weapons.

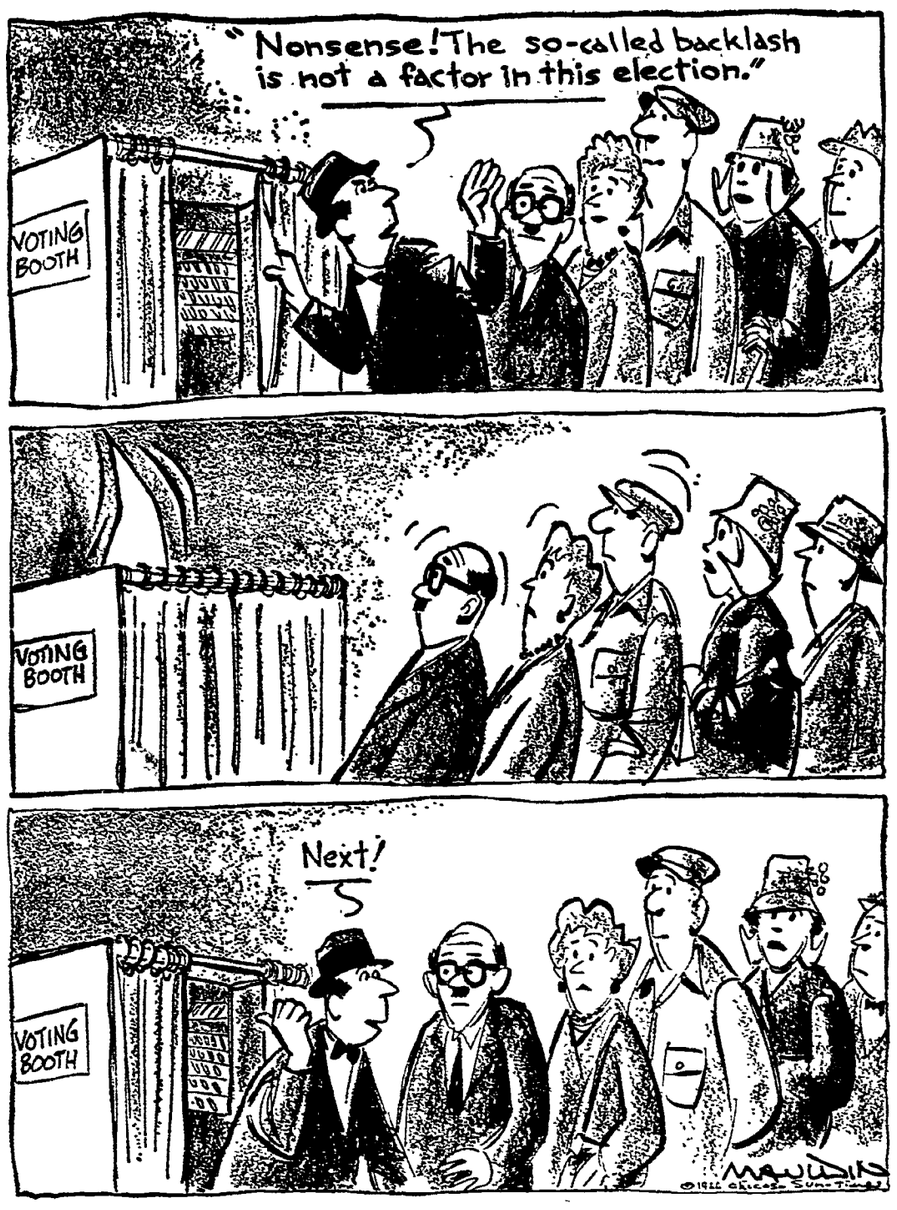

Cars and Cows

Four cows were killed in two accidents on Waupaca County roads recently. In each accident cars were extensively damaged, and in one a woman was injured. Both happened at the dangerous driving hours of dawn and dusk.

Historically, cows have the right to cross roads to get to pasture lands and back home. The aggravation of traffic depends on whether you are driving the herd or the car, but serious, high-cost accidents seem to raise some question of highway safety.

Motorists certainly have the obligation to be able to stop their cars within a reasonable distance. However, it would seem that farmers driving cattle on the highway would have an obligation to give an efficient warning if the road ahead is to be blocked.

Both car drivers and cattle drivers should observe a fundamental rule of all law: "So use your own property so as not to injure that of another."

Neither Candidate for Governor Discussed State Tax Shortage

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The nominees for governor during a long and enervating campaign talked about many things, perhaps too many for the capacity of most of their listeners. But there was one question, ranking above all others in complexity and importance, that they managed to avoid so successfully that might have suggested a kind of gentleman's agreement. That is the question of managing the tax deficit that almost surely will again dominate the issues in the new term in the state capitol and the new legislative session that will begin early in January.

Wyngaard

No one with the slightest understanding of state finance or no one who has watched the new budget requests emerging from the multitude of state institutions and departments during recent weeks can doubt that the money problem in the capitol next winter will be as serious and perhaps more difficult to resolve than the celebrated money crises of the last three or four administrations that dominated legislative sessions almost completely for long months.

ABSURDITIES

Some of the proposals, indeed, are so ambitious as to be almost absurd. They appear to represent the calculations of men entirely oblivious to the condition of the state treasury, or the resources of the taxpayers.

These are not literally important. Inevitably they will be cut back. Undoubtedly the habit of cutting back is one of the reasons why the budget appellants aim so high in the first place. If they ask for a 50 per cent boost, and are allowed 25 per cent or 30 per cent, they are well ahead of the game. The thrifty bureaucrat who hesitates to ask for generous increases in difficult times tends to be punished. When the pruning knife is brought out, he is likely to be cut back along with his less considerate compatriots in the governmental services.

But the lessons of the last decade, or more of huge inflation of state expenditures are clear for all to read. The most arduous efforts to hold down spending have not been sufficient to hold biennial increases below 25 per cent, on the whole. The effect of such increases is cumulative. Such a rise in the new budget would amount to more than $200 million, which a comparatively short time ago represented the aggregate of the state's disbursements.

This is the incontrovertible and obvious dilemma of the state for the next two years. How will the revenue gap be bridged?

SILENCE

Lucey and Knowles were more aware of it during their long stumping campaigns than most others. For reasons pecular to their own situations, they felt they could not safely discuss it. The governor, believing himself to be favored in the election, didn't want to acknowledge, even by indirection, that there will be another taxation crisis in the capitol this winter. Republicans and conservatives are sensitive about such things.

Knowles has said hopefully that economic expansion may produce enough extra tax money under existing taxation schedules to resolve the problem. But it is a hope, not a conviction.

Lucey was even more ingenious. He let the impression stand that the state is now spending too much money and that a man with courage and stamina could reverse the trend and make ends meet. That was thought to embarrass Knowles among his own partisans, on the one hand, and to give himself a posture of moderation, and avoid a commitment on tax policy, on the other.

The anomalous position of the candidates recalls a story told by the late, beloved State Sen. Jess Miller of Richland Center, one of the most respected of the conservatives who have served in the legislature in recent times. Miller was once hard pressed by a formidable lobby on behalf of a huge new spending program. How would it be paid for, he remonstrated mildly. Tax the taxpayers, the lobbyist replies. And so it will be, without much doubt, when the legislature a few months hence settles down to balancing accounts for the new biennial state budget.

Reader Asks Parents to Examine What School Cuts May Mean

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I have always believed that the office of mayor carries with it a certain degree of dignity and decorum which requires the office-holder to treat his department heads, aldermen and all with whom he deals officially with courtesy, respect and consideration. Mr. Buckley's public pronouncements make it abundantly clear he is incapable of treating people with respect. I particularly resent his reference to the school board head (Mr. Buchanan) as "crying crocodile tears" over the request to cut $300,000 from the school budget, when we consider the long hours the school board members spend on an extremely difficult and thankless task for the benefit of our children, this kind of rudeness is inexcuseable. I also resent his references to "that silo" on the south side. Is this how we instill respect for school buildings in the pupils? Mr. Buckley may be inspiring vandalism at the new school with such statements and would be well advised to think before he speaks in the future.

With reference to the proposed $300,000 cut in the school budget, I would like to emphasize the following points: All parents who (without further inquiry) call their aldermen to support the full budget cut should have careful second thoughts. This includes parochial school parents who plan to send their children to public schools at the 9th grade level and those who are considering closing the lower grades of certain parochial schools. When your children enter the public school system you will expect them to be given a good education comparable to that offered in any other Wisconsin city of this size.

Are you aware that within three years all the Junior High Schools will once again be operating at capacity including the new Einstein School? Roosevelt School is overcrowded now and in desperate need of modernization and expansion. Wilson School has many similar needs though it is not at present overcrowded. We can accept the inevitable differences between a new and an old building but not the tremendous discrepancy in moveable equipment. These deficiencies make it inevitable that pupils attending Wilson and Roosevelt Schools are being denied equivalent educational opportunities despite the comparable abilities of the teachers.

Perhaps your child is planning to study a foreign language (a requirement for college entrance. (I urge you to make a comparative visit at Einstein and Roosevelt Schools during Education Week. Perhaps you have a budding scientist in the family? At Einstein and Madison Schools two to three children share each microscope. At Wilson School six children share each microscope (borrowed for each class), but don't omit Roosevelt School from your tour. Roosevelt has one microscope for the entire class and no flat tables for pupils to work on dissection, preparation of slides, etc. Is this equal educational opportunity?

While on your tour, look at the music and gym facilities, noting the inadequate size of the old gyms. If you child has a study hall period in the Roosevelt auditorium are you aware that the lighting is grossly inadequate for this purpose? The request for improved lighting has been cut from the budget year after year at the expense of the students' eyesight. Ask your principal about the repair and maintenance items which are automatically cut from the budget every year. Do you remember how long it took to get a watertight roof on Washington School? Jackson School's chimney was in urgent need of repair before it was demolished by lightning. Wilson School is again going to be denied a $200 thermostat to regulate the erratic heating system.

Another proposed item to be cut from the budget involves the per capita allowance for library books. For the past three years Appleton has been warned that its expenditures are hovering at the state minimum requirements. The proposed cut this year could jeopardize receipt of state funds. The cut will also necessitate cancellation of all subscriptions to periodicals and magazines in school libraries. Also, one librarian will be cut from the appropriation.

Sports and athletics fans should be aware that the athletics subsidies will be dropped at both high schools. This means that all non-self-supporting athletic activities will probably be dropped. What athletic activity will be left for the majority of students who are not on the football team? Do we care about the physical fitness of the entire student body? One physical education teacher for A.H.S. East will also be dropped, and two janitors who may have been able to maintain the new building adequately.

Do you know that the entire summer school program will be dropped? Fifty per cent of the summer school enrollment comes from the parochial schools. Perhaps you have a slow learner in your family. He will no longer be able to catch up at summer school. Also, teaching aids and books which were to help him during the regular school year will not be purchased. Many talented and industrious bright students will no longer be able to take the enrichment courses which cannot be provided during the school year.

Because Appleton finally accepted federal funds for science equipment we have one fully equipped junior high school (Einstein). Appleton High School East will also be adequately equipped and A.H.S. West has also added a great deal of sorely needed equipment under this federal program which has been in operation so long and to such great benefit all over the country. These funds are still available to new buildings but our old junior high schools are getting farther and farther out of date. The drastic cuts proposed in the school budget will virtually insure that they remain substandard. The gap is widening with each year we delay renovations and equipment purchases. The parents of students at Roosevelt and Wilson Schools should be aware that their children may be at a disadvantage when they reach high school.

These are only a few of the proposed items to be cut. Many others deserve equal publicity but space does not permit me to memtion them. Some items will be cut, others postponed. However, I hope parents reading my letter, will agree that not all these programs are expendable.

I ask all of you, please know the facts before you call your alderman. Insist that the necessities be retained. Your child's future is involved too — even if he is only in kindergarten now.

Here's Why Harris Doesn't Talk Politics

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

From time to time, readers want to know why I don't write "more about politics." The only true and honest answer is that I have a profound distaste, not for politics, but for the level at which it operates in our society. If I wrote about it more, I would have to be negative about 90 per cent of the time — which is a tiresome stance for a writer, and eventually a bore to the reader.

Harris

What could one say that made any sense, for instance, about the race in California between Ronald Reagan, who is in favor of motherhood and against dirty words, and Pat Brown, who can scarcely find his way out of a telephone booth?

What is there to write — partisan politics aside — about the viscosity of Richard Nixon's comments on foreign affairs? And who in his right mind would care to choose between these two artful dodgers?

Any why waste words over a House of Representatives so lost to ordinary decency that it votes three-to-one to support the unspeakable House un-American Activities Committee, when even the dullest law student knows that both the committee and the House are thumbing their noses at the whole concept of "due process of law."?

What can one say about a Republican Party so intellectually bankrupt that it nominates an amiable ignoramus like Barry Goldwater as its Presidential candidate, or about a Democratic Party so steeped in guile that it adopts the very posture in the Viet Nam war, after the election, for which it bitterly attacked its opponent before the election?

Only a man who liked to break a butterfly on a wheel would care to dissect Gov. Rockerfeller of New York. And what in the name of sanity can be said about Lester Maddox of Georgia, or Mrs. Wallace of Alabama, or a score of other political luminaries who — by even the most minimal scale of civilized values — should be manning gas-pumps and sweeping floor rather than shaping the destinies of states?

Politics is a farce, when it is not a fraud. It attracts the worst elements — along with a few of the best — because the concept of "public service" in American life has degenerated to a degree that would shock and disgust the founders of our nation. And it is pointless to blame the "apathy" of the voters — when the voters are usually offered a choice between a wrong-principled Tweedledum and an unprincipled Tweedledee.

That's why I don't write "more about politics." I'd rather write about people — in the dim hope that if we can begin to understand ourselves better, we won't expect politics to make the world better.

Looking Backward

Third Ward Plans School-House

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Nov. 15, 1866.

At a school-meeting of this ward, held Sept. 29th, it was voted to raise a tax of $7.000 for buying a site and building a new school-house.

The contract has been made for the site at the price of $800, leaving $6,200 for the building.

The grounds consist of eight lots lying together in a body. Each lot is 60 by 120 feet, making thus a square of 240 feet on a side. It is in Block 27 and fronts on Cherry Street (now Memorial Drive at Fifth Street).

This selection is not only a very good one, but it is probably the best in the ward, having the advantage of lying high and dry, possessing a soil of sand and gravel which won't make mud and being at once near the great thoroughfares yet retired from them for stillness, comfort and safety.

The house is to be of brick, two stories high, with seats for 300 pupils. The plan was furnished by the State Superintendent. Among the good features, it gives good and safe rooms for keeping hats and cloaks during school time, and room for a library.

The basement will be of stone, from a quarry near Mud Creek, four miles south of the school-lot.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Nov. 4, 1941.

The celebrated dancers Veloz and Yolanda were appearing with their variety troupe onstage at the Rio Theater that week; the feature movie at the theater was "Hold Back the Dawn," starring Charles Boyer and Paulette Goddard, with "Henry Aldrich for President" (Jimmy Lydon the star) as the scond movie. Sonia Henie and John Payne were playing in "Sun Valley Serenade" at the new Rialto in Kaukauna. The Elite on West College Avenue was showing "The People vs. Dr. Kildare" with Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Laraine Day and Bonita Granville. The Varsity Theater on Wisconsin Avenue was playing "You'll Find Out" with Kay Kyser teamed up with Peter Lorre, Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Nov. 6, 1956.

Appleton Episcopalians were celebrating the centennial anniversary of the building of their church. Actually, All Saints Church did not get its name until 1905; the parish church was built as Grace Church and the congregation oranized officially in 1856. However, the first Anglican service was held in 1854 when a tiny group of people met in an Appleton hall to hear Bishop Jackson Kemper, noted missionary.

Mrs. Edward Kolasinski was elected president of the St. Mary Band and Chorun Mothers. Other officers included Mrs. Merton Schultz, vice president; Mrs. Adolph Guyette, treasurer, and Mrs. Paul Russell, secretary.

Good Teachers Affect Eternity By Their Influence on Students

Henry Adams, scion of a distinguished American family, and himself a famed historian and teacher, once said the good teacher affects eternity through his influence upon his students.

Havens

Even if Adams was too optimistic, there is no doubt that the good teacher must be imbued with a sense of mission, that what he says and does in the classroom does not end there.

Teacher Interprets

The good teacher is a custodian of the heritage of the past and an interpreter and investigator of the present. In these capacities, he determines the quality and the values of the future.

Teaching is, then, an opportunity and a challenge. Its opportunity is in the training and formation of each student's sensibilities, winning his intelligence over to the value of what he is being taught.

That also is the challenge, for the teacher must exercise all his skill and art to effect a conversion to the intellectual enterprise of knowledge for the sake of wisdom.

Now, this is a tall order, since most students have the mistaken notion that knowledge consists primarily in the amount of information they can absorb to put to some practical use. In an age dominated by technocrats, this attitude is inevitable. And in a period committed to the noble ideal of a college education for everyone who wants it, this attitude is understandable.

This is the second article of a five-part series produced for The Post-Crescent by the University of Wisconsin Center System in observation of American Education Week, Nov. 6-12. Today's writer is Dr. Elmer A. Havens, winner of the 1966 Johnson Foundation Distinguished Teacher's Award and assistant professor of English at the Fox Valley Center.

Uses Technology

Certainly, there is no serious wish — at least on the part of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin (UW) — to turn the clock back to a pre-technological time. In fact, the university, through its Articulated Instructional Media (AIM) program, under the direction of former Fox Valley Center Dean Dr. Robert Najem, is seeking ways of using the latest technological developments.

Just as the university recognizes the challenges, and seizes the opportunities, of contemporary educational enterprise, so must its faculty be forward-looking and progressive. And that it is!

It is the faculty which, in combination with an enlightened and resourceful administration, determines the worth of a university.

Has Reputation

That the (UW) is one of the few state universities possessing an international reputation, not only for the quality of its graduate school but also for the excellence of its undergraduate colleges, is a fact which speaks for itself.

In the development of the campuses in the northeastern and southeastern parts of the state, the university is not merely expanding in size. It is engaged in the dynamic and vital experiment with excellence necessary if Wisconsin is to continue to fulfill its obligations to its citizens while holding its place as one of the great educational institutions of our time.

It is exciting to be a faculty member at the (UW). The opportunities and challenges are unlimited because the (UW) is what it is: one that recognizes the value of the scholar-teacher in his relationship to the student and the community at large; one that carries its mission to the action. Thus, the university affords the scholar-teacher the opportunity and the challenge of maximizing whatever influence he may have upon eternity.

Campaign Coverage Clouds Struggle for Control of Legislature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Obscured in the emphasis upon gubernatorial and congressional campaign news coverage during the last several months has been the most intensive struggle between the parties for control of the state legislature in the modern history of the state.

Legislators are prominent news makers when they are in session in Madison. They become anonymous and largely unseen when they return to their homes and run for reelection in 17 small districts.

But during the last decades, the top leaders of both parties have learned through bitter experience the importance of legislative representation and the awkward and costly consequences of electing a governor of their persuasion who must deal with a legislature that is out of his control. Money and other assistance channelled to legislative nominees, from both party headquarters, has been more generous and more calculatingly used this year than ever before. No longer is the legislative nominee in a distant district an orphan in state politics.

Attorney General La Follette is the envy of most of the other younger politicians of Wisconsin. He has what the professional campaigner calls name identification. After three generations of the limelight for his family, virtually every voter knows the name.

But the youthful head of the state's legal department has told friends that he is often disappointed to discover that many voters don't know that he represents a new generation of the La Follette family.

It is common on the campaign trail for voters to greet him as "Bob", presumably because of his strong physical resemblance to his late father, a long-time member of the U.S. senate, where he succeeded to the seat held earlier by the founder of the political dynasty, Robert M. LaFollette Sr. Actually, the contemporary La Follette had little experience in the family's political life. When his father was retired from the senate 20 years ago, the present attorney general was a boy of 10 years.

The rising importance of retirement benefits, insurance and other incidental benefits for the state's work force is shown in a current breakdown of state expenditures from all funds for 1965. Such benefits accounted for seven cents out of each dollar of state disbursement. This was more than three times what the state spent for all natural resources programs, for example; more than four times the cost of the state building program, and nearly five times the cost of all of the state's regulatory activities.

Acting on the request of the state supreme court, the State Judicial Council has begun a study of lawyer client security fund programs in operation in other states, and a review of the history of past efforts in Wisconsin on behalf of such programs.

The court evidently favors such a security fund plan for Wisconsin, following a trend that has developed rapidly in some of the other states in the country in recent years.

The council has also asked for a study of the feasibility of electronic recording devices for the preparation of records of court proceedings, either as supplements to the services of court reporters, or as substitutes for the reporters when they are unavailable. Such devices have been in use elsewhere in the country, although not always to the satisfaction of magistrates or counsel.

More than in most past years, the political parties of Wisconsin this year evidently consented to individual campaign efforts by the nominees on their tickets. There has been little evidence of "team" effort in either party. Especially noticeable have been the separate drives of Lt. Gov. Lucey and Gov. Warren P. Knowles, the titular leaders of their respective tickets.

Look for a revival of the effort to legalize longer freight trucks on major Wisconsin highways in the 1967 legislature.

One of the problems in the truckers' campaign thus far has been the impression that it is a goal designed for their own interests. A new effort will be made to demonstrate, with active participation of shippers in the Wisconsin commercial and industrial community, that the issue of transportation economy and efficiency is involved and that it concerns businessmen throughout the state.

There have been hints in state administration circles that George Kaiser, one of Gov. Knowles' chief lieutenants as head of the state department of administration, will retire early next year, regardless of the outcome of the Knowles' reelection candidacy. Kaiser prefers a life in private business, some of his friends report.

Some employers may be puzzled, if not annoyed, by the attitude of the state industrial commission on the question of recording the racial identities of their employees. Under present commission policy, employers are not permitted to ask for such information on their personnel application forms. But the commission has now scheduled hearings on a proposed system of compiling such information, with the help of employers as a means of measuring attainment of the fair employment goal.

Watch for the formation of a Romney presidential delegate committee in Wisconsin if the governor of Michigan wins reelection, as expected. Romney will attract considerable interest in Wisconsin, but there remains a deep reservoir of skepticism toward him among the stalwarts of the Wisconsin Republican party organization.

Court Considers PSC Order for River Bulkhead

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state attorney general's office expects a decision within the next two or three months on the validity of a Public Service Commission order authorizing the Town of Ashwaubenon in Brown County to build a Fox River bulkhead for the improvement of navigation.

The case is being pressed in the trial court here in spite of a recent statement by the Conservation Commission that it desired an abandonment of the suit.

Robert McConnell, an assistant attorney general, reported today, however, that briefs have been filed by the state and the town, and that the court has asked for amplification of one of the legal points involved in the arguments.

The current litigation is the second stage of a protracted legal controversy involving wildlife and navigation considerations in the laws governing the construction of bulkheads on public waters.

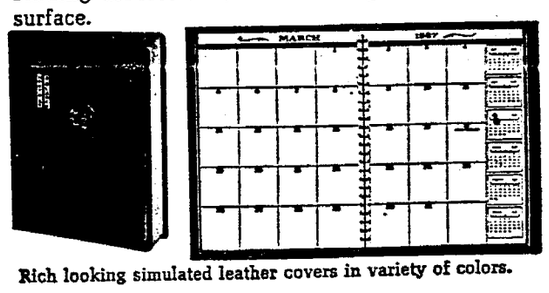

At stake, according to the state's argument, is the establishment of rules for shoreline controls everywhere in the state.

trip from the moon, three work sessions outside the spacecraft by Aldrin, and photography of the eclipse and of a sodium cloud to be released high above the earth by a French rocket launched from Algeria.

The extravehicular activity by Aldrin will be the most important goal of the flight. The 36-year-old former Korean combat pilot is to spend nearly five hours performing tasks outside during a space walk and two stand-up exercises in which he'll extend the upper half of his body into space.

While performing simple tasks and pacing himself with frequent rests, Aldrin will attempt to determine what problems face a man trying to work in a vacuum in a pressurized space suit.

Walks Cut Short

America's last three space walkers all had trouble during their excursions, primarily because of difficulty maintaining position in the weightless world. Two of the walks were cut short when the astronauts became fatigued doing simple tasks. The third was halted early because of a shortage of spacecraft fuel.

To help Aldrin move about outside, handrails, waist tethers and foot restraints have been placed along the Gemini craft and on the Agena

Two "work benches" have been built on the Agena and at the rear of the spacecraft where Aldrin is to make electrical connections, mate rings and hooks, and loosen and tighten bolts.

The flight is to end Sunday afternoon with a splashdown in the Atlantic Ocean.

Mrs. Smith lost to Lamb once, eight years ago.

Robert C. Zimmerman, 56, Republican secretary of state, was considered likely to retain his post against Democrat Cletus Johnson of Green Bay.

Congressional Races

While some observers had said the contests for sheriff and other county-level jobs might inspire more voter interest than the state-level campaigning did, there were congressional races high on the interest ratings

Rep Lynn E Stalbaum, a Racine Democrat, was in a showdown with the Republican he ousted from Congress two years ago, Henry C. Schadeberg

The Stalbaum-Schadeberg duel in the First Congressional District and the Six District race were considered keys to the question of whether the GOP could regain its domination of the state's congressional delegation.

In the Sixth, incumbent Democrat John A. Race of Fond du Lac faced Assemblyman William A. Steiger, R-Oshkosh.

Explosion Kills Industrial Plant Employe at Berlin

BERLIN, Wis. AP)—A 72-year-old shop foreman was killed today in an explosion that resulted when he attempted to re-light a gas furnace at the Russell Moccasin Co.

Karl A. Baehr of Berlin, a 45-year employe of the firm which manufactures moccasins, boots and shoes, was killed instantly.

Ralph Fabricus, sales manager, said the furnace room which is adjacent to the stitchery shop, apparently had filled with gas after the furnace went out. The blast occurred at 6:45 a.m.

The explosion was confined to the furnace room which was heavily damaged, but 35 employes who had just arrived to work in the stitcher department were sent home for the day because some equipment was damaged.

The plant is located one block from the downtown area.

$100,000 in Cash, Jewels Stolen From Food Chain President

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three well-dressed young gunmen broke into the home of a national grocery chain executive Monday night and took jewels and cash totaling about $100,000.

The robbery occurred at the waterfront home of Henry Kramer, president of the Southern division of the Food Fair grocery chain.

Police said Kramer and his wife, Mariam, had just returned home when three armed men, posing as deliverymen, forced their way into the one-story home.

Handshaking Strange Habit Of Politicians

Personal Contact Regarded as Way To Gain Notice

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1966 election campaigns were hardly intellectual — what campaigns are? — but the big political mystery of the year was that master politician, President Johnson

Some day, although it's not in sight in our lifetime, political scientists will be kept busy reflecting on the 20th century American mind, the politicians' and the voters'.

Instead of debating the issues exhaustively on television so the people could reach reasonable judgments on them and their ideas, the politicians spent much of their time trying to persuade the voters by shaking hands.

The explanation is simple: It's a way of keeping in the public eye and maybe the public mind. Since this is an ancient custom, it wasn't unique in 1966 Johnson himself has no equal in this field as "presser of the flesh."

Churchill Understood

Sir Winston Churchill understood the public eye bit very early as a young man who wanted to get elected to Parliament but first had to make an impression.

When he was on the Northwest Indian frontier in 1897 Churchill wrote a letter to his mother — it's in the just-published first volume of a three-volume biography by his son, Randolph S Churchill — which said

"I rode my grey pony all along the skirmish line where everyone else was lying down in cover Foolish perhaps but I play for high stakes and given an audience there is no act too daring or too noble Without the gallery, things are different."

Strange Sight

Still, it was strange to see Sen. Paul H. Douglas, Illinois Democrat and one of the truly intellectual members of Congress, waiting outside factory gates to shake hands with men he had never met and probably wouldn't again.

But it was all mutual.

People who might have voted more intelligently if they had spent more time studying the issues and what the candidates said, turned out in thousands to see the politicians and bowled one another over in the rush to shake hands with Johnson, or Sen. Robert F. Kennedy or some lesser light running for office.

In Congress Johnson needs all the Democrats he can get. Even if the Republicans today capture 30 or so House seats, the Democrats would still have a majority and keep control.

But the fewer the Democrats, the harder it will be for Johnson to get his programs through these next two years. And his success with programs may affect his chances for re-election in 1968.

Little Campaign

Nevertheless, although a lot of his Democrats needed help, he did extremely little campaigning for them and in October, as the campaigns reached their peak, he went off on a 17-day trip to Asia.

Since he undoubtedly could have postponed this until after the election, the unanswered question is. Why did he do it when he did?

Perhaps he thought the headlines he'd make every day as the American commander in chief around the world would do his Democrats more good than any number of speeches he might have made at home.

There s no evidence they did. But Johnson has a lot in common with Churchill Both men sought fame and recognition all their lives And Johnson as Churchill did loves a gallery.

Rebel Agitation Continues in Angola

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Rebel activity has sharply increased in Angola, Portugal's richest African territory, with a three-pronged attack on its borders The calm, which set in after Portugal quashed the rebellion of 1961, has been broken by the sound of mortars on the Zambian frontier, the chatter of machine guns in the northern enclave of Cabinda and by more frequent ambushes in the unruly north.

Maylasian Town of Klang Should Have a Scarecrow

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Residents of the picturesque town of Klang have a problem — crows — some 300,000 of them, by estimate.

A visitor can see them perched ready to swoop, on trees, walls and even on the gold-domed palace of the sultan. The old bust of King George V at Klang Park is barely identifiable

Hardest hit are the open air markets "They dart down in swarms and steal anything before you can say shoo," one ll keepers complained.

Housewives have had items snatched out of their hands.

An expert at the Institute of Medical Research here said "There are two crows to every resident and they are so used to human environment that they have developed a certain cunning."

A municipal law says shooting below eye level is unlawful and it seems somebody told the crows. The sight of a gun brings them quickly to the ground.

The game warden has offered a reward of 30 cents per dead crow So far this year only $6 has been paid.

Narcotics, LSD, Coffin Found in Author's Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Using the password "voodoo," police gained entrance Monday night to a 12-room penthouse where they reported finding a six-foot coffin that the apartment occupant allegedly used "to lie down in and take a trip to an unknown world" after taking the hallucinogenic chemical LSD.

Police said they found 20 pounds of marijuana and varying quantities of hashish. LSD and heroin valued at $20,000 in the apartment of Harvey Backer, 28. Backer was quoted as saying he was an author who did well enough to pay $450 a month for the apartment.

Backer and the coffin were taken to police headquarters

Police said they earlier seized Peter Thompson, 30, leaving Backer's building with a quantity of marijuana.

Backer and Thompson were charged with possessing narcotics with the intent to sell.

Attorney Faces Contempt Charge In Bribe Hearing

MADISON (AP)— A Milwaukee banker's failure to appear in court to answer a bribery indictment has triggered contempt proceedings against his attorney.

Norman C. Skogstad, a leading Milwaukee attorney, was named by Circuit Judge Edwin M. Wilkie in a written order to appear Wednesday "to answer to whether or not he is in willful and contumacious contempt of court ."

Wilkie reset the bribery arraignment of banker Howard J. Meister for the same hour — 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Meiseer had been under cour instructions to enter a plea Monday to an indictment charging him with directing a lobbyist to offer money to a state assemblyman in an attempt to influence a vote on a branch banking bill last year.

Analysts Eye Trends, War, Backlash in Vote

with the Republicans on such issues. Thus a relatively small shift of nominal party strength could upset actual control.

Effect on parties — Results might give a big boost to several Republicans prominently mentioned as presidential possibilities for 1968, including Govs. George Romney of Michigan and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, gubernatorial nominee Ronald Reagan in California and senatorial candidate Charles H. Percy in Illinois. Big GOP congressional gains might help Richard M. Nixon, the party's chief campaigner.

Vice President Hubert H Humphrey's national prestige may be affected by whether Democrat Karl F. Rolvaag is re-elected governor of Minnesota. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy could receive a boost if fellow Democrat Frank D. O'Connor defeats Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in New York.

A big victory for Mrs. George C. Wallace as Alabama governor would increase the prospect that her husband will make a third- party presidential bid in 1968, as would victories by such anti- Johnson Democratic gubernatorial candidates as Jim Johnson in Arkansas and Lester C. Maddox in Georgia.

Backlash Vote

White backlash — The White backlash, a term used to denote adverse white reaction to racial violence, could influence several races. In Maryland, Democrat George P. Mahoney's gubernatorial primary victory was attributed to his anti-open housing stand. His views have been attacked as racist and extremist by his Republican opponent, Spiro T. Agnew, Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California has accused his Republican opponent, Reagan, of appealing to backlash sentiment. In Massachusetts, the effort by Republican Edward R. Brooke to become the first Negro senator since Reconstruction may be determined by whether a significant backlash exists.

Viet Nam — While Viet Nam has faded as a major national issue, it has been widely discussed in several campaigns. In Oregon, Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield claims the war is no longer an issue in his senatorial bid. But his opponent, Democratic Rep. Robert B Duncan, disagrees and would undoubtedly point to a victory as a vote of confidence in President Johnson's policies. In New Hampshire, Republican Harrison R. Thyng has based his campaign against Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre on a demand for a quick end to the war by bombing of North Viet Nam.

Migrant Leader To Answer Fund Misuse Charge

Salas Claims Count 'Totally Spurious,' No Formal Complaint

WAUTOMA — Complaints against Jesus Salas saying funds contributed to help migrant workers were misused today were called "totally spurious" by the 22-year-old leader of migrants in Waushara County.

"I will formally answer the charges Wednesday night," Salas said. He is scheduled to speak to students of Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Salas is a student at the university.

The alleged complaints were mentioned Monday by Waushara County Dist. Atty. Howard Dutcher who said he is beginning an investigation into misuse of the money.

Lead Migrants'

The complaints, Dutcher said, are against Salas who led a migrant march to Madison last summer and a strike against an Almond potato firm in October.

Dutcher said the complaints were brought to his attention after a series of debates conducted by Salas in the state.

There have been no written charges filed and Dutcher did not indicate today if any formal complaints would be lodged. Dutcher said he had no proof of the allegations and added that no charges would be placed "unless justified by a complete investigation."

"This is kind of a nebulous thing," he said today. "We're getting into this thing because people were wondering what was happening to his money."

A number of groups made contributions to aid migrants during their October strike against an Almond potato processing and packaging firm.

The district attorney said he felt the complaints have been "blown entirely out of proportion."

He said he planned to meet with Salas sometime today to discuss the matter.

Woman Awarded $1.2 Million in Drug Damages

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A State Supreme Court jury awarded a 31-year-old woman $1.2 million for injuries suffered in using an anticholesterol drug.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated about four hours Monday before making the award to Mrs. Edward Opotowitz.

During the five-week trial, she said the drug, MER29, caused her hair to fall out, resulted in a skin condition, and caused eye cataracts which required two operations to correct. She still has no peripheral vision, she said.

The jury awarded the woman and $350,000 in compensatory damages and $850,000 punitive damages.

Chemist Tells Of Following Trail of Blood

Testifies Today In Cleveland Trial Of Dr. Sheppard

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A police chemist testified at the Samuel H. Sheppard murder retrial today how he traced blood spots down the stairway from the bedroom where Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, was hacked to death 12 years ago.

Henry Dombrowski, a veteran of 20 years with the Cleveland Police Department's scientific investigation unit, said he found 26 blood spots on the stairs to the second floor of the Sheppards' lakefront home in Bay Village.

The spots continued in two trails leading from the stairs — one to the front room, the other to the kitchen, Dombrowski testified. He said there also were blood spots on the basement stairs, and at least one of them tested out as human blood.

Dombrowski followed brief testimony by Lt. Jerome Poelking, a veteran of 18 years with the Cleveland police scientific investigation unit. Poelking worked with Dombrowski in checking the Sheppard home July 23 and again on July 26, 1954.

Poelking said he found a print of Sheppard's left thumb on the headboard of the bed where the murder victim was found and other smudges which matched up with where the fingers would have been.

UW Drafts System For Okaying Student Off-Campus Housing

MADISON (AP)— Methods of inspecting and certifying off-campus housing for University of Wisconsin students have been approved by the faculty in the wake of student demonstrations against alleged landlord abuses.

The faculty, at its November meeting Monday, authorized the Student Housing office to put the system into practice next fall.

The office will draw up a zone surrounding the campus and inspect all student housing units in it. About 70 per cent of the students living off campus reside in the proposed zone on Madison's near west side.

Students staged a tent - in on the university mall last month to protest what they charged were high rents, poor upkeep and unsanitary conditions in some off - campus rooming houses.

Kenosha County Land Involved

Four Men File $2.7 Million Suit on Charge Law Is Unconstitutional

MADISON (AP) — Four men have filed a $2.7 million claim against the state charging that a 1965 law violated their right to develop a community on a portion of the abandoned Bong Air Force Base.

The plaintiffs, filing the action Monday in Circuit Court, said the law under which the Kenosha County tract was turned over to the State Conservation Commission is unconstitutional.

The complaint concerns a 977-acre portion surrounded by nearly 2,000 acres of land acquired by the commission earlier this year. The commission is negotiating with the government for the remaining parcel.

Norman C. Herro of Madison, a trustee for the group which had planned the development, asked that the commission be restrained "from trespassing and exercising any dominion whatever over the 977 acres of industrial and airport land" at the former base.

Wildlife Purposes

The law authorized the commission to acquire the land from the government for wildlife and recreation purposes.

Herro said his group has obtained contracts and other pacts giving it the right to purchase the land.

The commission's acquisition of the 977-acre parcel "without full and adequate compensation to plaintiff for the taking of his contractual and property rights . . . would constitute an unconstitutional taking of private property without just compensation and due process of law," the complaint told the court.

Made Agreements

Herro said his group had made agreements with Wisconsin Federal Surplus Property Development Corp. and the Wisconsin Federal Surplus Property Commission prior to enactment of the 1965 law. Both agencies were named as defendants.

The base was virtually abandoned in 1959 before it was built, and the state had considered the tract for industrial development.

The conservation commission now proposes a 4,500-acre recreation development.

Most of the base is overgrown with weeds. Portions of it, including the area sought by the Herro group, has been planted in wheat and corn.

Chief Deputy Proposal to Go to Board

Outagamie County supervisors will be asked Thursday morning again to vote on a proposal calling for replacement of the undersheriff by a chief deputy.

Supv. Arthur Hoolihan, Appleton, asked Monday for a special order of business to present the resolution. At first Hoolihan, long a proponent of the chief deputy plan, hesitated to reveal the nature of the speical order of business. Several supervisors said they wanted to know.

A resolution calling for abolishing the post of undersheriff was filed with the county clerk's office late last week. There were no signatures on the resolution.

A chief deputy would begin work Jan. 1. He would be appointed by the executive committee, subject to county board approval, following state bureau of personnel competitive testing.

Similar resolutions have met with defeat twice this year and several times in past years.

$225 Bonds Set For 2 Drivers

Men from Appleton and Green Bay today pleaded innocent of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and bonds were set at $225 in Outagamie County Court.

Archie L. Stigney, 35, 1710 N. McDonald St., Appleton, was arrested by county police last Friday on County Trunk BB at U. S. 41. His trial was set for Apr. 27, 1967.

Trial of Paul S. Cornelius, 342 E. Beaupre Ave., Green Bay, was set for May 1, 1967. Cornelius was arrested Aug. 30, while driving on State 55 in the Town of Oneida.

Berlin Stand Removal Spite Order, Dad Says

BERLIN — After operating four years in the same location a popcorn wagon has been declared a traffic hazard and ordered by city officials to vacate its Main Street site.

The order came just one hour after a Circuit Court decision reinstating Police Chief Germaine Beck was made public. The ruling reversed the findings of the police and fire commission.

The four children of Charles Wildermuth, a Berlin attorney who acted as Beck's counsel prior to the hearings, own the stand.

In an open letter to the mayor and city council Wildermuth implied that the reversed decision had something to do with order listing the stand as a traffic hazard.

Found Wanting

In his letter Wildermuth said "Your action (the council's) has been examined by the court system and has been found wanting. I trust that you will take great pride and satisfaction in having beat down four kids, who, unlike you, believe in the American system of law and order."

He was referring to the charges brought against Chief Beck bringing about his suspension. Circuit Judge Jerold E. Murphy called the hearings "an attempt to get Chief Beck rather than a fair and impartial hearing."

The origin of the order to remove the popcorn stand remains a mystery. There is no record of it at the police department and Thomas Lehman, city clerk, said the council did not order it and he did not know who did.

Oliver Disotell, police and fire commission secretary, said it was not the job of the commission to make such decisions.

Ald. Richard Doro, Fourth Ward, and public works committee chairman, could not be reached for comment.

Never Contacted

Wildermuth said he had never been contacted by the city concerning the popcorn wagon. Two aldermen called him early Monday to tell him that they had no knowledge of the action and they did not approve it.

Although Wildermuth appeared at a commission meeting last week and vowed that he would not remove the wagon except by court order, his children decided to move the wagon off the street Sunday.

Harold Viertel, owner of the service station where the stand had been placed, said this was the first time he had directly heard of any complaints about it being a traffic hazard.

"About one year ago," he said, "a public works employe had told him a letter complained that Viertel had not plowed the snow from the sidewalk in front of the station and also mentioned the popcorn stand."

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

No. Some people are actually afraid of close, intimate relationships, in marriage or anywhere else. One reason why some men work so hard is to give themselves an excuse for staying away from their families. The solution is not to condemn or scold them, but to help them learn to enjoy companionship of the spouse. If this "companionship" is lacking in your own marriage, why not start improving the situation?

Some families thrive on moving!

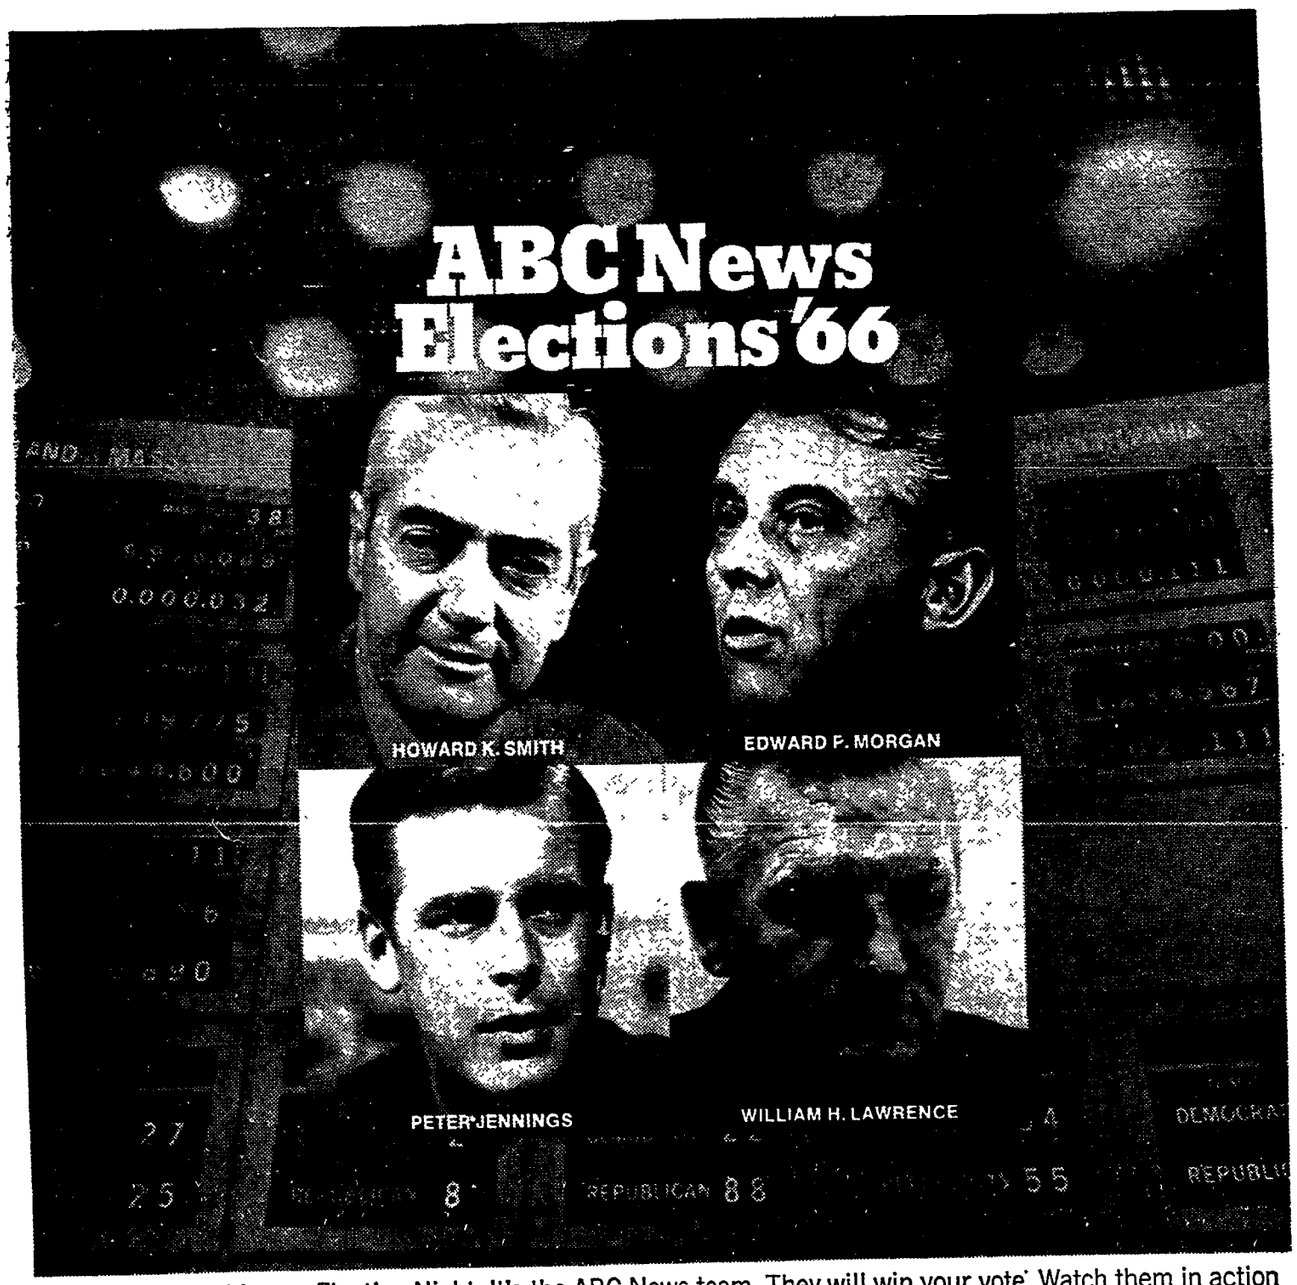

True —— False ——

True. Alvin L. Schorr finds that some people thrive on moving. They say they fell like pioneers when they move from one place to another. They learn to adapt to a new community and to make up in their families what they miss by not having roots in a particular place. Dr. Schorr concludes that we may be evolving a new kind of family geared to nomadic life. How do you feel about moving?

Your Money's Worth

How to Apply Stock Gains, Losses to Taxes

BY SYLVIA PORTER
(In Collaboration with the Research Institute of America)

Millions of us have capital losses on our stocks and bonds as a result of this year's breaks in both markets. Today's column will show how these losses affect your tax bill and how to handle any profits you may have made.

First, add up all your profits on 1966 sales of securities, then add up all your losses. If your total losses are bigger than your total profits, you have a net capital loss for 1966. You can deduct up to $1,000 of this net capital loss from your ordinary income, regardless of whether you use the standard deduction or itemize your deductions. If your net capital loss on 1966 securities sales is more than $1,000, you can carry over the excess and use it as part of your capital losses in 1967 and later years.

Say that in 1966, you sold one stock at a $500 profit and another at a $2,000 loss — a $1,500 net loss. Your other 1966 income, consisting of salary, dividends, interest, etc., comes to $12,000. You will deduct $1,000 of your 1966 loss from the $12,000 (even though you also take a 10 per cent standard deduction of $1,000) and use the other $500 as a capital loss carryover on your 1967 return.

If your 1966 net capital loss had been only $500 instead of $1,500, you would have deducted the $500 from your $12,000 of other income and would have no carryover.

If you are fortunate enough to show a net capital gain from all your 1966 sales of securities, the first thing to do is to divide all your gains and losses into the two major classifications: Short-term and long-term. If you sell your securities within six months after your purchase, your gain or loss is short-term. If you hold them more than six months before selling, your gain or loss is long-term. Net short-term gains are taxed just as your regular salary income is, while net long-term gains are taxed at only half that amount (or even less than half if your tax bracket is over 50 per cent).

With this basic distinction in mind, get a net figure for each group of your sales — short-term and long-term. When you have this net, subtract any net long-term loss from any net short-term gain you have. Or if you have a net short-term loss, subtract that from any net log-term gain.

Long, Short Gains

If your 1966 securities sales produce a net short-term gain, that net is added to your income and taxed at regular rates for ordinary income. If you wind up with a net long-term gain, you take into your income only half the gain before applying your regular tax rates. And if your tax bracket is over 50 per cent, the tax on that half of the long-term gain you take into your income can't be at a rate over 50 per cent. If you close the year with both short and long-term gains, you treat each gain separately, as just explained

Having now checked how these rules will affect you, your next step is to look at the securities you still hold to determine whether any paper losses you have might be turned into actual losses before year-end The two reasons you might want to sell and take actual losses are these losses will cut your tax bill if as of now you have a net capital gain on sales: and you can deduct from your ordinary income up to $1,000 of net capital losses in excess of capital gains for the year.

You might consider taking far more losses this year than you possibly can use this year because of your right to carry over unused capital losses for as many years as you can continue to use them up against capital gain and against ordinary income up to $1,000 a year when your losses exceed the year's gains.

Tomorrow: Switching securities.

Election Coverage on All 3 Networks Tonight

Ballot Box Results Pre-empt Television Shows; Count-Along, Other Gimmicks

BY JINGO

Results of today's elections will pre-empt the entire night-time schedules of all three networks.

The coverage on WLUK-TV, Channel 11, will begin at 6:30 p.m., WBAY-TV, Channel 2, is slated to start at 6:30 p.m., and WFRV-TV, Channel 5, will initiate its special programming at 6 p.m.

Jingo

All three affiliates will depend on the networks for national coverage, but each will offer viewers a picture of state and area returns at regular intervals. Channel 11 will break from the network at 25 minutes past and 10 minutes before each hour. Channel 2 will originate a local telecast seven minutes each half hour and Channel 5 will offer its own programming five minutes before each half-hour.

Network Competition

As is the case in special coverage of elections, the networks compete by trying to lure viewers with special gimmicks.

CBS has the most extravagant claims this time. The net says that viewers will not only count the vote along with CBS News, but they will, for the first time, be able to determine the winners for themselves and will have a complete visual story to go with the reportage, including a picture of how the next Congress will vote on major issues.

ABC News will blanket the nation electronically to provide viewers with the complete, up-to-the-moment live coverage of major gubernatorial and congressional races. Throughout the night, ABC will feature live video and audio reports from correspondents at a record 26 remote locations in 12 states and the District of Columbia.

Wide Coverage

NBC will offer 15 correspondents in six states where political contests will be covered. Newmen will be with the candidates in the New York, Massachusetts, Alabama, Georgia and California governorship races and in the Massachussetts and Illinois Senate competition.

ABC plans a special bulletin alarm signal" that will be sounded whenever the computer is ready to declare a winner in a given race.

Also scheduled is a new electronic device called Divcon, which, ABC says, will add a new dimension to election night graphics. The device is capable of creating instantaneous bar charts, symbols, simple maps and horizontal crawls that are fed by computer or teletype directly onto the TV screen.

Various new ideas

Among CBS' innovations will be:

— The "Victorygraph," a system of conveying vote profile analysis from computers to screen, instantly.

— "Election-Graph" will enable viewers to tell at a glance how various candidates for Governor and Senator are faring compared to past contests and other candidates in their states.

— "Issues-Graph," a similar device to estimate the voting lineup of the 90th Congress.

Instant Display

— "Instant Display", an on-line computer mated with an electronic message display system which will make urgent election information available instantly by "writing" on the TV screen.

And on and on go the claims by the various networks. The only certain aspect is that these elections will be covered more exhaustively than even the 1964 Presidential results.

Peter Jennings will anchor the ABC team, Walter Cronkite will head the CBS unit and Chet Huntley and David Brinkley pair to lead the NBC staff.

Complete Election Coverage

6:30 — Conclusion (Channels 11-6-9) — Election Night will involve continuous live coverage on the races for Congress and governorships throughout the country. Howard K. Smith will spearhead the anchor-team. Working with him will be Edward P. Morgan, Peter Jennings and ABC news political editor and White House correspondent William H. Lawrence.

The network plans to project the results of Senate, House and gubernatorial races as votes are reported from ABC News' special network of 3,000 "key precincts" in the 50 states.

New this year is a "brains trust," employing John F. Kraft, ABC news political analyst, and Lawrence as its heads. Working with political scientists, analysts and educators, they will reflect on RSVP computer compilations and actual vote counts to project the outcome of the elections.

6:30 — Conclusion (Channels 2-7-12) — CBS will again count heavily on its Vote Profile Analysis to help viewers speculate on the results of Election Night. Walter Cronkite will head a team of 14 correspondents including regional bureau chiefs: Joseph Benti (East), Bill Stout (West), Nelson Benton (Midwest) and John Hart (South).

Other CBS Reporters: Harry Reasoner, House Desk; Roger Mudd, Senate Desk; Mike Wallace, Governors Desk; and Eric Sevareid, Analysis Desk.

Besides using VPA to project the outcome of the races, the network will also use an "Election-Graph" which should enable the armchair analyst to predict not only the outcome of major races, but the vote-spread between candidates. Viewers will see how the candidate is running compared to the last time the office was contested and compared to the tide of the 1964 Presidential returns in that particular state.

6 — Conclusion (Channels 4-5) — Anchormen Chet Huntley and David Brinkley also will use computers and electronic graphs to report and project the outcome of Election Night.

NCB's computer is called Electronic Vote Analysis — EVA, for short — which will not only tell who's going to win a race, but why, and what effect a candidate's victory (or defeat) will have on the political life of the nation.

DIVCON is the name of the electronic device the network will use to give visual graphs quickly, words and figures which will illustrate the background of major races. In the geographic analysis, for instance, figures can be flashed on maps to indicate how balloting is going.

Xavier Concert Offers Music Of Bach, Beatles, Persichetti

BY GERALD JENSEN

The Xavier High School band and chorus offered their first concert of the school-year to a most appreciative audience, which nearly filled the gym, Saturday.

Much enthusiasm and good vocal training was displayed by the chorus, under the direction of Zi Hyung Sa, which opened the evening performance with religious numbers, followed by popular songs.

Equally as enthusiastic was the prep band, under the direction of Francis Scholtz, followed by the concert band, each playing three numbers. Highlighting the concert band presentation was a trumpet solo by Bruce Jensen.

The Xavier stage band played a delightful selection from the Beatles repertoire and the Wind ensemble brought up the rear with a refreshing good rendition of Bach.

The wind ensemble followed Bach with Persichetti's "Pageant," which has been chosen as the number to be played in the National Catholic Music Educators Association tape contest.

The curtain came down with a few words of praise by Greg Coenen, a student, for the county and city policemen, who were honored at the concert.

Scholtz and Zi Hyung Sa seemed to bring out the best in all the youngsters and is was another in the many fine musical performances Xavier musical groups present during the year.

'Pony Express' Pouches! Attached to Your Wagon

BY CAPPY DICK

A belt of pouches to be attached to the sides of a coaster wagon is today's fun-project for handy young readers The pouches (I call them "Pony Express" pouches) can hold toys, candy, lunch, tools, curious rocks and items you might otherwise carry in your pockets.

Use a Strong Rope

The pouches are made of cloth. Each has two slits in its back so it can be hung on a piece of rope as shown in Figure 1 The fabric should be tough and strong. Get Mother to sew the pouches on her sewing machine. Different colors of cloth may be used, if you wish

The rope should be long enough to go all the way around the body of the coaster wagon, with enough left to tie in a tight bow knot. There probably will be space for five of the pouches on each side of the wagon (Figure 2). Several more could be added to go across the ends as well.

The use of these pouches will increase the load capacity of your wagon because even when the pouches have been filled, the wagon box is still empty and can be filled with its normal load

Marine Corps 191st Anniversary Celebrated

The Fox River Detachment of the Marine Corps League celebrated the 191st anniversary of the U.S. Marine Corps at a dance Saturday evening at the Appleton Club. Observing its motto, "Once a Marine, Always a Marine," former and present members of the Corps attended the event with wives and guests.

The traditional cake cutting ceremony was carried out during the evening.

Also part of the League's program this fall is the sending of gifts to Marines in Viet Nam. Businessmen and individuals from the area have donated games, personal items and stationary to send to the men. Those wishing to contribute may contact members of the League or the Auxiliary.

The Marine Corps' 191st birthday anniversary was celebrated by both members of the Corps and former members and friends. Talking at the snack table at the Appleton Club Saturday evening are Mr. and Mrs. Harold McGregor and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zimmer. A retired Marine, Mr. Zimmer is commandant of the League. At left are Miss Donna Menning and Sgt. Robert Everson.

She Keeps Public Posted About the Safe Use of Drugs

Miss Robinson Speaker at Area Meetings This Week

Laws concerning drugs and narcotics have changed as drugs themselves have become more numerous and more powerful.

"Stop, Look and Listen" is the title Miss Margurite Robinson of the Food and Drug Administration has chosen for three programs to be presented in the area this week. She will speak at 8 p.m. today at Seymour High School; and at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Kaukauna High School. She opened the series of talks, sponsored by the Outagamie County Extension Service, Monday evening at Hortonville High School. The sessions are open to the public.

LSD Not Safe

LSD 25, illegal throughout the U.S., has not been recognized as safe or effective for any purpose, Miss Robinson said in a Monday afternoon interview. The drug has been around for about 20 years, and about 2,000 papers have been written about it. Claims that people taking it are able to create the masterpieces their conscious minds are unable to accomplish have been completedly unfounded, Miss Robinson said. The drug does present many dangers, however, such as giving users the courage to perform tasks their undrugged minds would know to be foolhardy. Death and crime have resulted from its use. The only legal way it may now be taken is for research purposes.

Self-Protection

Miss Robinson's work with FDA is largely educational. She serves as liaison between Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, and the consumer public. Her work, she says, is really life saving. Sometimes it involves protecting people from themselves — from their own ignorance about the dangers of abusing drug use, or from those who would exploit them, or mistakenly try to help.

The original 1937 Pure Food and Drug Act stated only that it was illegal to ship in interstate commerce drugs that were adulterated or mislabeled. It took tragedies to bring amendments concerning more specific offenses, she says. Such events first made it mandatory for drug manufacturers to prove all new drugs safe for humans before marketing. The 1962 Thalidomide incident brought about the law stating manufacturers must prove drugs both safe and effective for humans, outlining testing procedures which must be completed by the manufacturer.

Habit-Forming

Miss Robinson says that many of the problems arising from the use of drugs involve their side effects. All drugs have them, she says, defining side effects as results not desired for therapeutic reasons. Barbiturates can be as addicting as narcotics, she says. So can appetite depressants. Drugs used improperly can cause hallucinations and blackouts. Good drugs when properly used can, taken improperly, give teens or criminals the stimulus to perform acts they would not normally do.

Many of the complaints which come to her office concern allergic reactions. There is no such thing, Miss Robinson says, as a compound to which absolutely no one will have an allergic reaction. Much of the problem arises because people do not read and follow directions. They assume that because a little of a drug is good, more is bound to be better.

Withdrawal Of Foods

While much of her concern is with the use and abuse of drugs, Miss Robinson's job is also involved with food. She talked about the removal of foods from the market when their purity is questionable, and said that the fact it is done should give the customer more, not less, confidence both in the firm that markets the food and in the government.

She tells ho wthe Feod and Drug Administration does market basket investigations across the country. A person shops for a variety of foods, just as he would for a family. The food is then sent to Washington where it is prepared as it would be in a home, in amounts considered average for a 16 to 19-year-old boy. The food is then analyzed for fallout, and for the presence of pesticides or other harmful additives for which tolerances have been established. An analysis for nutritive values is also made. If the food meets the recommended daily allowances for a boy this age it is considered adequate and a person should not need food supplements unless recommended by a doctor.

Out of Reach

Miss Robinson warns that it is never a good idea to take drugs during the night without getting up and turning on a light. She warns also against leaving drugs where children can reach them easily, citing aspirin as the leading child-killer, with birth control pills rising to second place.

Some of the misuse of drugs is simply lack of knowledge. The mixing of alcohol and barbiturates has only recently been recognized as potentially lethal. The average citizen, asking a pharmacist to refill a prescription, may not realize he is asking the druggest to break the law, and that the law was enacted for his own protection.

Can Make Errors

Miss Robinson says that drug firms do a commendable job of maintaining excellence. Plant control to prevent contamination and the mixing of drugs is at the highest level, but, human beings being human, mistakes can be made and drugs recalled. Whether this happens in the food or drug industry, it is often accomplished without fanfare. When it is known the industry suffers in its public image even though the danger is past.

Her role as spokesman for the FDA is one Miss Robinson undertook after a career that included teaching aviation to both American and Brazilian soldiers during WW II. She was graduated from college with majors in education and home economics and took her master's degree in nutrition. After the war she worked for the American Institute of Baking, and then had the opportunity to build a new department in the FDA.

In her work about half of her time is spent away from her Chicago office. Her 'territory' is northern Illinois and the eastern third of Wisconsin.

Miss Robinson will discuss the safe and effective use of drugs in her area programs, with a question and answer period at the close of each.

Grace Circle Plans Rummage Sale

KAUKAUNA — The Grace Circle of the King's Daughters will sponsor a sale of rosettes, a Scandinavian pastry, at the election polls today. Mrs. Donald Green has charge of the project.

The group also plans a rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday at 205 Crooks Avenue. Knick-knacks and clothing for babies, children and adults will be available.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Bruce Carlson and Mrs. Walter Weihmuller.

Proceeds from the projects will be used for service work in the city.

Fanciful Approach

Frozen mixed vegetables make an excellent salad to serve with fish. Cook and drain the vegetables, then mix with French dressing, thin strips of onion and celery seeds. Chill and serve on lettuce.

Kitchen Convenience Involves Work Area and Equipment

Taking advantage of modern design innovations, the woman and her kitchen need not be at odds with each other.

To provide the first step to a properly designed kitchen, a window view accessible from the work area is a must. With a window and a view, the kitchen takes on a bright and cheerful atmosphere as the activities of the outside world are enjoyed while food is being prepared.

Insulating Glass

Windows with Thermopane insulating glass are excellent choice for use in kitchens where water vapor coming from cooking food may cause condensation problems on regular windows during cooler months.

When storage space and electrical outlets are designed near work areas, unnecessary motion is eliminated, thus reducing preparation time and fatigue. If adequate counter space is coordinated with the outlets, there is the further advantage of having space on which to place labor saving appliances.

Design Improvements

As new products are introduced, improvements in design increase. Such improvements include materials for counter tops which are moulded to fit the contour of the counter, thus eliminating sharp, tearing edges. If extended to the bottom of built-in cupboards, these moulded sheets form a continuous surface which is easily cleaned, heat resisting and prevents food and utencils from dropping out of reach.

Flexible Work Space

Double sinks with stain resisting surfaces and separate drains in each section help to reduce the time needed to prepare a meal by providing flexibility of available work space.

A garbage disposal is an additional time saver and reduces the messy work.

Placing a light fixture over the sink helps reduce shadows on cloudy days. And when the fixture is made of metal matching the hardware on cupboards and drawers, a touch of continuity is added. The decor of the kitchen can be further enhanced if wood sash is chosen for the windows and draperies are color coordinated with the colors used on the walls.

Economics Can Help In Bridge

When you run short of money, stop spending. This sample principle of old-fashioned economics was the basis of a fine play made by Eddy Kantar, Los Angeles expert scheduled to compete in Pittsburgh Nov. 9-18 for a berth on the 1967 North American bridge team.

Kantar played a low club from dummy at the first trick and won with the king of clubs. He then drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king.

When the jack fell, Kantar switched to spades, taking the ace and king and ruffing a spade with the ten. Now he could lead the deuce of hearts to dummy's nine to lead a fourth spade.

When East played the queen of spades, Kantar tightened his belt, following the lessons he had learned at college in his first course in economics. Instead of ruffing with his last trump he discarded the three of clubs (They teach them the right thing at college these days.)

Now East could not defeat the contract. If he returned a diamond, the best defense, West would take the ace of diamonds and return the ten of clubs Kantar would ruff with his last trump and reach dummy with the king of diamonds to cash the last spade as his 10th trick

Kantar would lose his contract if he ruffed the fourth round of spades with his last trump. He would next lead a diamond, hoping to get dummy's king of diamonds and the last spade. West would take the ace of diamonds and lead the ten of clubs, whereupon East would take four club tricks, limiting South to eight tricks.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S A K 4 3 2, H 9 6 5; D K 10, C Q 7 6. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. You have 12 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, enough for an optional opening bid. You can afford to exercise your option because you have good high-card structure (2½ quick tricks) and a good five-card major suit.

Ann Says It's Poor Business To Give Teens Cool Treatment

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am just one teen-ager out of millions who is sick and tired of being treated like scum whenever I go to a restaurant.

Yesterday three of us girls (all 15) decided to treat ourselves to a nice lunch. We went to a well-known eating place and just as we were seating ourselves at a table a loud voice yelled, "Sit at the counter." The restaurant was not crowded We had come in for lunch, not just a soft drink, so we ignored the order and stayed at the table.

When our waitress appeared she acted like she was doing us a favor by taking our order. We waited 30 minutes before our lunch arrived. The hamburgers were almost raw, the French fries were soggy and burned. We couldn't eat much but we didn't complain. Fifteen minutes later the waitress came over and slammed the check on the table We decided to tip her what she was worth — one cent each

When the waitress saw the tip she grabbed my girl friend by the arm and said, "You need this more than I do," and threw the pennies in her face.

We feel the waitress was out of line and that we did nothing wrong. What is your opinion? — Persecuted Teens

Dear Teens: You girls should not have left the three pennies. If the service was as poor as you described it, no tip would have been the best way to let her know it.

The waitress was indeed out of line. To throw a tip at a customer is inexcusable, regardless of the circumstances.

Teen-agers who conduct themselves like ladies and gentlemen and are treated shabbily in restaurants and stores should take their 12 billion dollars a year in spending money elsewhere. (You heard me, folks.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Do you think it is right for a working girl to lend money to her boy friend?

Harold is stationed in San Antonio. I live in Houston. We went steady for six months in high school and after graduation Harold went into the service and I went to work.

I live at home with my folks and pay a small amount for room and board. I have been saving money out of my salary every month and I want to continue to save for a wedding chest. Harold says he will come to visit me every weekend if I will send him the fare He has promised to pay me back later

Do you think this is a good idea? If so, why? If not, why not? — Willing But Uncertain

Dear W But U: I think it is a miserable idea.

If you make Harold a gift of the weekends (and make no mistake about it, the dough will never be returned) you'll inevitably destroy the incentive and the pleasure of the visits.

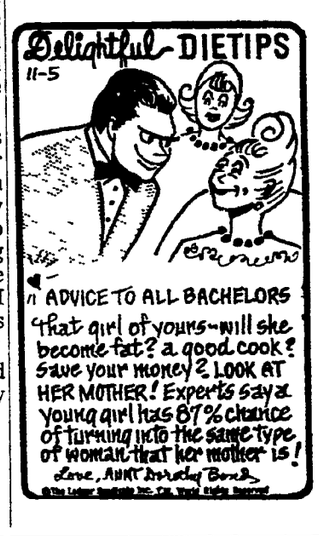

People appreciate what they work for. That which comes easy has little value. Harold sounds like a free-loader and you'd better believe it, Honey.

Juvenile Offenders Often Are Victims of Bad Circumstances

By DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: What's the psychology behind not printing a lawbreaker's name in the newspaper if the person is a juvenile offender? I'm not holding you responsible for the criminal code, but I figure you can tell me why we don't treat a teenage tough who has committed a felony or who has repeatedly committed many misdemeanors with kid gloves. Why shouldn't he have his name exposed to the public? I think we've mixed up who's the victim and who's the criminal—we act as if the tough were some kid who was the innocent victim of a crime. MRS. L. C.

The theory is that juvenile offenders are victims—victims of bad circumstances or wrong leadership, causing them to engage in criminal activities. They have no genuine control or choice concerning these forces, so society doesn't hold them fully responsible for the acts they commit under such pressures. Instead of punishment, the laws generally provide for rehabilitation and protection.

In some communities, recently, the policy of shielding juvenile offenders from publicity has been changed in hopes that the shame of being exposed to public scorn can influence offenders to mend their ways. There's no sound evidence that this is effective, however. The "cure" for criminality lies in helping each individual recognize he has a stake in our lawful society and he must respect the law to protect his future. Making a person feel he's apart from others obviously doesn't lead to this recognition, yet that's the result of most punishment, whether by scorning or by other means, That's why I deplore the return to the woodshed and the psychological ducking wheel.

DEAR DR. JONES: My 8-year-old daughter has overheard the words, "menstrual period," at home, and she wants to know what this means. At first, I told her she was too young to understand; but the more I think about it, the more I think she can understand if I can only find some material geared for her young age. All the books and pamphlets in the library are written for teenagers.

I don't want her to develop the wrong ideas about becoming an adult woman, and I don't want to worry her about this right now. So I need special help in deciding exactly how to tell her what this all means. MRS. J. J.

If you yourself show no neurotic reactions to menstruating or to other aspects of being an adult woman, your daughter isn't likely to suffer such problems even if you aren't especially careful about the words you use to explain your monthly bleeding to her. Tell her you have decided you were wrong to answer her the way you did — anyone old enough to ask a question is old enough to understand a simple answer. Then tell her that women bleed vaginally for a few days each month, in connection with being able to have babies, and it doesn't hurt and it doesn't cause any illness. Tell her you're sorry if she has been mistakenly shocked or frightened about it. Unless you have failed to give her adequate pre-school instruction about the differences between men and women and between adults and children and about how babies are made, this explanation should satisfy her curiosity.

Charity Circle of The King's Daughters will again sponsor a puppet show for the benefit of its retarded children project. The program, scheduled Saturday at Madison Junior High School, will be presented in two performances. The first will begin at 1:30 p.m. and the second at 3 p.m. Above, children of Circle members, watched hand puppets at the Appleton Public Library as their mothers completed arrangements for the visit by the Peeko Puppeteers. At right is a scene from "The French Fantasy," one of the plays to be presented Saturday.

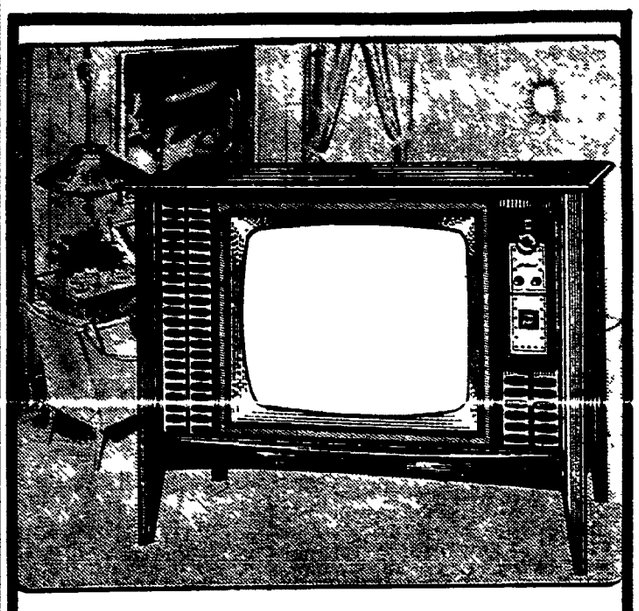

Puppets to Perform Saturday

A year ago the Charity Circle of The King's Daughters brought the Peeko Puppets of Chicago to Appleton for a charity performance. Saturday, the Circle will repeat the visit, with the exception that last year's marionettes will be replaced by hand puppets. Four stories will be presented in each of two separate performances.

The shows are scheduled at 1:30 and 3 p.m. at Madison Junior High School Auditorium. Proceeds are slated for the Circle's support of the retarded children 's program.

Plays to be given are "If You Had a Wish," the story or an unhappy monkey who finds contentment when he realizes "the grass on the other side of the fence isn't always greener"; "Animal Talk," concerning an elf named Elfred who decides to become an animal doctor; "French Fantasy," a story of a poor but kind old couple who befriend a hungry stranger and are miraculously rewarded, and "The Three Bears," in a new version to be enjoyed by adults as well as children.

Rumors of Rift Plague Beatles

LONDON (AP) — Amid reports that the Beatles may be breaking up, a spokesman for the mop-topped singing group said today they have no plans to appear together in the near future

Brian Epstein, the quartet's manager, last week turned down an invitation for them to appear in a special television program for the benefit of residents of the Welsh village of Aberfan, where more than 140 persons were killed last month by an avalanche of coal mine waste.

In the past year they have struck out more and more on their own

John Lennon, 26, has been making a movie in Spain and Germany for which his hair was cropped.

George Harrison, 23, has grown a mustache and is learning to play the sitar, an Indian stringed instrument

Ringo Starr, 26, has just returned from a holiday abroad He has been trying his hand at solo compositions.

Paul McCartney, 24, has also grown a mustache and has been working on the score for a British film

Evening Sparkle

Sparkling is the word for evening fashions. Sleek dresses are a waterfall of paillettes and sequins Floats of lace and chiffon are traced with glittering threads and embroideries. The covering dress, high at the throat and sleeved, is bibbed and cuffed with jewels.

Like the firefly, brocade, lame, velvet, ottoman, satin and bodied crepe shed their own light on fashions with enormous simplicity and elegance In this group one finds bias crepe cocktail dresses. brocade dinner suits, and the sweeping evening dress.

So terrific in themselves, these fashions take quite a bit of wearing They could easily overshadow milady But not anyone we know! In our circle, a lovely is never outdone by a dress Her secret is summed up in these pointers·

—Select a dress that distills your personality Let a Dresden kind of girl or woman wear a siren kind of dress, and her unique appeal is lost Type-casting is as vital to the success of a dress as the flattery of its color line

—Be especially fussy about fit So small a misfit as an ill-adjusted shoulder strap spoils the set of a dress. It causes you to feel and look uncomfortable. too

—In this season of glitter, remember that overdoing can be your undoing Underplay the accessories for an elaborate dress Reserve the highly decorative for the dress that calls for elaboration.

—Above all, don't forget that graceful carriage is a superb accessory.

6 new sauces & gravies you make in minutes

Kraft's good cooks have artfully blended the very best makings into six sauces and gravies you'll be proud to call your own. You get homemade results every time without a lot of homework. For a starter, try Kraft Italian style spaghetti sauce, or nippy cheese sauce made from Kraft's own choice cheddar. It may taste like you spent hours coaxing out the special goodness, but it actually takes just minutes to make. With Kraft's new mixes, we say you'll turn out sauces and gravies every bit as good as homemade. But try them on your family. They may be even more complimentary.

Shoes, Soaking Bring Comfort

Advice from a practicing podiartrist to the ROTC applies to all who step out to martial music, take hikes, or climb mountains. Foot comfort, says this expert, depends on well-fitted shoes, clean socks (preferably woolen), and relaxing foot baths promptly after returning home.

Start with a two-minute soak in hot water to dilate the blood vessels, then plunge the feet into cold water to constrict the vessels. Repeat this cycle three times and finish with a brisk toweling. Half an hour in a comfortable chair, with bare feet elevated on a pillowed stool, should reduce any remaining swelling and fatigue.

Experienced marchers also recommend an all-over bath, with a liberal application of soap to remove perspiration, as an effective revitalizer.

Dust Arrangements

To banish dust easily when it settles on your dried arrangements, gently clean them with a small, soft brush. A watercolor or artist's brush will do nicely. Foliage, where dust shows more readily, may be wiped off with a slightly dampened cloth or brush.

Dr. Molner

has been bumped on its head. Why? Is this medical fact or an old wives' tale? — Mrs. J.M.

It is not exactly an O.W.T. since it has some foundation in fact — in a few cases, and when properly understood.

It isn't easy to give any nutshell rule to follow, but here is the basic danger: With a severe head injury, and let's emphasize "severe," there can be bleeding under the brain membrane — a subdural hematoma, to use its technical term.

This may not have an instantaneous effect. It usually will not, because the bleeding is gradual. Rather, it can produce a delayed somnolence. Or better, let's not call it somnolence or sleepiness, but call a spade a spade. It can cause coma, a state of unconsciousness which is quite different from sleep.

If a child goes into such a coma, he cannot be readily awakened. He requires immediate medical treatment.

So, you see, the notion of not letting the child go to sleep is not a treatment. It will not prevent damage from the injury. What it really amounts to is a test.

Let's say that a vigorously playing child gets a hard bump on the head. He cries. As the pain and fear subside and he calms down, it is not unnatural for him to go to sleep. If it is a natural sleep, it is good for him.

But if he has suffered a subdural hematoma, instead of going to sleep naturally, he may go into a coma. You can awaken him from sleep. You cannot awaken him from a coma.

So, you see, there's no point in preventing a child with a crack on the noggin from going to sleep — but if it's the kind of sleep from which you cannot wake him, that's an immediate danger signal.

After a hard bump on the head — a hard one — I recommend having a doctor take a look at the child. You must use your best judgment on that.

If the child falls asleep and then has convulsive movements, that is a highly suspicious sign — not the ordinary twitches of a child going to sleep, but convulsive movements. And if, then, you cannot rouse him, get medical help with all possible speed.

But don't keep a baby or small child awake just because he has had a bump on the head. I doubt if any youngster grows up without a few such bumps, and the skull is pretty strong.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is wrong with my left hand and wrist? I have suffered for months. I have been to three doctors. X-rays showed the bones to be all right. I went to another doctor who is a mechanotherapist. He put a small bone back in place, but now it is out of place again. When I turn my hand the bone protrudes and I have to be careful even lifting a dish. — Mrs. J.M.

I can't say I know what a mechanotherapist is and I wonder just what kind of "doctors" you went to. If X-rays "showed the bones to be all right," but somebody else "Put a small bone back in place," some of these people obviously were wrong.

My advice is to go to an orthopedist who is known to be reliable, and have him find and correct your real trouble. You can be directed to such a specialist by calling (or writing to) your County Medical Society.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that eating green peppers will prevent hardening of the arteries? — A.J.

No. Peppers are a good green vegetable but there isn't any food that will prevent hardening of the arteries.

Insurance Field Strengthened By New Rules

Director Cites New Laws, Policies as Contributing Factors

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON —Regulatory policy and regulatory laws in the field of insurance have been significantly improved and strengthened during the last year, the head of the state insurance department maintained today in a detailed report to the Association of Independent Insurance Agents of Wisconsin.

Robert D. Haase, insurance commissioner, listed a series of administrative actions and legislative enactments which he said are designed to prevent insurance company failures and discriminatory acts against insurance buyers. Haase took over the office about a year ago.

Chief Changes

Chief changes in state control have been rules against withdrawal of carriers from certain geographical districts, the elimination of management contracts in the operations of insurance companies, the doubling of capital and surplus requirements for new insurance companies, and the stiffening of financial reporting requirements of the insurance firms.

Haase also reported that the department is conducting an investigation of rate problems in the credit life insurance field "recognizing the unfairness to the public from the reverse competition resulting from high commissions paid to lending institutions."

Rate Discrimination

He said the department is on the alert against rate discrimination, and is spot checking policies issued because "rates are only as fair as they are actually used in practice."

Issues of insurance regulation were involved in the recent Wisconsin state-wide elections, although Haase did not refer to those incidents.

He said he sponsored a bill in the last legislature which would have abolished secret rate filings of companies, but that the measure was defeated in the assembly. Among new studies, he said, is one that will test the statistical soundness of classifications of insurance contracts written in the fire and casualty fields to provide assurances of their adequacy and fairness.

How to Help Underachiever — 8

Reluctant Student Needs New Plans

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D. University of Southern California.

Pity the reluctant underachiever.

His parents know that he is not even trying to work up to capacity — and so do his teachers. He is out of favor with all of them!

The counselor is no comfort to him; he says that tests show the student has plenty of ability that he is not using. But the student feels he IS working up to capacity and there is no use trying to do the impossible. He neither knows better methods of study nor how to use to better advantage what he does know.

In this situation counseling that is hurried, casual or trivial is of no help to the student. It merely adds to his discouragement.

It's no wonder that students often become reluctant even to hear still more suggestions for the improvement of their scholarship.

Before a student will listen to any plan he must, somehow, be made to realize that it is, indeed, an approach that he has not heard before. Let me illustrate with an actual case.

Jim was an underachieving high school junior out of favor with his teachers and his parents.

His parents had tried encouragement and, at times, restrictions in their attempts to inspire Jim to better scholarship. Jim's response was negative. His parents were at their wits end. At this point I was asked to help.

As Jim and his father came up the walk for their first appointment Jim lagged several steps behind. I heard his father say, "We are fortunate to get this appointment; Dr. Nason is a busy man and since it is costing me money you'd better listen to him!" I didn't catch Jim's reply but he had a sullen, stubborn look on his face. They entered my office and chose seats on opposite sides of the room.

Reports from school which his father handed me stated that Jim was making no effort. I realized that before any progress could be made Jim must be convinced not only that he could succeed in school but that the conflict at home could also be eliminated.

I started the conversation by reviewing case histories of high school students who had been in similar situations, and how, with well planned study and test-taking procedures, they had solved their problems.

I suggested to the father that from this point on Jim and I would be responsible for his success or failure in school. Since he and Jim's mother would not now be concerned with his frustration in school, home could again be a happy place for all concerned. The parents were to remove any restrictions that have been imposed because of Jim's low grades in school. Mr. K. gave his immediate approval and left Jim and me together to lay plans for our part of the program.

Jim was just getting started in trigonometry, and a test was to be given in three days. We set up a study plan for the mastery of the essentials of the subject. I explained that trigonometry, being an invention, the basic ideas must be learned so well that their recall takes no effort. They cannot be "reasoned out" at examination time.

To help fix these ideas in his mind, he was to work one or two problems of each type, starting at the beginning of the textbook. He was to practice writing ALL of the steps of each solution since this would give him time-advantage on the examination. (It is faster to write all the steps than to try to do some of them in his head).

Just before the test he was to make a last minute review of his list of problems.

Jim was to think, "What is the key in the way this question is asked that tells me HOW the problem is to be solved?" On entering the test he was to put his full attention on the first problem, deciding what kind of a problem it was then write out the solution neatly and completely.

He was to work rapidly enough to keep his mind completely centered on each problem in turn. Having completed the test he would go back and give his full attention to a search for errors in arithmetic.

On his next visit Jim reported a better than usual score on the math test. He was now ready and willing to continue the planning that would lead to his becoming a good all 'round student.

His reluctance had disappeared!!

Tomorrow: Discipline a must.)

School Board to Ask Finance Committee For Budget Hearing

Propose to Ease $296,000 Cut Imposed During Early Meeting

A letter requesting a meeting with the Appleton Council's finance committee to discuss a proposed $296,000 cut in the school budget, was approved by the board of education Monday.

It was also agreed a list of items, complete with footnotes, which may have to be deleted from the budget, depending on the amount the council will cut, will be submitted with the letter.

The list, basically the same the board and administration outlined at a special meeting Oct. 31, will differ only in that deletions from each school will be listed separately.

Indicate Totals

A title sheet will indicate totals to be deleted from all schools in 10 categories. Under administration, proposed deletions total $2,450; instruction, $159,476; attendance service, $4,500; health service, $1,342; operation, $5,660;

Maintenance, $20,100; fixed charges, $7,187; capital outlay, $94,318; and community services, $845. The total is $295,879.

"I want to remind everyone once more that if the amount of money stricken from the budget is in excess of $100,000, it will be necessary for the board to delete items which begin to affect instruction," Charles Buchanan, board president said.

Many of these programs, such as summer school, have been a part of the public school operating budget for a number of years, he said.

About $100,000 which could be deferred or deleted falls into the capital outlay and maintenance categories and will be listed on the first list of items. A second list shows deletions of about $50,000. Over half of this amount is taken from instruction and administration. The last $150,000 touches the instructional programs.

"The summer school program, I feel, is important to Appleton for a number of reasons," Buchanan said. "It not only gives the college bound student an opportunity to take subjects he doesn't have time to take during the regular school year, but it also gives the child who has had problems with a specific subject, an opportunity to increase his knowledge in that area."

We often forget, he added, that this is also one of the major services we have for parochial school children, whose parents pay taxes and help support the public schools.

Man Wants Jury On Driving Count

Walter M. Paltzer, 23, 2312 W. Wisconsin Ave., Monday filed an affidavit of prejudice against Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller and asked for a 12-man jury trial for a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

The case was transferred to Judge Urban P. Van Susteren. No date has been set.

Paltzer was arrested June 26. He pleaded innocent of the charge June 27 and bond was set at $250.

Vote Ends Dairying At County Farm

Outagamie Board Action Dooms Hospital's Agricultural Phase

The Outagamie County Board Monday afternoon voted 43-0, to end dairying at the county hospital and, in effect, passed the first step in a complete phaseout of hospital's farm operations.

The action, a special order of business during an otherwise day-long budget session, came after brief discussion. The board's executive committee approved the proposal late last month.

Supvs. Stanley Perkins of Medina and Walter Kredericks, New London, were present but declined to vote.

Showed Loss

Supv. George Kroes, chairman of the agriculture and conservation committee, said the hospital farm showed a loss last year. He said there also have been problems getting qualified help. The need for about $7,000 in new equipment also was considered in the proposal to end dairy operations at the county hospital, Kroes indicated.

Immediate steps will be taken, according to provisions of the executive - committee - sponsored resolution, to sell at auction about 100 dairy cattle and associated equipment, valued at about $28,000.

The dairy cattle auction will be scheduled this year, but disposal of the personal property will not be completed until spring.

The resolution was submitted following several meetings of county hospital trustees and executive, health education and institution and agriculture committees.

Beef Cattle

Approximately 30 beef cattle will be kept on the hospital farm, although supervisors have indicated that all farm-related activities will eventually be discontinued.

The steers are slaughtered for use at the hospital, while the milk is sold.

Much of the county hospital farm land is expected to be leased to outside firms.

The hospital farm reportedly has been in operation about 75 years. Some outside help is hired to assist hospital patients in operation at the farm and there is a farm manager.

Leaders Say Red Feather Drive May Exceed Quota

Division Reports Optimists in Search of $264,835 for Agencies

Red Feather Campaign leaders expressed optimism for division reports that Appleton will exceed the goal of $264,835 for 14 service agencies at a dutch treat breakfast.

With the inclusion of Red Cross and the Mental Health Association, the goal is $57,000 more than last year.

H.P. Dixon, chairman of the large firms divisions, which is at 82.6 per cent of its $158,000 quota, said that 33 firms have made partial reports. The 10 completed firm reports are running 25 per cent over the total raised for the Red Feather Campaign and Red Cross last year, he said.

Exceed Goal

Clarence Mitchell, chairman of public-civic, said his division anticipates going over its goal of $17,000, with 78.2 per cent in to date. "We are making a determined effort to complete our campaign by Friday," Mitchell said.

Campaign chairman Richard Van Sistine told the volunteers "I have nothing but compliments about the fine organization we have this year, and after this morning's optimistic reports, I am confident that we are going to raise the money that our agencies need to do a minimum job for the citizens of Appleton."

W. C. St. John, chairman of the loaned executives, offered help to any division chairman help to any division chairman or team captain who needs it. "We have five or six men who have offered to pitch in and help in any trouble spot, especially where key men have left town or are out of town on business," St. John said.

A. D. Maling, UCS executive director, said a report meeting is planned at 11:30 a.m. Friday at the YMCA. He said the workers unable to get to the Y could drop off their reports at the United Community Services office during the week.

Some money has come in this week, but the audited figures for Friday showed nine teams over 90 per cent.

Teams over 100 per cent are auto supply, Robert Kolosso, 105; community organizations, George Borchardt, 105; attorneys, Philip Schlichting, 105; food and drink, Don Day, 148; service stations, Charles Bodmer, 105.

Teams over 90 per cent are realty, Norman DeBroux, 96; clergy, Mel Hemmen, 96; hospitals and universities, John Peckham, 94: electric, radio, TV, David Tuch, 92.

Youth Requests Trial by Jury

No date has been set for a 12-man jury trial for Willard N. Tillman Jr., 18, 2510 W. Eighth St., Appleton. Trial by jury was demanded Monday and an affidavit of prejudice was filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller after Tillman entered an innocent plea Friday to a charge of operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

The defendant was arrested last Monday after an accident on W. College Avenue. The case has been transferred to Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

Youth Fined $25 for Disorderly Conduct

Timothy D. Selig, 18, 318 E. Lincoln St., Appleton, Monday was fined $25 and costs or 12 days after being found guilty of disorderly conduct. He was arrested in the city Saturday. Selig entered a plea of no contest in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Memorial to Highest Point

Topping Off Ceremony at Hospital

Topping out ceremonies, marking the completion of the Appleton Memorial Hospital four-story addition to its highest point, were Monday afternoon at the construction site.

Where in early tradition a sheaf of grain or an evergreen was used as part of the ceremony, a United States flag was used Monday. Workmen of the Oscar Boldt Construction Co. placed the traditional evergreen as the final cement pours were made for the roof of the addition.

Members of the medical staff, hospital board, building committee, auxiliary and off duty hospital personnel, along with representatives of the major contractor and subcontractors, attended the ceremony. An informal luncheon was held at the hospital for guests. After the close of working hours the traditional treat followed for the workmen.

On Schedule

Construction of the hospital is right on schedule with no lost time due to weather conditions or delay in materials, officials said. Ground was broken March 23 and completion of the structure is expected in 1968. Some elements of the fourth floor of the south addition, where the topping ceremony was held, will be put in use in the late summer or fall of 1967.

To date 15,601,950 pounds of concrete have been poured in the construction which also has required 370 tons of structural steel. Masons have started brickwork on the south addition.

Excavation has started for the north addition which will consist of a one-story and a two-story area. It is intended to house general stores, laundry, autopsy, furniture storage, the boiler room extension and surgery when it is completed.

The entire construction project also will include extensive remodeling of the first floor and other remodeling, not so extensive, on the second and third floors.

County Approves Salary Increases

4,769 Ballots Cast

Appleton Betters Noon Voting Mark

Contrary to forecasts, the weather was ideal in the Appleton area this morning and played a role in 4,796 residents going to the polls before noon in the general election.

City Clerk Elden Broehm said the city's noon ballot count was above average for a non-presidential election year.

He predicted between 14,000 and 15,000 of Appleton's voters will turn out today. The polls close at 8 p.m. in the city.

The mid-day vote total for the September primary was 2,276 while in November of 1962 official election records show that 4,249 persons had voted by noon.

Local Contests

The main interest of Appleton voters as they go to the polls today was focused on what might be termed "local" contests — those for Outagamie County sheriff and Eighth District congressman.

Elsewhere in the Eighth District there were different voting patterns, according to noon tabulations.

Green Bay, the largest city in the district, registered a 5,116 vote total, compared to 1,800 in the September primary. There is no way of comparing the 1962 general election vote because the Village of Preble had not become a part of the city as yet.

The noon total at Green Bay represented 14 per cent of the registered electorate.

Running Behind

At Manitowoc, voting was running fairly well behind the 1962 balloting, according to election officials. There were 2,903 ballots cast at noon today as compared to 3,505 four years ago.

A 100-vote decrease was noted at neighboring Two Rivers where the noon total was 1,084 to 1,184 in November, 1962.

The weather was reportedly mild throughout the Fox Valley region but voter turnout in general was evidence of the lethargic attitude party politicians predicted the public had in general.

Monday the U. S. Weather Bureau predicted rain and possible snow today for Appleton and the Fox Cities.

Broehm said if inclement weather should materialize later in the day, it would dent the vote total. The noon temperature was 48 degrees with an overcast.

No Incidents

There were no incidents at any of the city's polling stations, Broehm said, all was going smoothly.

The Outagamie County Republican Party had poll-watchers

Up $135,000 After Debate For an Hour

Wage and salary increases totaling $135,000 were approved this morning by Outagamie County supervisors who abandoned their examination of the proposed 1967 operating budget for a short time in order to act on resolutions affecting the budget.

The board took an unusual step and voted 28-18 Monday afternoon to meet today. Supervisors normally do not meet on election day.

This morning's passage of the pay increases did not come easily. The vote, following about an hour of discussion, was 42-3, with Supvs. Norman Austin, Clarence Miller and Robert Weyenberg, voting no.

Claim Injustice

Weyenberg, Kimberly supervisor, and Miller, from Appleton, objected to what they said was the small raise allowed the veterans service officer. The position was raised from grade 15 to grade 16. Weyenberg said the health, institution and education committee had recommended the post fall under grade 19 in the county job plan, but added that the personnel committee dropped it to 16. He called the move, "a great injustice."

Board Chairman Sylvester Esler told supervisors the personnel committee is scheduled to meet again Monday to give further consideration to some of the county job classifications and positions before final policy is made.

Delay Action

The $135,000 provision for wage and salary adjustments is one of the major factors in a $1.5 million increase in expenditures for the record $6.4 million budget that is now being studied. Supervisors reviewed the proposed expenditures Monday, but delayed review of the proposed revenues pending action on several resolutions.

The resolution regarding wage and salary adjustments was submitted by the county board's executive committee.

The cost of living variance since 1964 — the time used to determine the last general wage increase — was used as a basis in calling for an across-the-board 10-cent an hour wage increase for non-contract and non-elected county employes.

In addition, there were changes in several grade clas-

County Board Awards Bids For Plamann

Hopfensperger Gets $28,045 Contract to Add School Rooms

Bids totaling $36,942 were awarded this morning for construction of two new classrooms at Plamann School.

Outagamie County supervisors, who gave unanimous consent to the contracts, were told that bids were opened Nov. 2. The resolution calling for approval of bids was submitted by the handicapped children's education board. The new rooms will be added to the east side of the building.

Bids Vary

Roland Hopfensperger and Son received the general construction contract with a bid of $28,045. Seven bids ranged to $32,170.

King Electric Co. was the lowest of six bidders for the electrical work. The bid was $3,690. Bids ranged to $4,285.

Heating and ventilating work will be done by Hietpas, Inc., with a low bid of $3,641. Four bids ranged to $3,923.

The R. Wenzel Co., which submitted a bid of $1,556, lowest of five ranging to $2,025, will do plumbing and sewerage work.

Allow Boiler

In other action this morning, the board:

— Added $6,500 to the Outagamie County Teacher College proposed budget to allow for installation of a new boiler.

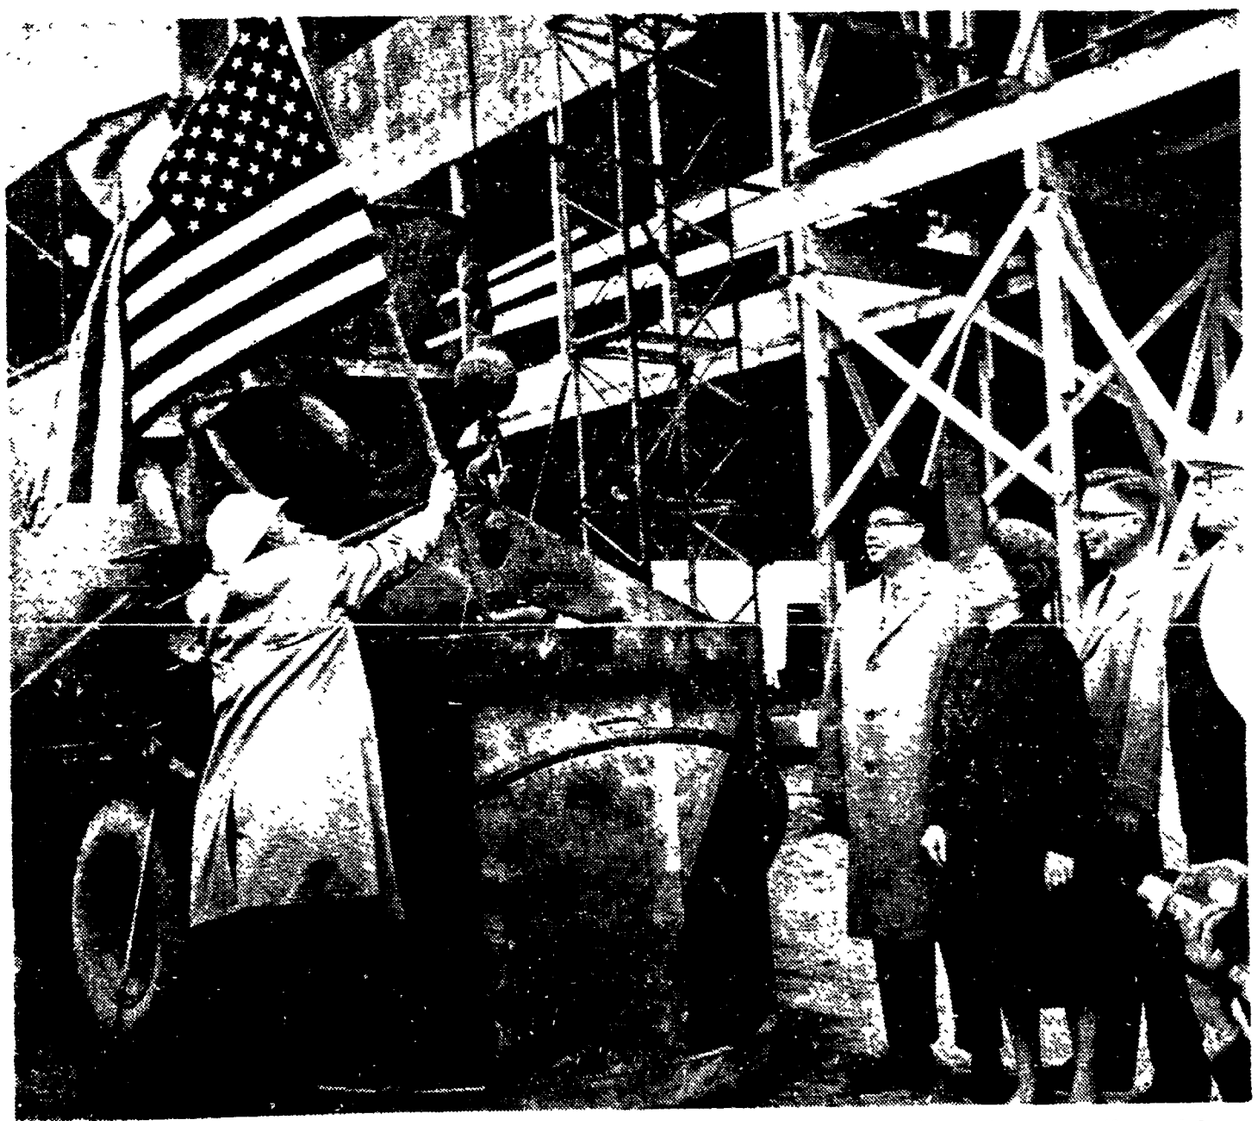

— Transferred $1,500 from the general fund to the family court commissioner budget.

— Gave the public property and insurance committee approval to supervise a complete inventory of county-owned property, to be supplemented by current value, acreage and location, so that a more complete evaluation of land-use can be determined.

License Suspended For Imprudent Driving

Craig R. Bundy, 16, 1106 S. Telulah St., was found guilty of imprudent driving Monday. His drivers license was suspended for 30 days by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

The youth, waived from Juvenile Court, was arrested Sept. 29 in the 600 block of W. Fourth Street. He pleaded innocent during a Branch 2 Court appearance Oct. 10.

Topping Ceremonies Were Held Monday as the last concrete for the roof of the four-story addition to Appleton Memorial Hospital was poured. Above J. Treat Thomas, member of the building committee, places the flag used in the ceremony in the cement bucket before it was hoisted to the roof. Among the watchers, from left, were Dr. George W. Savage, vice chief of staff; Mrs. Harold Podzilni, auxiliary vice president; Henry Starck, fund raising campaign chairman, and Arthur W. Hartman, resident engineer.

Possibility of New Stadium Discussed by County Officials, Foxes, Sox

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A new stadium which would provide facilities for both baseball and football may be in the offing for Appleton, according to discussion Monday night among Outagamie County officials, Fox Cities Foxes brass, and Chicago White Sox Farm Director, Glen C. Miller in a meeting at the Outagamie County Court House.

The possibility of constructing a new stadium was prompted by original discussion of modernizing Appleton's Goodland Field. Miller, the White Sox spokesman, cited current clubhouse and lighting facilities at Goodland as "way below standards" of other cities. He made it clear, however, that the White Sox were in no way making specific demands for a new stadium — but, that conditions were such at Goodland now that long-range plans for a new sports stadium could be kept in mind.

Costs of a new stadium could range anywhere from $300,000 to $500,000. Repairs to outmoded Goodland Field were estimated at $150,000 — the largest share of the cost attributed to the required lighting.

Well Satisfied

Miller said that the White Sox were well satisfied with the operation here, but felt that improvements in dressing rooms and lighting were vital to the smooth operation of the Class A farm club here. The dressing rooms at Goodland are small cubicle rooms, 20 feet square, and without any heat source. Visiting teams of 25 to 30 players have sometimes chosen to dress at the downtown hotel rather than cram into the small quarters.

"You'll probably see a better brand of baseball, too," Miller declared in reference to better-lighting. He said that he noted a marked difference in the reactions of Fox Cities players to the lighting of Milwaukee County Stadium in a game played there last summer.

Sylvester (Cooney) Esler, Chairman of the Outagamie County Board, indicated that the county recognized the Foxes as a key industry and emphasized cooperation to keep the farm team here. The business manager of the Foxes, Ed Holtz, measured the incoming payroll to Fox Cities players near $50,000. Another $50,000 is realized from concessions, and visiting fans, scouts, and college players may account for additional flow of cash to the Fox Cities area. A potential flow of $200,000 is possible. Molte said.

The Fox Cities will have the distinction of being the only White Sox Class A ballclub in its organization next year. When asked about a long-range working agreement with the White Sox, Miller replied "We'll stay as long as you want us." He said that such an agreement had been worked out with Lynchburg, Va., where a new stadium has been constructed.

The next steps to be taken will be meetings between the County and the Appleton Parks and Recreation Committee to outline a course of action and Fox Cities' Foxes plan to meet with Appleton officials about lease agreements.

Brazil Shatters United States' Davis Cup Hopes

Mandarino Beats Ralston in Deciding Match of Series

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP)—America's hopes for regaining the Davis Cup this year are ended, shattered by a stocky 25-year-old Brazilian tennis star who beat top-ranked Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., in a showdown match Monday.

Fans carried Jose Adison Mandarino around the court on their shoulders after his five-set victory over Ralston had climaxed a great comeback and given Brazil a 3-2 victory over the United States in the Inter-Zone Davis Cup semifinal.

It was Mandarino who defeated 19-year-old Cliff Richey of Dallas in the opening singles match, giving Brazil a glimmer of hope against the highly-favored American team.

But Ralston brought the Americans even when he whipped Thomas Koch and then teamed with Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., in Sunday's doubles victory.

That gave the American a 2-1 lead and put Brazil in a deep hole. A victory by either Richey or Ralston in Monday's final two singles matches would have clinched the semifinal series for the United States.

But Koch, who had been destroyed by Ralston in the opening singles, suddenly bounced back against Richey and whipped the tense teen-ager in straight sets, 6-1, 7-5, 6-1.

Ralston won the first and third sets 6-4, 6-4 but dropped the second, 4-6. He seemed to tire in the fourth set, losing it 4-6 and finally dropped the fifth set, 1-6.

'Rube' Bressler, Ex-Big League Star, Dies at 72

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Raymond (Rube) Bressler, whose major league baseball career as a pitcher, first baseman and outfielder spanned 19 years with five clubs, died of cancer Monday at his home here.

The 72 - year - old one - time "triple threat" had been ill for the last three years. A native of Brookville, Pa., he managed several Cincinnati area taverns after leaving baseball in 1933 and later sold real estate.

Bressler's major league career began in 1914 with the old Philadelphia Athletics and ended in 1932 when he played for both the Philadelphia Phils and St. Louis Cardinals. He was with the Cincinnati Reds from 1917 through 1927 and also played for the old Brooklyn Dodgers.

At the start of his career, Bressler was a southpaw pitcher who posted a 26-32 record in parts of seven seasons. Meanwhile managers noticed his potent bat and he never pitched again after 1920. He finished with a .302 lifetime batting average.

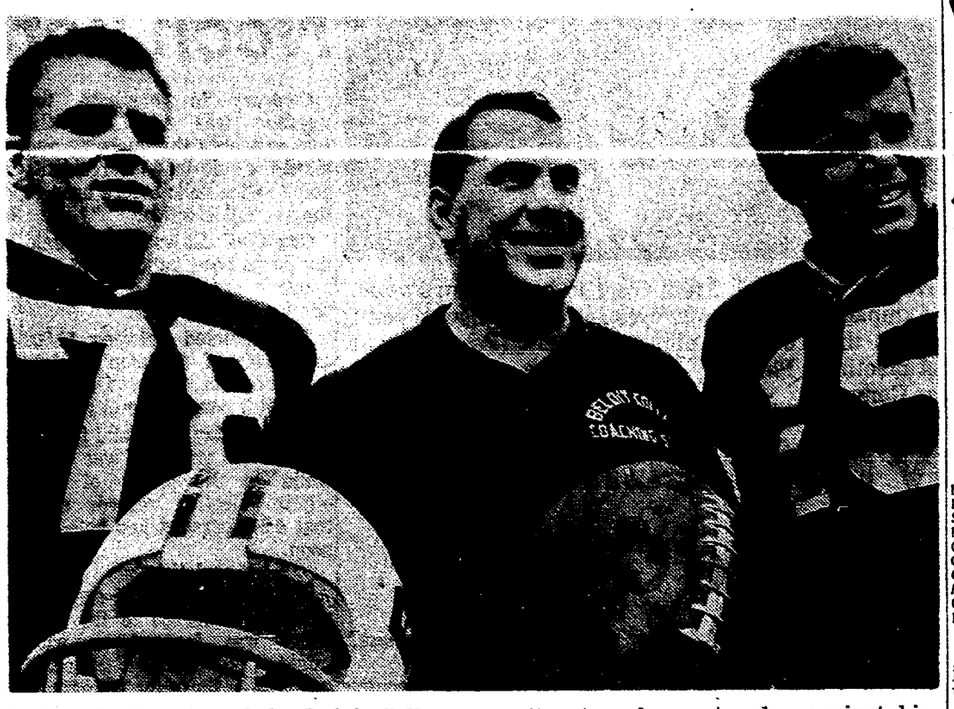

Baier Chosen 'Player of Week' In the WSUC

MADISON (AP) — Jim Baier of River Falls State, who rushed for 370 yards and scored four touchdowns against Stevens Point Saturday, was named "Player of the Week" Monday in the Wisconsin State University Conference.

It was the second time this football season that Baier has won the award.

The record-breaking back from Elmwood scored on romps 73, 28, 3 and 27 yards in knocking Stevens Point out of the conference record. His four touchdowns gave him 15 for the season and 90 points, two more WSUC records.

Baier, a 5-foot-10, 195 pound strong boy, already holds the conference record for career yardage rushing.

Memory of Tarkenton Lingers As Bad Dream at Green Bay

Viking Quarterback Netted First Downs on 8 Critical Situations

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Fran Tarkenton lingered like a bad dream in Green Bay Monday.

"He must be the greatest," lamented tackle Ron Kostelnik, a member of a Packers' front four that met almost total frustration at Tarkenton's hands in the 20-17 defeat Sunday.

"We'll have to go after him with butterfly nets," said Phil Bengtson, the architect of the Green Bay defense—the most effective in the National Football League this season.

Tarkenton has been good against the Packers before, but never as good as he was Sunday.

"It's a good thing we have a wide-lens camera or we could never follow that guy and his receivers," said Bengtson. "He's simply uncanny."

Got To Him Once

Bengtson said the Packers knew what to expect. "We alerted our people about his techniques, but he came up with an outstanding game—the best I've seen against us," the coach said. "We only got to him once."

Tarkenton completed 16 of 26 passes for 172 yards while rushing for another 22 yards.

He was at his best on third down plays. Eight different times he ran or passed for first downs in the critical situation.

While Tarkenton was impeccable, so were his teammates, who got off 19 more plays from scrimmage than the Packers, and avoided handing the ball over on either fumbles or interceptions.

One of the most penalized teams in the NFL going into the game, the Vikings were called only twice for infractions.

"They just didn't make any mistakes," Bengtson said.

Worst Game

"It was the worst defensive game we've played all year," said linebacker Dave Robinson. "We gave him too much time."

"Third down is the most crucial play in football," said linebacker Ray Nitschke. "It's up to the offense to make and the defense to prevent it. We just didn't play well enough to stop him."

Coach Vince Lombardi agreed that Tarkenton came up with some fantastic plays.

"Fortunately," Lombardi said, "he doesn't have this kind of success every game."

Lombardi said, "the reason we lost is because we didn't have the ball. If you don't get the ball, you don't score. It's as simple as that."

The defeat opens the gate to a Western Conference deadlock. The Packers are idle next Sunday while the second-place Baltimore Colts, one-half game behind, meet the winless Atlanta Falcons.

"We feel we still have a good football team in Green Bay," said Nitschke, "and the next five games will determine how good we are."

Prepare for Rematch

Preparations for the rematch with Chicago—a team the Packers shut out Oct. 16 — begin Wednesday when the Packers don cleats for the first time since the Viking game.

After the Bears comes the rematch with Minnesota and Tarkenton. The Packers aren't thinking that far ahead. "We play them one at a time," said Nitschke.

The Packers were looking back at the Minnesota game more in sorrow than in anger Monday.

"I don't think we should have lost to them," said Kostelnik, who also found it difficult to understand how the Vikings could have lost four games this season.

"As usual, with almost every team we play, I can't unerstand how they lost all those games before they played us," he said.

"Every team the Green Bay Packers play would like to beat the Packers," said Nitschke, who like Kostelnik, tipped his hat to Tarkenton.

Great Reflexes

"The way he runs he seems to know where everyone is at," Nitschke said. "He has great reflexes. There were times I thought I was in position to tackle him and I wasn't. He's real cunning."

Tarkenton is currently on a four-game tear in which he has completed 77 of 124 passes for 1,008 yards and seven touchdowns. He completed 16 of 26 passes against Green Bay for 172 yards.

Vikes Expect Tough Struggle Saturday

Phone Call Played Part In 31-7 Win

A telephone call played an important part in Lawrence University's explosive 31-7 victory over Monmouth last Saturday, head coach Ron Roberts revealed today.

At halftime, the Vikings and Monmouth had battled to a 7-7 tie and Roberts was far from happy with the effort his gridders had displayed in the first two periods of action.

Then came the telephone call to the locker room, and athletic director Bernie Heselton, former mentor of the Vikes, informed the team that Ripon College was taking a beating at the hands of St. Olaf. Charged with the realization that a victory would put them in a first-place tie with Ripon and the Oles, the Vikes roared out in the second half and lost little time in putting the game on ice.

Lawrence scored the first four times it had the ball in the second half and pulled away with quarterback Chuck McKee leading the way.

Held To 137 Yards

Roberts, in reviewing the win over the Scots, lauded the efforts of the defensive team which limited Monmouth to 137 rushing yards. The defensive secondary also did an outstanding job and intercepted four passes. So far this season the Lawrence defenders have intercepted a total of 16 enemy aerials.

The win over the Scots proved

Patton, Georgia Tackle, Named Lineman of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George Patton wasn't driving a tank in Florida's backfield last Saturday but you'll never convince Gator quarterback Steve Spurrier of that.

Patton is the Georgia tackle who led the charge on Spurrier and sparked the Bulldogs' defensive unit in Georgia's 27-10 victory. He was named The Associated Press iLneman of the Week for his job.

A solid 215-pound senior, Patton is variously known as The General and Tom Sawyer by his teammates. He was just plain poison to Spurrier, one of the country's leading quarterbacks.

An All America choice as a junior last year, Patton was named after the World War II tank commander.

Hawks Face Big Challenge

Xavier Seeks to Make 'Comeback' From 18-3 Basketball Campaign

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

It might seem facetious to suggest that a basketball team will attempt to make a "comeback" from an 18-3 record of the preceding season. . .But this will be pretty nearly true for the 1966-67 Appleton Xavier High School team.

So spectacular has the Hawks' record as a 4-year school been that last season's 18-3 mark was their worst in five seasons as a full-fledged high school. And, for the first time in the same span, Xavier failed to qualify for a berth in the state Catholic tournament.

From a comparative standpoint, only, did the Hawks have an "off" year, since they annexed their fifth straight undisputed Fox Valley Catholic Conference title (and won it by three games).

Faces Challenge

Xavier faces a rigid challenge in its effort to equal, or improve upon, last season's record. Not only will the FVCC, in all probability, have more strong teams than any time in recent years, but all Xavier foes will have gained "heart" by Springs' and Lourdes' late-season wins over the Hawks in 1965-6.

Much of the load — at least in the early season — will have to be carried by the three lettermen: Gene Jack, Tom Heinritz and Dan Hardy. Jack and Heinritz were full-season regulars in 1965-6, while Hardy was the "sixth" man for much of the season and started the final three games because of an injury to Paul Rechner.

Newcomers in the starting lineup will have to fill the rather sizable shoes of scoring leader Mike Heideman, Rechner and Don Hurley. Steve Schmieder, a top reserve guard, has also been graduated.

The sharpshooting Jack, who scored 333 points last season, is an all-conference returnee. Heinritz, an outstanding defensive player, was fourth in team scoring, with 145 points, last season. Hardy (6-foot-3), who will probably be the only "big" man in the starting lineup, tallied 95 points last season.

Two of the top candidates for starting berths along side the trio of veterans are Pat Fitzgerald and Terry Graff, who scored 29 and 24 points, respectively, last season.

Fitzgerald, who has outstanding potential, looms as a new scoring threat to replace Heideman and team with Jack. Terry Graff, a sharp ball handler, will lose some early-season practice

Manitowoc's Coach Honored By Writers

Twichell Named 'Coach of Year' In the FRVC

For directing Manitowoc to its first outright Fox River Valley Conference Crown in 36 years, Bill Twichell (in his second year at the Ship helm) was voted "coach of the year" by the Fox Valley Sports Writers Association.

This recognition almost eluded Twichell — and not by chance, but by choice.

After the 1965 season, kidney stone attacks almost concluded his brief career. Some thought was given to "throwing in the towel," feeling he might not be able to give his full time to the post.

But fortunately, there were those who succeeded in dissuading him — an unfortunate decision for Manty's opponents.

Reaching the pinnacle in a short 2-year span wasn't an easy climb.

When Twichell accepted the post last season, he had only the barest essentials to work with. This included only three letter-

Cardinals Lose QB Johnson for Season

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Coach Charley Winner is doing a quick repair job on his National Football League Eastern Division leaders because, he says, injuries have knocked out "the hub of our offense."

Quarterback Charley Johnson, who holds four career team passing records, is lost for the season with a torn right knee ligament. He undergoes knee surgery today.

Center Bob DeMarco, who played in the NFL's 1965 Pro Bowl, will be sidelined for at least four weeks with a partially torn right knee ligament.

"It can't help but hurt when you lose the two men who put the ball in play for you," said Winner. "But we will be working this week to remedy the situation before the game next Sunday with the Steelers at Pittsburgh."

20-17 Victory

Johnson and DeMarco were hurt in the 20-17 St. Louis victory Sunday over the Giants in New York.

Irv Goode, a regular offensive guard who usually centers on extra points and field goal attempts, came in for DeMarco.

Second string quarterback Terry Nofsinger entered the game after Johnson's injury and quickly threw a scoring strike to Prentice Gautt.

"I think Terry will be able to do the job for us and Goode always plays well no matter where he is," said Winner.

Nofsinger is the only quarterback on the roster now. But Jim Bakken, the field goal and extra point specialist, played there while in college.

Allyn Hints at Trades; Pro Grid Farm System Seen

CHICAGO (AP) — Art Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, said Monday that the 1966 baseball season proved to be the club's "greatest flop, both artistically and financially, in out history."

He told the Chicago's American Quarterback Club that White Sox operations had a $400,000 loss. The Sox finished fourth in the race, 15 games behind the American League pennant winner, Baltimore.

Allyn added that "we kicked the ball around so much that we elected to get into a sport where it counts — soccer."

Allyn is a prime mover in the new North American Soccer League and said advance sales for the 1967 season in Chicago will be 30,000.

"The Sox need some power hitting," he said. "Every club in the league has got a player among its top batters who was traded away from the White Sox by Bill Veeck. Now we would like to get them back where they should have been in the first place."

Trades in Mind

Allyn admitted there were a lot of trades in mind but said he could not reveal names on the advice of his general manager, Ed Short.

"As for building a dome over Comiskey Park, I'm more confused than ever since seeing estimates of the cost," he said. "They range from $6½ million to $16¾ million."

Milt Woodard, president of the American Football League, another speaker, said pro football shortly would have a farm system, somewhat similar to baseball, to feed the majors talent.

"With a common draft of the merged NFL and AFL and with expansion there are not enough top college players every year," he said. "Perhaps, there are only 100 real top players, so that would leave four for each of 25 clubs. There are about 10 minor football leagues in the country that can start producing good prospects.

"We will have a working agreement with some of them, such as the Continental League."

Kaat Becomes Highest Paid Twins' Hurler

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Kaat has become the highest - paid pitcher in Minnesota Twins history.

He agreed to a 1967 baseball contract for a figure reported to be about $50,000 Monday.

Kaat, who also celebrated his 27th birthday Monday, compiled a 25-13 1966 record for the most victories in the American League and in Twins history. He also had the most innings and most games completed in the league.

The highest-paid Minnesota pitcher previously was Camile Pascual, who received about $46,000 two years ago.

Only slugger Harmon Killebrew, at about $60,000, has been paid more by the club.

Whitewater Has Busy Campaign For New Stadium

WHITEWATER (AP) — If State University's stadium fund drive is a success, it may have to be said that the 1966 Warhawks squad was responsible.

With supporters keyed up by the football team's unbeaten and untied record—and its capture of the State University Conference championship, Coach Forrest Perkins said, donations are coming in faster than he can handle them.

Perkins, chairman of the campaign, said the drive will be kept open past the Dec. 1 deadline.

"The only trouble is there isn't enough time to devote to the drive and to football," he said.

Matt Valitchka Hits 732 'National' Set

Don Erdman Socks 680 Series To Top Kaukauna Major League

Matt Valitchka bombed a 732 national honor count in the Sabre Lanes All-Star Classic League Monday night for the fourth Fox Cities Men's national set of the season.

Valitchka, who just moved into the Fox Cities area in August from Oconto, started out with a 246 game, followed with a 233 and then blasted a 253 line. In his fourth game, with the pressure of the high count, Valitchka skidded to a 141 singleton.

Valitchka is a one-night-a-week kegler and carries an 180 average. He had a national set in 1959 while bowling in Oconto when he hit a 727 series which still ranks as the all-time high in that city.

Had 24 Strikes

In the three games, Valitchka had 24 strikes and no open frames. He needed a mark in the eighth frame of the third game to insure the 700 count and he picked up a spare, then spared again in the ninth and doubled in the 10th.

Jim Griesbach came in for a share of individual honors in the All-Star circuit, although Valitchka's effort overshadowed a booming 257 count by Griesbach. Griesbach also was runnerup in total series with a 809 count for four games and other top scores included Earl Schmidt 234-801; Keith Gehring 225-788; Roland Clement 763; Ed Flood 755; Don Plass 751 and Jack Ahrens 740.

Don Erdmann, who has been on a hot kegling streak of late, smacked a 256 game and 680 series to set the pace in the Kaukauna Major League at the Bowling Bar Monday night.

Other Top Counts

Other high counts included Harry Hurst 602; Norm Lenz, 225-603; Earl Verbeten 556; Jack Ashauer 239-593; Ray Diedrich 580; George Kailhofer 591; Jim Meinkebige 562; Lee Lambie 228-551; Jerry Lamers 572; John Rieth 554; Leo King 555.

Elmer Steffens and Bill Fraser shared honors in the Builders League at Hahn's Lanes Monday night as Steffens socked a 242 game and Fraser had a 621 series that included three consistent games over the 200 mark. Steffens finished with a 584 series and Harold Nelson posted a 610 series.

In the Knights of Columbus American League at the 41 Bowl last night, Gary Gritzmacher fired a 235 game and Mike King had a 616 series. King's set included a 226 game and Gritzmacher had a 556 threesome.

Bob Currie blasted a 247 game and Joe Kambic had a 612 series to divide honors in the Catholic Men's League at Sabre Lanes. Currie finished with a 586 and Kambic had a 233 game. Don Sell posted a 228 singleton.

Reynebeau Has 612

Joe Reynebeau blasted a 245 game and 612 series to set the pace in the Heart of the Valley League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes Monday night. Other honor scores included Tony Hietpas 556; Gene Berghuis 561 and Don Baumgartner 552.

Joe Hinkens cracked 248 game and Joe Spilski fired a 608 series to top the 41 Bowl League last night. Hinkens had a 581 series.

Wayne Steinberg's 599 series was high count in the Tri-City Men's League at the 41 Bowl last night and top counts in the Appleton Lutheran League at Hahn's Lanes were a 237 game by Orv Fredrichs and a 589 series by Jim Hauert. Frederichs finished with a 563.

men — not much to go on. Manty did close out the season with a 4-5 record.

Part of the rebuilding program included emphasis on conditioning. Manty had a big line, but it was the physical condition of the squad which

'Hitting Is Name of Game,' Says Top Defensive Coach

HATTIESBURG, Mass. (AP) — "It's pretty easy to get the man with the ball," says Coach Pie Vann, whose Southern Mississippi football team seems well on its way to becoming the nation's No. 1 team in total defense again this year

"Defense is a more natural part of a man," he said. "He doesn't have to be told he wants that man carrying the football."

After seven games, the Generals have given up only 115.6 yards per game and five touchdowns.

The other two years Vann's players led the nation in defense — 1963 and 1965 — they gave up 131.2 and 161 yards per game, respectively

Vann revealed some of his defensive philosophy that has aided his teams in compiling a record of 127 wins, 45 losses and two ties during his 17 years as head coach.

"The secret of good defense most often is the result of good scouting reports, proper adjustment to meet the type of offense expected from the other team, and good personnel," he said.

'Prepare for Anything'

Vann admits he has been fooled before. "You have to prepare for anything, but the basic thing is to gear your preparations to the scouting report," he said.

Vann said that in his 17 years as head coach he has stressed the fundamentals of the game — running, blocking, tackling and good physical condition.

"Hitting is the name of the game," he said. "You can't win unless you hit, and you sure can't hit if you're tired. Most ball games are lost when the basic fundamentals are not properly executed."

Illinois' Brooks, Wright Should be Ready for UW

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Two Illinois starters were removed from the possible injury list Monday and are to see action against Wisconsin's Badgers which have four defensive regulars who may miss the game.

Fullback Carson Brooks was limping, but Illinois said he should be ready Saturday. Split end John Wright, believed to have fractured a jaw, was reported not seriously hurt after a study of x-rays.

Defensive guard Al Waters, who missed the last two Illinois games with a bad knee, was expected to be ready for Wisconsin.

Vikings Use Bays' Formula

Few Teams Get 'Cheap' Win Over Packers—They Earn It

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Other than Fran Tarkenton's scrambling, the Vikings looked a lot like the Packers Sunday.

The Vikes didn't make any mistakes, and they controlled the ball. Doesn't that sound like the Packers' winning theme?

Don Weiss, of the NFL office, was talking about the Pack's success, as compared to the Cowboys' wild, high-scoring ompo after the Pack's win in Detroit a week ago Sunday.

"The Packers are so good in the basics of football that when they do lose, they never are smothered. And when they win they never humiliate another team," Weiss explained, referring to the Packers' week-in, week-out excellence in blocking and tackling.

Few teams ever get a "cheap" win over Green Bay They earn it — just as the Vikings did Sunday and the 49ers did in San Francisco earlier

The Packers now have lost two games by four points — 21 to 20 to the 49ers and 20-17 to the Vikings You can't slice it much thinner.

4 Defensive UW Regulars May Not Play

Long Injury List Following Rugged Game With Purdue

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin's roster of invalids, another vexatious statistic in a 2-5-1 football season, contains four defensive regulars who probably will not play Saturday against Illinois.

Safetyman Bob Grossman appears to be sidelined for the rest of the season. End Warren Dyer, middle guard Don Bliss and tackle Ed Hoffman may be out for at least a week.

Coach Milt Bruhn said the Badgers had dreaded what they assumed Purdue would do last Saturday when the Boilermakers found Bliss missing and Hoffman unable to replace him. Matters got worse when Dyer left the Purdue-Wisconsin game in the first quarter.

Nursing Wounds

Bruhn said Monday seven more players were nursing wounds picked up in the Saturday game. They include rushing leader Wayne Todd who received a shoulder injury.

Grossman was injured in the 23 - 0 Boilermaker victory. Bliss got a knee injury in practice last week. Dyer injured an ankle and Hoffman a knee against Michigan two weeks ago.

Also injured but with recovery anticipated were cornerback Dave Berg, halfback Tom Jankowski, tackle Tom Domres, halfback Lynn Buss, linebacker Bob Richter and guard John Brockett.

John Tietz, working in Dyer's position against Purdue, was expected to stay at the defensive spot for the Illinois encounter.

Gary Pinnow and Bob Fenske were being considered for Grossman's station, and sophomore John Sandner was being measured for Hoffman's tackle position.

Considered for Spot

Another sophomore, Ken Criter, was considered for the Bliss post with Dan Schaffner taking over Criter's tasks as linebacker

Coaches gave Gary Reineck the week's Savage Award for defensive play against Purdue.

The cornerback is Wisconsin's third-ranking tackler. He pulled down Purdue ball carriers seven times and assisted on eight other tackles.

Todd, gaining 118 yards for 26 carries — the best ground performance in the Purdue game, won the Bucky Award for offensive play.

His rushing yardage was the best by a Badger in two seasons

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The latest election day in the Associated Press' major-college football poll still finds Notre Dame holding a relatively small lead over Michigan State while Alabama is an onrushing third.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke

Here's a zany one from pro football . . . Did you know that a team could win only one game all season and still finish in first place! . . . How is this possible? . . . A National Football League team with one win and 13 ties in the 14-game schedule would win the title over a team that won 13 games and lost one because the league goes by percentage only—and the team with one win, no losses and 13 ties would have a 1.000 percentage (ties don't count) while the team with 13 wins and one loss would have a percentage of .943, and would finish second!

Ever wonder what the record is for a team making the most first downs in a big league pro football game? . . . The record was set by the Green Bay Packers November 11, 1962 when they made 37 first downs in a game against Philadelphia.

Any idea how much the regulation footballs that are used in the National and American Football Leagues cost? . . . Answer is about $18 per ball.

Ankle Injury Not Considered Serious

ND's Seymour Always Active

BERKLEY, Mich (AP) — Jim Seymour, Notre Dame's talented sophomore end, has been reaching for things ever since his fingers were long enough to hold on.

"We were always finding him on top of the refrigerator or someplace," recalls his mother, Mrs Bart Seymour.

The Seymours, including four other sons and a daughter, live in a comfortable home in this Detroit suburb.

Seymour, a 6-foot-4, 190-pounder, has combined with sophomore quarterback Terry Hanratty to become one of the most exciting fighting Irish passing combinations in Notre Dame history.

Sprained Ankle

Seymour has been sidelined since he suffered a sprained ankle in No. 1 ranked Notre Dame's 38-0 victory over Oklahoma Oct. 22.

Up to that point, he had caught 34 passes for 675 yards and five touchdowns.

But back home in Berkley, Jim is just a boy who strums a guitar, bakes cookies and plays with the neighborhood children.

"One of my brothers once told me he didn't think any of our boys would make very good football players because they were too gentle," says Mrs. Seymour.

Mrs. Seymour described Jim as an average student who works hard.

"He was an active boy even as a baby," she recalled. "Always stretching and reaching for things. His left arm is scarred from where he once pulled a pan of boiling water off the stove."

Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian has said Seymour's sprained ankle isn't serious. But he has kept him on the sidelines, probably saving him for a Nov. 19 clash with No 2 ranked Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich.

Bills Third in Total Offense

'Eastern' Leaders Do Not Dominate Any AFL Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — The Buffalo Bills, two-time champions of the American Football League, are back in first place in the Eastern Division, and as usual they're proving that you can win without putting on a statistical show.

The Bills do not lead the AFL in any of the six team offensive and defensive departments.

The Bills are third in total offense, third in rushing and sixth in passing. Defensively, they are fourth over-all, seventh in passing and second in rushing

Kansas City's Western Division leaders are No. 1 in total offense with a pickup of 357.4 a game and first in rushing offense with a 159.0 average while New York is tops in passing offense with 238 6 yards a game.

Defensively, Oakland is No. 1 over-all, allowing only 259.4 a game and first in passing with a 133.9 a game mark. Boston is tops against rushing, permitting only 72.0 a game.

Ralph's Days With Cowboys Numbered?

High Court Won't Change Its Stand in Neely Case

DALLAS (AP) — Ralph Neely's playing days for the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League were dwindling today.

The giant offensive tackle's request that the U S. Supreme Court reconsider its refusal to review a lower court ruling to against him was denied in Washington Monday.

Apparently his last chance to avoid going to the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, for whom he has said he would not play, rested with a state court here.

Dist. Judge Owen Giles has set a hearing Thursday on a Dallas club request for an injunction against Neely The suit would prevent Neely from playing with any club except Dallas, whereas the Houston action, in federal court at Oklahoma City, woud bar him from competing with any team except the Oilers.

Neely signed a contract late in 1964 to play with Houston and in January of 1965 he signed one with Dallas. He has played with Dallas ever since. He has contended the Houston contract was not enforceable.

Federal Judge Stephen S. Chandler of Oklahoma City held in favor of Neely, but the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver overturned the decision and ruled the Oilers had a valid and enforceable contract.

Ruby Psychiatrist Dies of Leukemia

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, chief defense psychiatrist in the 1964 murder trial of Jack Ruby, died of leukemia at City Hospitals Monday night at the age of 68.

The internationally known psychiatrist championed the cause of psychiatric science in the courtroom, and this led him into many noted cases—including the Ruby trial.

Guttmacher testified that Ruby, a Dallas night club operator, was legally insane when he killed Lee Harvey Oswald — the man identified by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Vikes Expect Tough Game

somewhat costly for the Vikes as starting defensive end Jim Mergott suffered an ankle fracture and will be lost for the final game coming up Saturday. Beloit will invade the Lawrence Bowl. Mergott is the third defensive end who has had a fracture this season. He joins Dennis DeCock and Dale Schuparra with casts on their legs

Ordinarily, the loss of three defensive ends would put a team in a desperate situation. but Roberts cited the team depth.

After Mergott was injured, Craig Campbell filled in at the end spot and Mike Andrews, normally a running back, also saw action at the defensive position. Roberts said he also expects Dave Roozen to be playing at the vacated spot this Saturday.

After praising the offensive work of McKee, who scored three touchdowns to regain the Midwest Conference scoring lead, Roberts also lauded the performance of sophomore Dave Mielke. The Milwaukee Washington graduate got his first chance to start and turned in a brilliant effort. He also made a pair of sensational pass catches.

Another Tough One

In looking to the Beloit contest, Roberts said he expects another tough battle, but the chance to get at least a share of the conference title should be enough of an incentive to get the team up for the game. Lawrence needs a victory to gain at least a share of the crown.

Roberts reflected on last year's Lawrence-Beloit contest which saw the Vikes go into the fourth quarter with a 14-0 lead and then lose a 22-21 decision when Beloit exploded with an aerial attack. The Bucs have the artillery again this season as they have been one of the leading offensive units in the [illegible] throughout the campaign.

Seven seniors will be playing their final game for Lawrence in a contest which also is the annual Dad's Day tilt. They include Rich Agness, Bill Benowicz, Bob Bletzinger, Craig Campbell, Jerry Gatzke, Doug Giffin and John Williams.

Nicklaus Fires 'Warm-Up' 68

Canada Cup Test To Start Thursday On Tokyo Links

TOKYO (AP)—Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio fired a three-under-par 68—including a sensational five-under-par 30 on the par-35 front nine—at the Sagami Country Club today playing in an exhibition warmup for the Canada Cup International Golf Tournament.

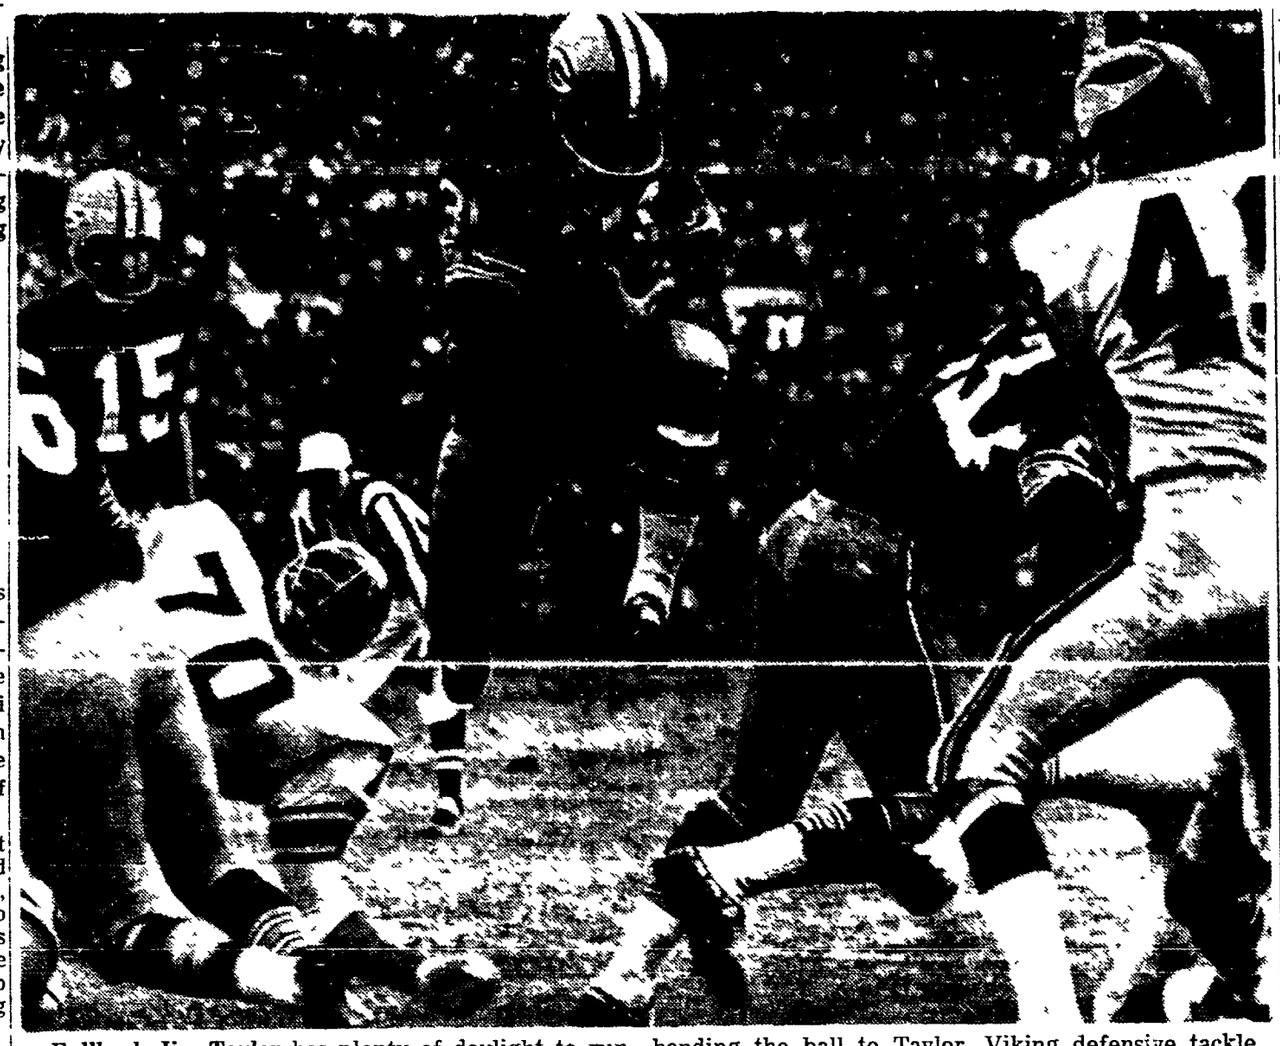

His performance against South African Gary Player and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., was something of a warning to other Canada Cup competitors who were practicing at the nearby Yomiuri Country Club while the threesome was being played at Sagami.

The Canada Cup — the 14th edition of this major world tournament — will be played at Yomiuri Nov. 10-13.

Player had a 35-35—70, and Palmer a 36-39—75. Both will have only one day of practice at the 6,962-yard, par-72 Yomiuri layout before competition begins.

Seventy-two golfers from 36 countries are entered. Nicklaus and Palmer will represent the United States in the team competition.

Nicklaus, Palmer and Player said they would use the small ball (1.62 inches in diameter) for the Canada Cup "because it's easier to use."

Fullback Jim Taylor has plenty of daylight to run toward as he tallies the first Packer touchdown in Sunday's 20-17 loss to Minnesota at Green Bay. The Packers' Bart Starr (15) watches approvingly after handing the ball to Taylor. Viking defensive tackle Jim Marshall (70) is blocked out of the way, as is safety Dale Hackbart (49) by Packer "Fuzzy" Thurston (63). (AP Wirephoto)

Supreme Court Upholds Ruling Against Schlitz

Brewery Violated Antitrust Act, High Tribunal Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed Monday a decision that the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. violated the Clayton Antitrust Act by acquiring control of two other beer brewing companies.

The decision was given by the U.S. District Court in San Francisco. It was appealed to the highest tribunal by Schlitz, which contended among other things that the district court made various procedural errors.

The Supreme Court announced its affirmance of the District Court's decision in a brief order which made no comment about the case. Justice John M. Harlan stated a view that the court should have heard argument on the Schlitz appeal.

The District Court held Schlitz violated section 7 of the Clayton Act by acquiring all assets of the Burgermeister Brewing Corp. in 1961, and 30.3 per cent of the common stock of John Labatt Lt. in 1964. The District Court ordered Schlitz to dispose of its interest in Burgermeister and to divest its holdings of Labatt stock.

Section 7 of the Clayton Act bars acquisition of one firm by another "where in any line of commerce in any section of the country the effect...may be substantially to lessen competition, or tend to create a monopoly."

Canners Not to Blame for Prices, Official Claims

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Increases in the price of foods on the grocers' shelves are not the fault of the canning industry, the president of the National Canners Association said Monday.

W. Ennis Parker, who is also president of a Griffin, Ga., food firm, said increased crop yields, mechanized handling of food and more economical methods of storing and shipping have kept price increases relatively conservative.

Parker, attending the Wisconsin Canners and Freezers Association convention, said price boosts against which housewives have raised boycotts have not involved canned goods for the most part.

Rock 'n' Roll Mass Has Overflow Crowd

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — An overflow crowd attended an Episcopal "Mass with rock 'n' roll beat" at Trinity College chapel. A drummer, three electric guitarists, a pianist and a saxophone player substituted for the organ in all music of the service.

Philadelphia Eagles Halfback Tim Brown picked up 15 yards on this play in the second quarter against the Dallas Cowboys Sunday at Philadelphia. George Andrie, of the Cowboys, follows in pursuit with Lane Howell (79) of the Eagles, at the right. Patrolman to Join Detective Squad

Leo Bosch Named Department's First Operator of Lie Detector

Leo J. Bosch, 32, a patrolman for six years, Monday night was named the Appleton Police Department's first polygraph operator and became the eighth member of the department's detective bureau.

Bosch's appointment, confirmed Monday night by the Appleton Fire and Police Commission, becomes effective Dec. 3.

Bosch lives at 1822 S. Walden Ave. He just completed a six-weeks polygraph (lie detector) school at Chicago. He was selected for the school on the basis of competitive examinations taken by eight Appleton policemen.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said he will seek authorization next week to purchase polygraph equipment, which is provided for in the department's budget. Oshkosh is the nearest city now having polygraph equipment.

The new detective began with the police department in September 1960 and was promoted to squad car driver last June.

Bosch is a Combined Locks native, graduate from St. John High School, Little Chute, and attended Wisconsin State University — Oshkosh. He worked at a Kimberly service station before joining the police department.

Bosch and his wife, Barbara Jean, have four children.

sifications, to become effective Jan. 1.

The additional raises were warranted "due to comparable employer pay scale trends," the executive committee stated.

Excluded from the wage adjustment plan were highway department employes whose raises were computed directly into project costs for 1967. The increased cost is $46,900.

Before revising sections of the Civil Service Ordinance to provide for the raises, Supv. Marvin Babbitt of Seymour suggested that the county "should consider putting some of the top, key positions on a contract basis."

Part of the debate was sparked by Weyenberg's charge that he was not allowed to view copies of the J. L. Jacobs report dealing with county job classifications and salaries.

The executive committee reportedly viewed the Jacobs proposal for 1967 before taking action on salary adjustments.

Several other supervisors had indicated earlier that they had not had an opportunity to see copies of the Jacobs proposal.

Esler told Weyenberg this morning that he should see the executive secretary if he wanted to see a copy of the report.

AAUW Asks Restoration of School Funds

Tells Appleton Mayor Cutbacks May Lead To 'False Economy'

Restoration of $300,000 cut from the record $5.6 million school board budget requests was urged today by a spokesman for the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW).

Mrs. Harold Danford, 430 E. Pershing St., legislative chairman for the AAUW, indicated the quality of education might be affected by the cutback in school requests for 1967.

She expressed the association's position in a letter to Mayor George Buckley and the Appleton council.

Mayor Reacts

Mayor Buckley reacted immediately, commenting, "The proposed $300,000 trimming of the school board budget will not affect the quality of education in any way. The kids will still get the same education as they have in the past."

Buckley said there were other areas in which the school board could cut back without affecting the education program.

"The members of the Appleton branch of the AAUW are deeply concerned about the proposed cut in the Appleton Public School budget," Mrs. Danford wrote.

False Economy

"While we recognize and commend efficiency in government, we believe that arbitrary cutbacks affecting the quality of the education given our children is false economy," she added.

"In this rapidly and often disturbing twentieth century we must prepare our children to take their places in society by providing for them the very best education possible."

Buckley cited the recommended city budget, which deleted more than $450,000 for general city purposes and $300,000 from the school board operations, calls for a $3.86 boost in the city tax rate.

Buckley 'Adamant'

Restoration of the school board deletion, he cited, would mean Appleton homeowners would be faced with a $5.66 tax boost.

"I am absolutely adamant on this point. I just can't see restoring the deletions in the school board budget," Buckley declared, "The finance committee cut all budgets and did an excellent job in my estimation without hurting city or school programs."

As it now stands, the 1967 budget calls for a tax levy of $7,612,350 including $4,349,540 for school purposes and $3,262,810 for general city operations of all other departments, boards, commissions and agencies.

KAUKAUNA — Members of Kaukauna-Little Chute SPEBSQSA, Inc. won the Men-Mile award at the Land-O'-Lakes district convention at Minneapolis over the weekend by having 17 members attending the session.

Total miles traveled by delegates are used to determine the winner, usually going to a group from Canada. Renamed area counselors were Jack Hermsen, Little Chute, area five, and Jerry Brynes, Combined Locks, area three.

"The Jubilaires," Bloomington, Minn., won the quartet competition and chorus winner was the Waukesha County Chapter.

Hit Kroger Stores

Housewives Picket as Part of Sugar Boycott

Appleton housewives picketed at Kroger stores at Valley Fair and the College Avenue extension Monday in their protest against high prices.

However, the women weren't able to follow their schedule because of car pool problems, Mrs. Bette Milheiser, spokesman for the group, said. One of the drivers wasn't able to extricate her car from a parking lot.

The spokesman said the Appleton group was not protesting gimmicks and savings stamps but was appearing as part of its sugar boycott. The Kroger stores were offering sugar as a premium with purchases.

Mrs. Milheiser wasn't certain when any picketing would be resumed even though the group did not get to all Kroger stores Monday. Activities were suspended for election today and Mrs. Milheiser said other activities were scheduled Wednesday.

She said the group basically was following its original plan except for the sugar boycott. Petitions are being circulated now and are due Thursday. No other boycotting is planned until next Monday.

KHS to be Host For 1-Act Play District Contest

KAUKAUNA — Approximately 10 schools from the Oshkosh district will enter 1-act play competition at Kaukauna High School Saturday. Those entered already receiving A ratings in a league contest.

Schools earning A on the district level advance to sectional competition and from there the winners advance to state competition. The entire state is divided into eight districts and four sections. Kaukauna did not enter competition this year due to conflicts with other school activities.

Presentation of plays will get underway at 8 a.m. and members of the school Dramatics Club will assist with lighting, stage work or other jobs needed for the visiting schools. Coordinating the affair will be Mrs Joyce Sprenger, faculty adviser for dramatics, Jane Schulz and Chris Driessen.

Derus, one of the top golfers in the club — having won the club championship 12 times — has served in the same capacity once before.

Estimate $650 Damage In Two Village Mishaps

LITTLE CHUTE — Village police investigated two accidents over the weekend, neither resulting in personal injury.

About $400 damage resulted in an accident at noon Saturday when a car driven by Joseph Hammen, 58, 720 Grand Ave., Little Chute, stopped for a stop sign on Grand Avenue, pulled from the intersection and was involved in a collision with a car being driven east on Main Street by James Roovers, 16, 235 S. Willow St., Kimberly.

Damage was estimated at $250 in an accident at 1:15 p.m. Sunday when a car driven by Clarence Seegers, 38, 440 Patrick St., Combined Locks, stopped for a stop sign on Buchanan Street, pulled from the intersection and was involved in a collision with a car being driven west on County Trunk OO by Mrs. Doris George, 516 N. Margaret St., Kaukauna.

Federal Funds To Aid Runway Building Costs

Board Approves FFA Participation In Construction

Federal funds will aid in financing the cost of a new parallel taxiway along the 5,000-foot northeast to southwest runway at the Outagamie County Airport.

County supervisors this morning approved an amendment to a grant agreement, providing for Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) participation in the construction.

In the original proposal for the new runway, the FAA allowed only for short turnaround taxiways. It was at the suggestion of airport engineers and the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission that the federal agency has agreed to participate in building the parelel taxiway, according to members of the county board's airport committee.

Investigate Savings

Supv. John Dietz, vice chairman of the airport committee, told board members this morning that the county had intended to "go it alone" in paying for a parallel taxiway, and that the FAA action to bear part of the cost will result in a savings to Outagamie County. He later indicated he did not know what the savings will amount to.

The FAA also will help finance marking and lighting of the new taxiway, according to the resolution passed this morning.

Work has started on the new 5,000 foot runway which is being financed by county, state and federal monies. Total cost of the new runway will be about $1 million. The county board approved the runway construction last June.

Resolution Approved

Another airport committee resolution met with unanimous approval this morning, but not until it evoked some debate.

Stephenson Electric Co. of Appleton was designated to install electric door openers at seven large hangars at the airport, at a cost of $933.

Several supervisors, including Clarence Miller of Appleton, though more than one cost estimate should have been obtained. Others questioned why the electrical equipment was not installed when the hangars were built.

Stanley Perkins, Town of Medina supervisor, said "I've voted for every airport improvement so far, and I'll vote 'yes' on this one, but not on any more until I've gone out to look over the airport."

Youth Pleads Guilty on 7 Car Charges

Joseph W. Van Dera, 20, 203 Kamps St., Kimberly, scheduled to stand trial this month on seven traffic charges, changed his pleas to guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch Monday.

Judge Urban P. Van Susteren sentenced the youth to four months in the county jail and fined him $50 and costs, but ordered the sentence stayed to Wednesday morning.

The charges were brought by Combined Locks and Kimberly authorities following a police chase through the two villages, which ended when Van Dera's auto struck a car driven by a Kimberly man, injuring five members of his family.

An unidentified man fled from the Van Dera auto on foot after the accident July 3. The car was traced to Van Dera who denied being the driver and said his injuries were from a water skiing accident, not an automobile accident, when he was arrested.

Van Dera was charged with hit and run; two counts of speeding, one each by Kimberly and Combined Locks; two arterial violations; attempting to elude a police officer, and failing to heed an officer's signal.

The case was assigned to Judge Van Susteren after affidavits of prejudice were filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller and Combined Locks Municipal Justice Wayne Hull.

Court Levies Fine on Intoxication Charge

Richard Abel, 72, 221 S. State St., Appleton, was found guilty Monday of intoxication in an appearance before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Abel was fined $25 and costs or 12 days in jail. He was arrested Saturday.

State Publishes Traffic Safety Guide for Youth

Booklet Features Green Bay's David Hall; Gives Ideas for School Safety Programs

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — David Hall, Green Bay native who in 1963 was named the "Handicapped American of the Year" by Pres. John F. Kennedy, plays a leading role in the new Wisconsin Traffic Safety Guide for Youth.

The guide, published jointly by the Governor's Conference of Children and Youth, the Department of Public Instruction and the Motor Vehicle Department, includes Hall's story. The booklet is intended for school administrators in an auto safety drive aimed at state teen-agers.

Hall Talks Safety

Since being crippled in an automobile accident in his youth, caused by reckless driving, Hall has devoted his energies to a personal safety campaign and to a workshop for other handicapped individuals.

Hall's story has been made into an award-winning safety movie, endorsed by the cooperating state agencies for use in a concerted school-room campaign to push safe driving habits.

Included in the booklet are hints for high school editors on the writing of hard-hitting editorials in school papers. There are outlines for special school assemblies featuring speeches by authorities, films, skits and debates which can be used, and also material for use in connection with popular sports events.

Includes Techniques

The booklet also includes techniques for tieing auto safety to school celebrations such as proms, class nights and homecomings, and for posters and literature distribution, and endorsement of training activities such as driver education classes

But one of the most hard-hitting features is a statement from Hall taken from the motion picture featuring his life and accident.

"I was riding with a friend in his new convertible," David said in the picture. "The highway was clear, but I still felt we were traveling too fast. Yet, like most people, rather than seem afraid I just hoped we would be lucky.

"We were going about 95 when a car came out of a side road and hit us. I saw our right fender burst up, and the next thing I knew I was flying through the air; then sommersaulting along the ground at fantastic speed. I remember my arms and legs hitting the ground at odd angles, like a rag doll. . .When I finally stopped rolling I was lying on my back, looking straight up at the sky. And I had such a wonderful feeling of relief that I thanked God for not being hurt."

"But he was hurt critically," the booklet states. David goes on, "Disbelief and terror overwhelmed me when, try as I might, I just couldn't move. I tried it a hundred times, but all I could move were my eyes."

Dairy Co-ops Pleased by Milk Hearing

Consideration of Market Regulations Underway Today

Officials from the Fox Valley's major dairy cooperatives expressed pleasure in the approaching federal hearing in St. Louis to set up milk market regulations for the Midwest.

The St. Louis meeting today is one of four being conducted in the U.S. to set levels of Class I milk prices in all 71 order areas starting this December and running through June 1967.

Truman Torgeson, general manager of Lake-to-Lake Dairy Cooperative, Kiel, said "the unified efforts of dairymen were rewarded this week" by the announced hearings.

Petitioned USDA

Torgeson heads the federal order committee of the National Milk Producers' Federation which was one of the groups petitioning the Department of Agriculture to open talks on the subject.

"Dairymen are seeking to stabilize their Class I price at present levels. They would be seriously jeopardized as a result of the sharp decline in butter and cheese prices," Torgeson said.

Frank Meyer will represent Consolidated Badger Co-Op, Shawano, at the hearings in St. Louis. He will testify that the co-op favors suspension of the seasonal Class I differential.

Meyer said, "We believe this will help assure Midwest dairy farmers of more adequate income and insure consumers of an adequate supply of milk."

Pure Milk Products Co-Operative (PMC), Fond du Lac, has been working on the matter through Associated Dairymen, Inc., a federation of some 35 Midwest dairy farmer cooperatives.

James Locke, speaking for the PMPC, said, "This move is an effort to increase fluid milk prices and dairy farmer income levels. It's needed to keep pace with the higher price levels prevailing throughout our national economy."

Locke said PMPC would support price levels for next year at least equal to October, 1966, plus the elimination of the minus 24-cent supply-demand adjustment.

Policemen, Firemen Reject Menasha Offer For New Contracts

MENASHA — Policemen and firemen have rejected a counter-offer by the finance committee Monday night and members of the street and sanitation worker's union will take up the 1967 wage and benefit offer Wednesday night.

Representatives of the three bargaining organizations met in a closed meeting with the council committee to negotiate the coming year's contracts and discuss the recently completed job review by the State Bureau of Personnel which includes recommendations on pay schedules.

The content of the offers by the finance committee were not disclosed by city officials today. They had announced Monday the meeting would be held behind closed doors, claiming it would include discussion of personnel matters.

KHS Seniors To Register for Elks Contests

Cash Awards for U. S. Constitution, Leadership Winners

KAUKAUNA — Registrations are now being accepted from Kaukauna High School seniors for the Elks Club sponsored Youth Leadership and Constitution contests.

Harry Wilson, instructor, has charge of the Constitution contest and Kenneth Vander Velden, instructor, has charge of the leadership contest. Working on the contests for the Elks are Oscar Kunz, Patrick Finnegan and Vander Velden.

Deadline for the leadership contest is Dec. 1 when registration forms must be completed and returned. The local winner advances to state competition and state winners advance to national competition. Separate prizes are awarded boys and girls on the first, second and third place level in national competition and first and second place level in state competition. Winners are determined on the basis of information contained on the registration forms.

No date has been set for the Constitution contest, but it will take place sometime in January. Students will be tested on their knowledge of the United States Constitution. Local winners receive awards from the Elks on class night and top winner competes in state competition where 10 cash awards are made.

Wilson has offered to work with students in preparing and studying for the Constitution contest.

Tenure Vote Hot Issue In Menasha

MENASHA — The referendum question whether to place the city attorney and treasurer on tenure has become, in the final days before today's election, the subject of campaigning as earnest as the efforts of some candidates.

Opponents of the measure rigged a mobile sound unit to broadcast their views in city neighborhoods by public address system.

A letter mailed Saturday presents the opposite view expressed by the "Menasha for Menashans Committee." a newly formed organization with Joseph Porto, 820 Arthur St., as secretary.

Aware of Surroundings

Creative Spirit Is Necessary to Learning

BY FRANCIS L. BRODERICK
Dean of Lawrence University-Downer College 5½

With a little bit of luck and a great deal of patience you could teach an elephant to ride a bicycle. The performance would not strike the elephant as funny, nor would he be aware of himself as an individual pachyderm, nor would it ever occur to him to ask whether the project was worthwhile. Therefore we know instantly that the elephant has been trained, not educated. For the essence of education is a creative spirit, and a creative spirit includes the capacity to laugh, the ability to see yourself, and the eagerness to ask: Is it worthwhile?

A laugh is creative when it senses incongruity, points to it, explores it. Remember President Kennedy's teasing remark when he appointed his younger brother to head the largest law firm in the world: "I see nothing wrong with giving Robert some legal experience as Attorney General before he goes out to practice law." In one swoop, wit took notice of the criticism of the appointment, pointed to its most vulnerable aspect, and disarmed the criticism by a laugh — an intriguingly creative act by an educated spirit.

Self-Awareness Growth

An educated spirit knows itself. Indeed education has more to do with growth in self-awareness than with knowledge of the American Revolution or of the genetic code. A man's mind, turned critically in on itself, becomes creative when it becomes aware. Alfred North Whitehead used to say that we think clearly in proportion to our knowledge of the steps by which we arrive at a conclusion. In other words, do not kid yourself. The creative spirit is liberated when a man has trained himself to see clearly when he looks within.

The creative spirit also judges what goes on outside, judges not in a carping way but with a look toward improvement. The question "why?" follows immediately on the question "what?", and "why not?" comes at only a small interval after "why?". A truly critical spirit asks the key questions, makes clear judgments, moves on to appropriate action. The job of education is to foster the creative force of the critical spirit.

So if by any chance you ever do see an elephant chuckling as he rides immodestly on one wheel ("Look, Mommy, no trunks), or if he seems uneasy because of the indignity of his position, or if you hear him ask whether an elephant with other things to do should waste his time on a two-wheeler, then ask my employer to send him an application blank, for colleges believe in the creative spirit.

Education Board Affirms District Stand

NEENAH — The Board of Education reaffirmed its position Monday night and voted to have the Neenah Joint School District become a part of a vocational, technical and adult education district with other school districts to the north when an area vocational district is formed.

Following the action of the Winnebago County Board on Oct. 31 which resolved to join all of Winnebago County with Waushara, Calumet and Waupaca and Outagamie counties to form a vocational district, the board felt it should again make its position clear.

A resolution passed by the board on Jan. 3, 1966, and directed to the state vocational board and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, which will make the final districting determination, requested that Neenah Joint School District be joined with Menasha, Appleton, and Kimberly to form a district. The board members still wants to have the vocational district formed on school district lines and one which has cultural, industrial and economic cohesiveness.

Early Voting Turnout Good

NEENAH - MENASHA — City of Menasha voters were turning out in slightly greater numbers this morning than they did in the last comparable election, 1962, while the Neenah 11 a.m. turnout was almost identical to 1962.

Both cities, however, were running behind 1964 totals when there was a presidential election.

Schuknecht Teacher of Year In Fox Valley

Western Civilization Instructor at Neenah High School

NEENAH — Warren Schuknecht, instructor in Western Civilization at Neenah High School, Monday was named teacher of the year from 17 school districts in the Fox Valley area.

With this honor comes the possible further acclaim of being named Wisconsin Teacher of the Year and "National Teacher of the Year" in the annual program sponsored by Look Magazine, the United States Office of Education and Council of Chief State School Officers. The teacher of the year will be named in January, 1967.

The superintendent of each school district in the state of Wisconsin received a qualification blank for a teacher nominee earlier this year from the department of public instruction.

Selection was based on the teacher's personal qualities, sound educational background, teaching experience, participation in the community life, cultural interests and the respect he or she receives from students, parents and coworkers.

For the first time this year, teachers were named by the Cooperative Educational Service Agencies (CESA) in the state and Schuknecht was named by CESA No. 8 headquartered in Appleton.

A native of Prairie du Sac, he attended North Central College, Napierville, Ill. and came to Neenah in January of 1954.

During this time he has travelled to Europe, Africa, Panama and over three-fourths of the United States. The object of his travels — and his plans call for visits to all continents — is to feel the tempo of people's lives and discover what they have done with their heritage.

His philosophy? "The greatest freedom you can give another, is to permit him to have the adventure of becoming what is in you to become."

Court Awards Grand Chute $6,289 Interest

Appleton Had Netted Extra Monies From Construction Fund

An Outagamie County Circuit Court judgement entered Monday awarded $6,289 to the Town of Grand Chute for interest from school construction funds formerly credited to Appleton's general fund

The judgement against Appleton includes interest income received by Appleton 1963 through 1965. The money was received by the city for interest from investment of school construction bonds over the three year period.

Thomas A. Thorson, town chairman of Grand Chute, said today that interest on the bond issue for construction of Appleton High School East and other construction in the future will be credited proportionately to the town.

Other Interest

"It has been estimated that for the year 1966 alone, approximately $15.000 will be credited to Grand Chute from interest resulting from the bonding of Appleton High School East," Thorson said.

The suit against Appleton was filed by Grand Chute after the State Supreme Court ruled that interest be returned in a similar case between the Village of West Milwaukee and West Allis. Three other towns will also receive credit as a result of computations of the Appleton director of finance.

Other towns' shares of the 1963-65 interest will go to Town of Buchanan, $162.90: Town of Harrison, $664.16 and Town of Menasha, $20.02.

Appleton's share of interest for the three years totals $59.870.08.

Neenah Studies Job Evaluation

NEENAH — Pay increases of varying amounts are in store for all city employes next year if the job classification and compensation plan, prepared by the state bureau of personnel, is accepted by the Neenah Council.

The results of the job re-evaluation survey were made public this morning following contract negotiations with six groups of city employes Monday.

City officials had been awaiting the report before discussing requests from the police, fire, street, park and recreation, water works and cemetery departments.

Rebel Activity Increasing

Portugese Angols Had Been Peaceful Since 1961 Uprising

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Rebel activity has sharply increased in Angola, Portugal's richest African territory, with a three-pronged attack on its borders. The calm, which set in after Portugal quashed the rebellion of 1961, has been broken by the sound of mortars on the Zambian frontier, the chatter of machine guns in the northern enclave of Cabinda and by more frequent ambushes in the unruly north.

Portugal, which exerts control over chunks of Africa 23 times the size of the mother country, has named a tough 46-year-old lieutenant colonel to take charge. Camilo R. Vaz, who, in 1961, commanded an infantry regiment of Portugal's 40.000 Angola troops, takes office as governor this month. He served five years in Vige, the kernel-province of rebel resistance.

Vaz will be directly responsible to Premier Antonio Salazar for the fortunes of Angola, an area that yields oil, diamonds, coffee, sugar, tobacco and cotton.

Vaz's toughest military problem lies in the eastern part of Angola, a wedge of rolling hills and small brush jutting into Zambia. Defense Minister Gomes de Araujo announced last month that Portuguese troops and artillery were being sent to the border after the opening of "a third front."

"Rebel hunting is more difficult than in the north," an officer recently returned from the area explains. "They attack the population in small bands of about 50 and can retreat to a sanctuary in three directions."

'Girlcott' Called Off In Menasha

MENASHA — A boycott of two Menasha supermarkets, set for Nov. 14, has been called off "unless someone else will act as spokesman," Mrs. Elaine Wagner, 417 Ahnaip St. announced Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Wagner stated that she cannot continue representing over 130 area housewives who signed a petition protesting high prices related to hidden expenditures because of "health reasons."

Copies of the petition will however be sent to the President of the United States, members of Congress and the Governor of Wisconsin, according to Mrs. Wagner.

Mrs. Wagner said that she could not speak for Neenah housewives. The organizer of a homemakers' protest movement in that city has remained anonymous.

Retiring as the local organizer of "Housewives for Lower Prices," she expressed a hope that consumers would continue to compare prices at area stores and shop accordingly.

To The Lady Of The House

Dear Madam:
85 per cent of the bargain hunters are women. We know that you are always on the lookout for bargains, and that women have better business sense than men and can recognize a bargain when they see one. We thought we would tip you off on this outstanding New Home buy in Colony Oaks, Appleton's most distinguished address.

This home would cost over $1,000.00 more if we started it today.

Don't worry about the mud, the lot is completely landscaped. No stair climbing, the three bedrooms are all on one floor. The spacious kitchen has a Nutone range, dishwasher and disposer. A 25' carpeted living room, bath & powder room, paneled family room with fireplace, laundry-mud room, rustic patio, and full basement, and a 2 car attached garage. Financing can be arranged and all of this for only 27,900.

Sincerely yours,
Chester J. Meiers

Estimates on Enemy Deaths As High as 500

Fighting Ends in Tay Ninh Province After Four Hours

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American infantrymen battled an estimated 1,000 charging Viet Cong for four hours in Tay Ninh Province today and reported 302 enemy bodies counted after the fighting ended.

The battle resumed at 6 a.m. for troops of the U.S. 1st Division who lost contact almost completely Monday with the tough Viet Cong force that had battled American troops for four days.

U.S. officers at operational headquarters told Associated Press photographer John Nance tonight that 302 enemy bodies had been counted after the fighting ended, that large numbers of weapons, grenades and ammunition had been taken and that an 80-bed Viet Cong hospital had been found.

Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from the battlefield that some American officers estimated 500 of the enemy were killed today.

He reported one battalion of the 1st Division's 28th Regiment bore the brunt of the new fighting. American casualties were officially reported light.

In other scattered actions:

An American spokesman said a Viet Cong force of unknown size moved into a village 75 miles southwest of Saigon at 2:30 a.m. Monday and kidnaped

Four Brief Years Ago

Remember '62? Nixon Said He Was Through

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's last nonpresidential election was just four brief years ago. How well do you remember it?

Here are a few reminders:

The one thing that was considered a possible national issue— the Cuban missile crisis two weeks earlier—did not seem to have any broad effect.

In California, Republican Richard M. Nixon lost the governorship race to Gov. Edmund G. Brown and said he was bowing out of politics.

In New York, Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller topped Democrat Robert M. Morgenthau by nearly a half million votes and leaped to the top of the heap of potential 1964 GOP presidential candidates.

George Romney won the Michigan governorship. William W. Scranton was elected Pennsylvania's governor. Robert Taft Jr. was elected to Congress in an at-large House race in Ohio. Edward M. Kennedy was elected to the Senate by a landslide in Massachusetts. Veteran Republicans who met defeat included Sens. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin and Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota.

The national outcome was pretty much as expected—the Democrats lost two House seats, gained a net of three Senate seats, retained firm control of both. Democrats won 21 governorships, Republicans 14.

President John F. Kennedy said he was heartened by the Nov 6 election results.

4-Day Flight To Begin in Afternoon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Gemini series reaches the end of the road Wednesday when the Gemini 12 astronauts blast off on a four-day mission which may determine man's physical limitations in space.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. spent today reviewing their flight plan and talking with Gemini officials as launch crews prepared for the double liftoff.

An Atlas is to thunder skyward at 2:16 p.m. (EST) to boost an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous target. A Titan 2 is to hurl the astronauts into space at 3:55 p.m.

Three Factors

The afternoon launchings were determined by three factors: lighting conditions required for the rendezvous; to avoid high radiation when Aldrin pokes his head outside the spacecraft at an altitude of 460 miles, and to place the astronauts in position Saturday to photograph a total eclipse of the sun over South America.

"Men and machinery are ready," a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported.

The flight will close out the highly successful program which has tested all the techniques that American astronauts will use on Apollo man-to-the-moon flights. The first earth orbital flight of a three-man Apollo ship is scheduled early next year.

Linkup With Agena

Highlights of the Gemini 12 mission will be a third-orbit rendezvous and linkup with the Agena, practicing many maneuvers that Apollo astronauts must make during their return

Bulletin

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A problem developed in the Gemini 12 booster rocket today and officials said there was a possibility it could delay Wednesday's scheduled liftoff.

"We have a problem," a space agency spokesman said.

"We don't know how serious it is," he added. "If it is serious, it could affect the launching."

Knowles, Lucey End Campaigns

State Voters Must Battle With Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mixture of light rain, some snow and falling temperatures was the forecast confronting Wisconsin voters trekking to the polls today.

The campaign, during which many candidates said voters seemed apathetic, was expected to draw only about half the state's 2.4 million eligible voters.

Warren P. Knowles and Patrick J. Lucey, competing for governor, ended their campaigns late Monday in vote-rich Milwaukee touching on some of the issues that had marked the campaign:

Water pollution, the degree of special-interest influence in government, crime, federal aid, industrial development and whether the state should continue to bar sales of colored oleomargarine.

Other Contests

The contest between Republican Gov. Knowles and Democratic Lt. Gov. Lucey topped the voters' need to select 10 congressmen, 17 state senators, 100 assemblymen, a lieutenant governor, a state treasurer, an attorney general, a secretary of state and courthouse officers in 72 counties.

Lucey, 48, who led reconstruction of the state's Democratic Party in the 1940s, is an associate of the Kennedy organization. He has campaigned on auto insurance rate issues and has urged repeal of the colored oleo barrier.

Knowles, 10 years older, unset the incumbent in 1964 to become governor. The New Richmond attorney was elected to the Legislature in 1940 and was lieutenant governor for three terms.

Seek GOP Sweep

Republicans were counting on Knowles to lead a GOP sweep. His running mate was Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells, a former lieutenant governor opposed for the job by State Sen. Martin J. Schreiber, 27, a Milwaukee Democrat.

Democrat Eugene Lamb challenged State Treasurer Dena Smith, 67, for the fifth time.

Rain, Cold, Fog, Snow Reported Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A variety of miserable weather covered more than half the nation this Election Day — Sub-zero cold, snow, rain, thunderstorms and fog.

Snow was falling today in at least 10 states from eastern Nevada to the north shore of Lake Superior, and North Dakota got bitter cold along with it. The temperature was 5 below at Devils Lake this morning. Bismarck's one below was a record for the date.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for southeastern Montana.

Accumulations by dawn measured as much as three inches in western South Dakota and four inches in parts of Nevada.

The rain area lay to the east and south of the snow, and ran from Southern California and the southern plateau region to New England. The Ohio Valley had thundershowers.

The cold front that brought in the snows and rains dropped into Kansas during the early morning, when temperatures were in the 60s in the southern part of the state but in the 20s in the northwest.

Except for some morning fog along the Gulf Coast, the southeastern quarter of the nation had continued warm and mostly sunny weather. Temperatures Monday reached the 80s on the southern Plains and a record for the date of 78 at St. Joseph, Mo.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Balloting was reported heavy in a number of crucial areas around the nation today as the American voter turned out to elect 435 House members, 35 senators and 35 governors.

The trend of the early balloting indicated the total vote might be around 59 million, a record for a nonpresidential year.

Voter Places High Price on Freedom

BOSTON (AP) — John W. McGarry will have a long trip to vote today.

McGarry, chief counsel to the Congressional Election Commission in Washington, expected to be in California this week, and so applied for an absentee ballot.

He never received the absentee ballot and because the law allows only one to a voter, he couldn't get another.

Secretary of State Kevin H. White said Monday he had word that McGarry would fly to Boston, his legal residence, to vote — then fly back to California.

Rebel Activity Increasing in African Colony

Portugese Angols Had Been Peaceful Since 1961 Uprising

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Rebel activity has sharply increased in Angola, Portugal's richest African territory, with a three-pronged attack on its borders. The calm, which set in after Portugal quashed the rebellion of 1961, has been broken by the sound of mortars on the Zambian frontier, the chatter of machine guns in the northern enclave of Cabinda and by more frequent ambushes in the unruly north.

Portugal, which exerts control over chunks of Africa 23 times the size of the mother country, has named a tough 46-year-old lieutenant colonel to take charge. Camilo R. Vaz, who, in 1961, commanded an infantry regiment of Portugal's 40,000 Angola troops, takes office as governor this month. He served five years in Vige, the kernel-province of rebel resistance.

Vaz will be directly responsible to Premier Antonio Salazar for the fortunes of Angola, an area that yields oil, diamonds, coffee, sugar, tobacco and cotton.

Vaz's toughest military problem lies in the eastern part of Angola, a wedge of rolling hills and small brush jutting into Zambia. Defense Minister Gomes de Araujo announced last month that Portuguese troops and artillery were being sent to the border after the opening of "a third front."

"Rebel hunting is more difficult than in the north," an officer recently returned from the area explains. "They attack the population in small bands of about 50 and can retreat to a sanctuary in three directions."

Rebels have made incursions deep into Angola. A recent army communique said that two persons were murdered along the Benguela railway in Vila Luso, 25 miles from the Zambian border.

Pope Paul Seeks Rewritten Bible For All Christians

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican announced today that Pope Paul VI has given orders for the Roman Catholic Church to work with Protestants, Anglicans and Orthodox Catholics to produce a common Bible for all Christians.

The announcement said the Pope, in implementing a decision of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, had entrusted the task to the Vatican Secretariat of Christian Unity.

The various Catholic conferences of bishops around the world have been sent questionnaires asking information on the "needs, possibilities and difficulties of each area with regard to Bible translation and distribution," the announcement added.

McNamara Hears Jeers

Defense Chief Answers Hecklers After Harvard Talk

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara criticized the behavior of antiwar demonstrators Monday when they jeered him at Harvard University.

McNamara, leaving a Harvard residence hall after speaking to 50 students of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Institute of Politics, was greeted by a crowd of 400 assembled on the steps of the Quincy House. Most of them carried placards and shouted slogans in support of the Johnson administration's policies in Viet Nam.

Drowned Out

Others in the crowd were from a local student organization opposed to the war. They booed and jeered.

McNamara told the crowd he had spent some of the "happiest years" of his life at Harvard when he attended the Harvard Business School during World War II as an Army officer. He was drowned out by screams and boos.

Visibly angry, he said, "I might add that I was a lot tougher and a lot more courteous than you."

What to Look for in Elections

National Trends, Effects of War, Backlash Being Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political analysts studying election returns tonight will be looking for trends, the rise and fall of potential presidential nominees and the effect of such widely discussed subjects as the "white backlash" and the Viet Nam war.

Here are some areas to watch:

Trends — Six bellwether House districts have reflected changes in congressional party lines over the past decade. The six are the Connecticut 4th, Pennsylvania 19th, Iowa 4th, Indiana 9th, Wisconsin 1st and Ohio 10th. They are among 44 House districts, currently represented by first-term Democrats, which were held by Republicans before 1964. Practically all of the 44 Democrats are solid supporters of the Johnson administration.

Congressional control — Democrats are assured of retaining Senate control and are expected to keep House control, but with a smaller majority than their current ratio of 295 to 140. A switch of just 25 House seats from pro-Johnson Democrats to anti-Johnson Republicans would have meant the defeat of such key Johnson domestic measures as medicare, open housing, rent supplements and demonstration cities. Thus, even fewer GOP gains than the off-year average of 40 could mean Johnson might have to settle for a less ambitious domestic program over the next two years and might threaten funding for such approved programs as rent supplements and demonstration cities.

Conservative Democrats, particularly a number of those from the South, often team up

UW to Have Rules for Disciplining Hecklers

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin chancellor says school rules were being changed to clarify the administration's authority to take action against disruptive heckling such as that which marred a recent campus speech by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

Chancellor Robben W. Fleming told a monthly faculty meeting Monday that a committee would probably have the recommended changes in the university rules ready by December. He indicated they would authorize disciplinary action in the future.

Lost Over Milwaukee

Flying Boxcar Guides Craft to Happy Landing

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two pilots related Monday how an Air Force Reserve transport plane guided a small, private aircraft to safety through clouds and darkness which one pilot likened to the "inside of an inkwell."

The private plane, carrying pilot Harlan Frahm of Burlington, his wife and two other passengers, landed safely at West Bend after wandering over Lake Michigan and after losing track of its shepherd, a C-119 Flying Boxcar.

Flies Too Fast

Frahm had found himself trapped late Sunday west of Milwaukee above a thick layer of clouds. His single - engine plane lacked the instruments for a blind landing, he was uncertain of his position, and his craft was running out of fuel.

The Flying Boxcar, en route to Green Bay and contacted near Sheboygan, was asked by Milwaukee's Gen. Mitchell Field to guide Frahm to safety.

But the troop transport flies twice as fast as Frahm's Cessna, and Frahm "immediately lost us" as the planes descended through the cloud layer, said the military craft's pilot, Capt. James Arnold of New Berlin.

The only choice for Frahm, 36, a pilot since 1949, was to drop through the clouds over Lake Michigan. "Frankly, he did a creditable job," Arnold said.

Frahm found himself 40 miles east of Port Washington, trapped between clouds and the lake, and with dusk having fallen.

'Lost Radio Contact'

"At 2,500 feet, he lost radar and radio contact with approach control," said Arnold, who was having to communicate with the airport because his plane's radio frequency didn't match that of Frahm's.

Arnold began another search for the small craft in the darkness which he described as the "inside of an inkwell. It was more or less luck that we found him."

Even then, the trip to West Bend was touch and go. Frahm said the C-119, because of its greater speed, had to circle ahead of him to prevent him from losing sight of the big plane.

Jewelry Worth $500,000 Stolen

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A downtown jewelry store was still adding up its losses today after a crew of expert burglars made off with diamonds valued at more than $500,000.

Police said the burglars gained access to Coleman E. Adler & Sons, Inc., by cutting a hole in the roof — then opened the big vault inside with acetylene torches. The store burglary alarms were bypassed.

Stained Glass Windows of Presbyterian Church to Go

By MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Of Lawrence University

For nearly 90 years the Victorian iron anemones that wreath the steeple of Memorial Presbyterian Church have flowered against the E. College Avenue sky.

Sometime during the next weeks, sadly appropriate to the declining season, the flowers and other removable valuables will be transplanted to a decorator's shop. The building will be smashed by the wrecking ball.

The razing of a private dwelling brings nostalgia to a few, but the destruction of a church, wherein the milestones of birth, marriage and death have been measured for more than fourscore years, attracts a whole crowd of mourners.

Officials at Lawrence University feel their own kind of regret. As the site's new owners arranging for the razing, they have had to make the unhappy decision to destroy most of the church's colored windows.

Attempts to find a direct purchaser for the Victorian glass have failed. Estimates on professional removal of the glass range as high as $2,000, which the windows would not realize in re-sale. To allow amateurs to teeter on ladders while removing their own windows would be courting too any lawsuits.

There are about 36 colored windows in the church, if you count a window as something surrounded by a frame. In several instances, however, there are two or three glass subdivisions within a single frame. Two windows are marked with memorial plaques to long-vanished Sunday school classes — Miss M.A. Pratt's class and Mrs. A.G. Orr's class. Another window bore the hopeful legend "Presented by" but the donor space remained blank through all of the church's life.

The windows in the abandoned church are not true "stained glass" which are colored in their molten state, but are of a variety known as "flashed glass," in which a thin layer of colored glass is applied to a plain glass base, usually by dipping.

Window Medallions

The only place in the church where some genuine stained glass is to be found is in part (though not all) of the medallions that crown more than a dozen of the windows. The medallions are more vibrant in tone than the main windows, which are pale and opalescent.

Medallions in the sanctuary itself contain such religious symbols as a sheaf of wheat, a Bible, a bunch of grapes, the crown and cross, a dove, the Greek letters Alpha and Omega, an anchor, a crown and an eye set in a triangle representing the Trinity. Designs in the old church parlor include repeats on the anchor, crown, grapes and Bible with the addition of the ten Commandment tablets.

Much of the flashed glass is overpainted with shadings and designs in an opaque monochrome called grisaille. Often the designs were produced by a stencil rather than free-hand painting.

Flashed glass is not necessarily second-rate glass; it has its practical and artistic uses. Glass was flashed in order to obtain enough translucence in dark colors like ruby which normally would allow very little light to pass through. Or flashed glass is useful where a change of color is necessary in a small space — where the use of lead between different colors would be clumsy. In the latter case, part of the flashing was chemically removed so a two-tone piece of glass resulted.

Before the wreckers go into the Presbyterian church, most of the symbolic medallions will be removed. Some will be transferred to the chapel of the new Memorial Presbyterian Church four blocks down the street, some will go to private purchasers, and some will be given to Lawrence University art classes for re-use.

Unless some Hairbreath Harry comes galloping up with $2,000 in his hand, however, the flashed glass windows are doomed.

Youth Pleads Guilty on 7 Car Charges

Joseph W. Van Dera, 20, 203 Kamps St., Kimberly, scheduled to stand trial this month on seven traffic charges, changed his pleas to guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch Monday.

Judge Urban P. Van Susteren sentenced the youth to four months in the county jail and fined him $50 and costs, but ordered the sentence stayed to Wednesday morning.

The charges were brought by Combined Locks and Kimberly authorities following a police chase through the two villages, which ended when Van Dera's auto struck a car driven by a Kimberly man, injuring five members of his family.

An unidentified man fled from the Van Dera auto on foot after the accident July 3. The car was traced to Van Dera who denied being the driver and said his injuries were from a water skiing accident, not an automobile accident, when he was arrested.

Van Dera was charged with hit and run; two counts of speeding, one each by Kimberly and Combined Locks; two arterial violations; attempting to elude a police officer, and failing to heed an officer's signal.

The case was assigned to Judge Van Susteren after affidavits of prejudice were filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller and Combined Locks Municipal Justice Wayne Hull.

Nose Bitten Off Last Year

Appleton Boy's Surgery Nears Halfway Mark

Keith Hanagan, now 3½ years old, who last August had his nose almost bitten off by a dog, will enter St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, Wednesday, for the third of six plastic surgery operations.

Keith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hanagan, 727 W. Harris St., Appleton.

Mrs. Hanagan reports the first two operations, Oct. 19 and Nov. 2, were to build a tube of flesh in the upper part of Keith's arm. This tube will now be attached to the boy's nose.

Mrs. Hanagan explained that Keith knows what is going on and accepts it. He also realizes that the dog was protecting his family's property.

Keith was hurt Aug. 5, 1965, while playing with a dog belonging to relatives visiting his parents' home. The dog was asleep when the child entered a room containing the visitors' suitcases.

"He woke up suddenly, evidently scenting danger to his family's property, and leaped at the boy, catching his nose and the back of his head," said Mrs. Hanagan.

"Just as suddenly, the dog must have realized Keith was a friend and pulled away," she explained.

It will take six months for surgeons to determine if Wednesday's graft is successful. Keith will then go into the final stages of the plastic surgery process.

Welfare Costs Show Increase At Waupaca

during the past year. "If this reduction in caseload remains about the same during the coming year it will reduce costs," Payette told county board members.

Smallest of the programs is aid to the blind. In the past year there were eight cases. Blind aid expenditures totaled $7,058 for the year and receipts were $7,073. During the same 12-month period last year the countys' share of the cost was $536.

Federal, State Aid

Cost of administering the welfare program in Waupaca County was $85,460 of which $58,325 was paid by federal and state aid. The county's share was $27,135 which is $117 more than last year.

Payments for the year by the department were $920,071. Total receipts were $731,943 and the cost to the county was $188,128.

There were 160,021 pounds of federally-donated surplus foods distributed during the year under the surplus commodities program administrated by the welfare department. The total annual cost for transportation and distribution was $5,521. An average of 898 persons per month received the commodities, Payette said. This was a sharp decrease due to increased earnings and withdrawal of butter and cheese surpluses from the program, he said.

Robert Derus Elected President of FVCG

KAUKAUNA — Directors of the Fox Valley Golf Club named Robert Derus, president for the coming year, to succeed Robert Minkebige, who held the office for two years.

Dairy Co-ops Pleased by Milk Hearing

Consideration of Market Regulations Underway Today

Officials from the Fox Valley's major dairy cooperatives expressed pleasure in the approaching federal hearing in St. Louis to set up milk market regulations for the Midwest.

The St. Louis meeting today is one of four being conducted in the U.S. to set levels of Class I milk prices in all 71 order areas starting this December and running through June 1967.

Truman Torgeson, general manager of Lake-to-Lake Dairy Cooperative, Kiel, said "the unified efforts of dairymen were rewarded this week" by the announced hearings.

Petitioned USDA

Torgeson heads the federal order committee of the National Milk Producers' Federation which was one of the groups petitioning the Department of Agriculture to open talks on the subject.

"Dairymen are seeking to stabilize their Class I price at present levels. They would be seriously jeopardized as a result of the sharp decline in butter and cheese prices," Torgeson said.

Frank Meyer will represent Consolidated Badger Co-Op, Shawano, at the hearings in St. Louis. He will testify that the co-op favors suspension of the seasonal Class I differential.

Meyer said, "We believe this will help assure Midwest dairy farmers of more adequate income and insure consumers of an adequate supply of milk."

Pure Milk Products Co-Operative (PMC), Fond du Lac, has been working on the matter through Associated Dairymen, Inc., a federation of some 35 Midwest dairy farmer cooperatives.

James Locke, speaking for the PMPC, said, "This move is an effort to increase fluid milk prices and dairy farmer income levels. It's needed to keep pace with the higher price levels prevailing throughout our national economy."

Locke said PMPC would support price levels for next year at least equal to October, 1966, plus the elimination of the minus 24-cent supply-demand adjustment.

Its proposals, he said, would result in prices higher than those which the order presently provides. "It would mean higher class I prices of 44 cents per hundredweight for December, January, February and July and by about 64 cents in the period from March through June."

Charles Nikolai, Calumet County 4-H agent, congratulates Hilard Brantmeier, Sherwood, right, for 30 years service to 4-H organization and Carl Peik, center, for 29 years. The occasion was the annual leaders recognition banquet at Chilton. (Youngsteadt Photo)

State Publishes Traffic Safety Guide for Youth

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — David Hall, Green Bay native who in 1963 was named the "Handicapped American of the Year" by Pres. John F. Kennedy, plays a leading role in the new Wisconsin Traffic Safety Guide for Youth.

The guide, published jointly by the Governor's Conference of Children and Youth, the Department of Public Instruction and the Motor Vehicle Department, includes Hall's story. The booklet is intended for school administrators in an auto safety drive aimed at state teen-agers.

Hall Talks Safety

Since being crippled in an automobile accident in his youth, caused by reckless driving. Hall has devoted his energies to a personal safety campaign and to a workshop for other handicapped individuals.

Hall's story has been made into an award-winning safety movie, endorsed by the cooperating state agencies for use in a concerted school-room campaign to push safe driving habits.

Included in the booklet are hints for high school editors on the writing of hard-hitting editorials in school papers. There are outlines for special school assemblies featuring speeches by authorities, films, skits and debates which can be used, and also material for use in connection with popular sports events.

Includes Techniques

The booklet also includes techniques for tieing auto safety to school celebrations such as proms, class nights and homecomings, and for posters and literature distribution, and endorsement of training activities such as driver education classes.

But one of the most hard-hitting features is a statement from Hall taken from the motion picture featuring his life and accident.

"I was riding with a friend in his new convertible," David said in the picture. "The highway was clear, but I still felt we were traveling too fast. Yet, like most people, rather than seem afraid I just hoped we would be lucky.

"We were going about 95 when a car came out of a side road and hit us. I saw our right fender burst up, and the next thing I knew I was flying through the air: then sommersaulting along the ground at fantastic speed I remember my arms and legs hitting the ground at odd angles, like a rag doll. . When I finally stopped rolling I was lying on my back, looking straight up at the sky. And I had such a wonderful feeling of relief that I thanked God for not being hurt."

"But he was hurt critically," the booklet states David goes on, "Disbelief and terror overwhelmed me when, try as I might, I just couldn't move. I tried it a hundred times. but all I could move were my eyes."

Veterans Aid Hits $108,722 For Waupaca

Service Officers Reports $78,875 In Housing Loans

WAUPACA — Veterans in the county received $78,875 in state loans for housing and another $29,847 for economic assistance during the calendar year ending Nov. 1, according to a report presented to the Waupaca County Board by Frank R. Smith, county veterans service officer.

Smith told the board that recent legislation made more veterans eligible for second mortgage housing loans up to $4,000 each. During the past year all 21 loan applications were approved.

Smith explained another recent law which makes all veterans with active duty of 181 days or more of service after Jan. 31, 1955, eligible for schooling under the GI bill. Thirty-three have already applied.

Throughout the past year 14 veterans or dependents of veterans applied for admission to the Grand Army Home for Veterans at King through Smith. Waupaca County has 36 persons at the home, he said.

553 Members

Smith said the total occupancy at the home is 553. The average cost per day for maintaining a resident is $8.91, he said.

Applications were made for 81 veterans to become patients at the Veterans Administration Hospitals at Wood, Madison or Tomah. Thirty-two of them were admitted as emergencies. Applications also were made for 23 veterans for outpatient medical or dental treatment. One application was made for Camp American Legion at Tomahawk.

Through the County Veterans Service office 51 applications were made for government veterans' graves, Smith said. Fifty applications were made for free government flags to drape caskets of deceased veterans.

Assisted 488 Veterans

Smith said his office assisted 488 veterans or dependents, who are receiving pension benefits, in completing their annual income questionnaires and special questionnaires during December and January.

In Waupaca County two applications were made for grants for "wheel chair homes." Smith said this grant allows up to $10,000 toward a specially adapted home for veterans who have service-connected total disability.

Smith also listed the amounts of pensions, benefits, and loans granted to Waupaca County veterans during the year. They were: compensation awards for World War II, Korean and peacetime, $18.703: pension awards for World War I and World War II veterans, $30,018; pension and survivor benefits awards to World War I veterans and dependents, $11,962; pension and survivor benefits awards for World War II, Korean and dependents, $8.654; insurance benefits (death claims) $59.077: burial allowance and transportation, $20.841: state loans, housing, $78,878; state loans, economic assistance, $29,847, and state grants, $245.

Student Strikes Pose Problem For Mrs. Gandhi

Riots, Marches Take Place in Nearly All 16 States of India

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — When she was 12. Indira Gandhi formed a "monkey brigade" of school children who carried messages for Indian leaders in defiance of the British rulers.

Today, India's students are on the rampage from one end of the country to the other, threatening law and order, and posing the current No. 1 problem for Mrs. Gandhi, now prime minister.

Riots, marches and strikes have occurred on and off the campuses in nearly all 16 states in recent weeks.

While Mrs. Gandhi paid a four-day visit to Nepal, students attacked government vehicles, railway property, university officials and police. Officers fired rifle and tear gas and made baton charges to restore order.

The prime minister on her return made it clear the violence must be stopped.

Police Restraint

Perhaps remembering the days when student vigor helped liberate the nation, she said police must show restraint and the nation's leaders must look for ways to eliminate problems behind the unrest.

Mrs Ghandi called for a forum for students to bring up grievances and thresh them out in "an atmosphere of understanding which is free from violence or disorder."

She pointed out that one problem was India's great population growth, which has outstripped school facilities. She also said that more developed countries had extracurricular activities available for students, whereas in India there were almost none.

A number of government officials blame the violence on agitation by opposition political groups seeking to discredit the ruling Congress party before elections next February. Students can vote at 18.

Political Considerations

Mrs. Gandhi has warned that students "must also guard against exploitation by antisocial elements or those motivated by narrow political considerations."

Home Minister G. L. Nanda has called a meeting of university administrators who may be asked to look into the use of semimilitary student groups to maintain order on the campus. The university Training Corps and National Cadet Corps are similiar to the Reserve Officers Training Corps on American campuses. Use of these might reduce the need to call in civilian police.

Education is free and compulsory but India lacks enough classes or teachers.

Foreign exchange troubles have resulted in shortages of textbooks and laboratory equipment. For those fortunate enough to earn degrees, the job openings are few and the pay is low.

The danger is that the students are learning the power of their mass protests.
